MEN SLAIN IN FLARE-UP OF K.K.K. WAR AT HERRIN

EACH FACTION LOSES THREE MEN

Militia on Guard Today While Bars Run With Moonshine — Last Outbreak in January, 1925.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HERRIN, Ill., April 14.—Hatred between the local group which carried on the Ku Klux Klan liquor raids of a year and a half ago, and the antiklan fighters of that time, flared forth yesterday afternoon in a polling place battle, in which six men—three of the klan faction and three antiklan — were shot to death.

The score of deaths, which was reckoned at seven to a side when a truce was effected about 14 months ago, is still even, being now 10 to a side. The 14 previous deaths, in four fights in 1924 and 1925, were in addition to and had no direct connection with the 22 killings in the mine massacre of midsummer, 1922, to which the name of Herrin has been attached.

List of the Slain.

The death list of yesterday's fighting, in which, by all accounts, the antiklan force was the aggressor, was.

Ben Sizemore, 52, klansman, miner.

Aurb Treadway, 30, of Harrisburg, anti-klan.

Nobel Weaver, 38, of West Frankfort, anti-klan.

State militia troops, who were in Herrin when the killings occurred, but were not at the scene of the fighting the Fourth Ward polling place in the Masonic Temple, patrolled the streets last night and today. Moonshine whisky—chiefly a low grade of "cut" alcohol—flowed freely last night in the town.

An attack upon the garage of John Smith, klan leader in the raiding days, and still the object of lively hatred, was the first disturbance of yesterday, and it caused troops to be sent here from Carbondale, 13 miles away. While the militiamen guarded Smith's bullet-riddled establishment, the antiklan force attacked the polling place, four blocks away, and it was there that all the fatalities occurred.

Klan Inactive Since Truce.

Since the truce of more than a year ago, the Ku Klux Klan has not been functioning actively here, and the classification of men as klan and antiklan is largely a matter of memory—but memories are very lively on this point in Williamson County.

What is known as the klan group in local politics had lost control of the police force, and the police took no part in yesterday's disorders, which in the opinion of some persons, they could have stopped by timely action. The police did nothing while the antiklan men, in automobiles, drove about the streets, firing on Smith's garage at both close and long range. The klan following was on the defensive throughout.

John Ford former chief of police and klan leader, whose brother was killed, and whose name was carried in early dispatch as having been killed himself, gave his account of the killings to State's Attorney Boswell of Williamson County.

Ford's story, the most intimate account available of what happened, was given by Boswell to the Post-Dispatch correspondent at the undertaking chapel where Ford's brother and the other two klansmen lay dead. He said:

"I was appointed a Deputy Constable to serve at the poll in the Masonic Temple on election day, and I went there when the polls opened at 7 a. m. My duty was to preserve order at the polls, and I

STEEL MAGNATE KILLS SELF BY SHOOTING

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., April 14.—Price McKinney, 63 years old, an outstanding figure and pioneer in the iron and steel industry, ended his life late yesterday by shooting himself through the head in his country home, Ridgemere Farm, Wickliffe. He recently had suffered an attack of influenza but it was thought that he had recovered.

McKinney was found dead in the bath room of his home, a bullet from a pistol having pierced his brain. Only one person in the household, a maid, heard the shot fired, but she could not locate its source and spoke to no one about it, until half an hour later, when Harry Walker, steward on the estate, arrived from the city. This was at 4 p. m.

Members of the household related that McKinney had taken lunch with his eldest son, Regan, 16, at which time he seemed in high spirits and more cheerful than he had been for some time. After luncheon, the father went for a walk around the estate and then returned to his room. A short time later, the maid heard the shot.

Since his retirement as president of the McKinney Steel Co. last May, the millionaire had spent a great deal of his time at the country estate, seldom appearing in business circles.

Mrs. McKinney, who was Lucy Dwyer, is near prostration from grief. The steel magnate had been married once before. He had spent his lifetime in building iron and steel and other industries in Cleveland and Toledo. His entry into the steel business was brought about in his early twenties through contact with Judge Stevenson Burke, one of the partners in the parent organization of the McKinney Steel Co.

Cleveland holdings of the iron and steel leader alone totaled more than $20,000,000. Large interests in other industries added millions more.

Besides his son, Regan, and the widow, another son, Price Jr., 12, and a daughter, Elizabeth, 14, survive. In addition there is a brother, George, of Bessemer, Mich., and a sister, Mrs. James Erskine Neal of New York City.

SMITH, CANDIDATE OF SMALL, WINS OVER M'KINLEY

World Court Foe 114,000 Ahead of Senator Who Sought Renomination in Illinois Primary.

BRENNAN NAMED BY DEMOCRATS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Col. Frank L. Smith, foe of the World Court, has been nominated by Illinois Republicans as their senatorial candidate over Senator William B. McKinley, who voted for the measure in the Senate.

Smith, who is chairman of the Republican State Committee and chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, had the support of Gov. Small and the State organization.

He will be opposed in the November election by George E. Brennan, Democratic chieftain and an avowed wet, who distanced his two rivals by an overwhelming vote.

Senator McKinley's vote for American adherence to the World Court was made the chief issue of Smith's campaign, and the latter's aides attributed his victory to his stand against the measure. It was the first opportunity voters have had to register their feelings toward the proposal since anti-World Court forces started their campaign to defeat Senators who voted for adherence.

Court Foes in Campaign.

Senators Reed, Borah and Shipstead, all foes of the Court, spoke in Illinois. Secretary of Commerce Hoover of the administrative forces also spoke here, but made no reference to the question. Several days ago former Secretary of State Hughes made public a statement asking support for Senator McKinley.

The election yesterday brought victory in Chicago for a boxing bill and also in several downstate municipalities. Chicago also approved bond issues totaling nearly $20,000,000, one of which provides for a zoological park.

Favorable vote on the bill in any city calls for the immediate appointment by Gov. Small of a State Boxing Commission, the commission to license all promoters, fighters, referees and other participants, to decide before bout whether they will be to a referee's decision or no decision. Ten rounds is the limit allowed by the state law. The Legislature a year ago legalized the sport subject to local option.

The "wet" platform of Mrs. Bertha Bauer, failed to wrest the Republican nomination for Congress from Congressman Fred A. Britten, complete returns from the Ninth District showed today. Britten was renominated by a vote of 15,479 to 10,243 over Mrs. Baur.

Brennan Predicts Victory.

Senator McKinley was on his way back to Washington when the trend of the vote indicated his defeat and no statement was issued from his headquarters here. Allen F. Moore, a leader of the Smith forces, declared the outcome "a great victory for sound Republicanism."

Brennan predicted "a sweeping victory for the entire Democratic ticket in the November election," and his supporters interpreted his easy victory in the primary as a "decisive indorsement of his platform for modification of the dry law."

At noon the count of votes showed Smith leading McKinley by approximately 114,000 votes. Returns from 4812 precincts out of 6053 in the State gave Smith 524,908, and McKinley 411,119.

Divided the vote was, 926 downstate precincts: Brennan, 22,425; Monroe, 16,152; McDermott, 6490. 2453 Cook County precincts: Brennan, 135,917; Monroe, 9421; McDermott, 18,163.

Nominees for Congressmen-at-large were Richard Yates and John Rathbone, Republican incumbents, and Charles A. Karch, East St. Louis, and Frank J. Wise, Joliet, Democrats.

25-YEAR SENTENCE FOR BOY WHO SHOT POLICEMAN FUNKE

Frank O'Brien, 19, Convicted of Assault to Kill —Brother and Four Others Yet to Be Tried.

WOUNDED OFFICER IDENTIFIES YOUTH

Says He Saw Pistol in Hand —Defendant Denies He Was in Automobile at Time of Attack.

A jury in Circuit Judge Landwehr's Court last night returned a verdict finding Frank O'Brien, 19 years old, guilty of assault to kill in connecton wth the shootng of Traffic Policeman Theodore Funke Dec. 6. His punishment was fixed at 25 years in prison.

O'Brien was the first to be tried of six indicted for the assault. The others are his brother, Charles O'Brien, 15; Gordon Rankin, 17; Lisle Jeffress, 17; William Palmisano, 23, and Andrew Stengel, 31. They also face robbery charges.

Policeman Funke and Harry Canton were in a police automobile when a stolen Packard, driven by Charles O'Brien, sped past them on Kingshighway, south of Arsenal street. Later the policemen came upon the stolen car at 6200 Gravois avenue and placed O'Brien and his companions under arrest for speeding.

Thought Boys Were Larking.

O'Brien identified himself as "Johnson, son of a Washington avenue shoe merchant." Funke ordered him to drive to the Magnolia Avenue Police Station and sat beside the driver, remarking to Canton, who remained in the police car, "It's all right; they're just college boys out for a lark."

The car had proceeded a block and a half when someone in the rear seat shouted, "Let him have it," and one or more persons opened fire on Funke. He was shot seven times and then kicked into a gutter. The stolen car sped away and was wrecked in a collision with another car at Bates street and Grand boulevard. Palmisano and Stengel were captured in the wreckage. Rankin and Jeffress were arrested a few hours later, and the O'Brien brothers, who fled to Chicago, were arrested on their return, Dec. 24, to their home at 4200 Easton avenue.

A confession made by Charles O'Brien, in which he said the five others were in the car with him when Funke was shot, was introduced by the State. It was repudiated by O'Brien, who asserted he had been beaten by police. He denied his brother was in the car and denied knowing who fired at Funke. Frank O'Brien also testified that he was not in the car.

Saw Pistol in Boy's Hand.

Funke, however, testified that he had turned around just before the shooting began and saw Frank O'Brien pointing a revolver at him. He did not testify that anyone else shot at him. He was wounded seven times and is not yet able to resume active police duty. One bullet fractured his left arm and shortened it an inch and a half.

The stolen automobile was the property of Herman Hecht, 5549 Pershing avenue, and had been stolen in a holdup that night. Charles O'Brien admitted driving the car when Funke was shot. He said he and his companions had drunk some home brew before starting out to rob.

NO TRACE OF SPANISH FLYER FORCED DOWN IN PALESTINE

British Planes Search Region for Capt. Estevez of Madrid-to-Manila Cruise.

By the Associated Press.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 14—A search is being made by British aviators for the missing Spanish flyer, Capt. Estevez, and his mechanician, who made a forced landing in the Palestine desert on their Madrid-to-Manila flight. Up to the present, however, no trace has been found.

The men presumably are walking through a grazing country, where they are likely to encounter friendly Arab shepherds, who, with the prospect of a reward, would conduct them to Syria or Transjordania. Capt. Estevez speaks Arabic fluently.

The British aviators searching for the missing men are flying very close to the ground, covering the entire district.

TRIBUTE TO TITANIC DEAD

U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Carries Out Yearly Office.

By the Associated Press.

ABOARD U. S. S. MODOC, April 14.—(By Wireless.)—On the Eastern edge of the great bank of New Foundland, the Coast Guard Cutter Modoc, international ice patrol vessel, under command of H. H. Wolf, yesterday paused to pay tribute to those who died when the liner Titanic sank after collision with an iceberg, April 14, 1912.

The cutter halted on her course in the face of a cutting westerly wind amid tumbling seas to carry out this yearly office of the United States ice patrol. Above the national ensign of the vessel flew the church pennant. Officers and men stood at attention on the quarter deck while radio silence was maintained by ships in the vicinity. At the end of the silent period rang out a triple salvo from the cutter's firing squad, in salute.

Two of the other defendants with whom he said he had conversations were Adolph A. Blum of St. Louis and Ross Frazier of Kansas City.

MOVE TO REVOKE PASTOR'S LICENSE

He Blames Brother of Former Fiancee, an Heiress, for Charges and Denies Some of Them.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBUS, O., April 14.—It was disclosed here today that the Rev. James Allan Troke, 36 years old, had been ousted from the pulpit of the Eastwood Congregational Church last Febraury on the day before he was to have married Miss Miriam Hempstead, heiress of Croton, O. He was charged with immorality.

It is alleged that he clandestinely maintained a flat in the exclusive East End residential district, and that his record includes two marriages, a divorce, desertion of a wife, and a long list of pastoral flirtations in four states. The Central Ohio Association of Congregational Churches will be asked to revoke his certificate as a a clergyman next week.

Alleged attempts by Troke to obtain $25,000 of the fortune his prospective bride's relatives held in trust for her before their marriage resulted in the investigation which bared his past. On at least one previous occasion he was drummed out of a church for affairs with women, and several times he has been forced to vacate pastorates, according to investigators.

Records Dispute His Statement.

Franklin County court records show he applied for a marriage license here Feb. 13, making affidavit that he "never was previously married" and that he had "no wife living."

Records of the court of Yellow Medicine County, Minnesota, show, however, that he married Mrs. Estella Troke there in 1906, and that Mrs. Troke divorced him in September, 1925, charging that he beat her because she could not obtain any more money from her parents.

The second Mrs. Troke charged that he had a love affair in every parish while they were married, and was forced to leave churches in Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota because of such affairs. His first wife died in Iowa.

Troke, who filled a speaking engagement in Dayton last night, attributed his church difficulties to opposition to his engagement by the brother of his fiancee.

"The young woman to whom I was engaged to be married in February was not an Ohio Wesleyan girl," he said, "but was a sister of one of the trustees of the church at Croton, O., of which I was also the pastor. The brother objected to the wedding on the grounds of our not being well enough acquainted and because he controlled money bequeathed to his sister.

Says Much of Evidence Is False.

"In order that the engagement be completely broken, the Iowa and Minnesota episodes of ten years ago were rehearsed as nothing in the present situation could be procured to reflect on my character or reputation.

"Dr. John A. Schmink was instrumental in having the engagement broken and in order to justify this action he sought to gather evidence against me which he also utilized to obtain my dismissal from the pastorate and now plans to use against me at the district meeting, April 21. Much of this so-called evidence was false and untrue, particularly the reported assertions in my second wife's letter to Dr. Schmink."

AMUNDSEN'S AIRSHIP ARRIVES IN NORWAY

Trip From Pulham, England to Oslo Made at 40 Miles an Hour.

By the Associated Press.

OSLO, Norway, April 14.—The dirigible, Norge, which will be used by the Amundsen-Ellsworth Polar Expedition, arrived here today at 1:25 p. m., after a flight from Pulham, England.

The crossing over the North Sea was uneventful, the ship maintaining an even speed of 40 miles an hour.

Two airplanes, which flew out to meet the Norge, escorted her toward Oslo. Thousands of persons assembled at the landing point to welcome the dirigible. Among the many dignitaries present was Dr. Carl Wefring, Minister of Defense.

Great enthusiasm prevailed as the Norge sailed over Oslo. Many persons in the crowded streets embraced each other in joy at the sight of the dirigible, which flew at a low altitude. Members of the Government and the Storthing, stood on the roof of the parliamentary building to observe the ship. Among them were Premier Lykke and his predecessor, Dr. Mowinckel, who stod arm in arm.

The Norge was made fast to her mooring mast at 3:15 p. m. after flying over the city almost two hours.

By the Associated Press.

PULHAM, England, April 14.—The big Italian-built dirigible Norge left here last last night under splendid weather conditions for the journey of 600 miles northeastward over the North Sea and up Skagerrack for Oslo, Norway.

Large crowds witnessed the departure of the aircraft from the flying field and other thousands viewed it as it disappeared seaward, under a sky filled with stars and with searchlights from the ground playing upon it.

All those on board the airship put on their heavy clothes before leaving, realizing that on the northeasterly voyage they would meet with cold weather.

Five Days' Rations.

Ronald Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth will not greet the Norge at Olso, already having left for Spitzbergen by way of Trondhjem to prepare for its arrival there.

NOT SURE ABOUT 12 PER CENT WINE

Prohibition Chief Insists, However, That Sale and Distribution Should Be Under U. S. Control.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON April 14.—With a 25-gallon still behind him, furnishing mute evidence of the difficulties in the way of prohibition enforcement, and with Senator Reed of Missouri, in top cross-examining form, popping questions in front of him, Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement, admitted today, at the Senate Committee hearing on the dry law, that the legalized manufacture and sale of light beer, not intoxicating in fact, to be drunk off the premises where sold, would be helpful in law enforcement.

In obtaining this statement from Andrews, the wets scored their greatest success of the current hearing.

Andrews was led to the climax of his testimony by a series of questions by Senator Reed and Julien Codman, the Boston attorney who is directing the wet attack at the hearings.

Beer Would Satisfy Many.

After producing figures showing an enormous growth in the business of home distilling, Codman asked him whether he did not believe that many who are now drinking hard liquor would be satisfied if they could get beer of mild alcoholic content.

"I presume they would," was the guarded reply. "A great many, yes."

"Would conditions not be improved," pursued Codman "if the law were amended to permit the sale of beer that is not intoxicating in fact?"

"Give us your opinion as a man and a citizen," said Reed.

"Before answering that question," said Andrews cautiously, "I would have to know how the beer was to be made and distributed."

"Assume," prompted Reed, "that it is to be made and sold under Government supervision, for home consumption only, or perhaps with a meal at a bona fide restaurant."

"Do I believe," said Andrews, "that it would be an aid to law enforcement if such beer were permitted to be drunk in homes and in bona fide hotels, and there were no saloons? I can only give my opinion."

Would Help to Enforce Law.

"My opinion," he added slowly, "is that it probably would aid in law enforcement. But means of controlling the distribution would be vital."

Reed followed up his advantage briskly.

"Suppose," he said, "we include light wines, of from 7 to 12 per cent alcoholic content, such as they have in France and Germany, the kind that was made in California before prohibition."

"My opinion as to wine is very uncertain, because it is intoxicating," replied Andrews.

"Not 12 per cent wine," objected Reed.

"I have no definite opinion on that," said Andrews.

"Then your opinion is," said Reed, "getting the beer question down to its final form, that in view of the bad quality of hard liquor now being sold, if good, wholesome beer, nonintoxicating in fact, were distributed under Government regulations, and not allowed to be sold in saloons, the people would take to the use of that beer, instead of the vile hard liquor they are now consuming, with the result that temperance would be promoted and

SURGEON FOUND BUTLER NERVOUS, EASILY EXCITED

Defense Witness Tells of Examining General in Hospital Nine Days After Col. Williams' Arrest.

ASSERTS ONE EYE ALSO WAS EFFECTED

Captain Says His Report of Affair Was Handed Back With Remark: "You Know What Is Wanted."

By the Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 14.—Smedley D. Butler was "nervous, easily excited," and saw poorly out of his left eye when examined by a naval surgean nine days after Butler had ordered the arrest of Col. Alexander S. Williams on the ground that he had observed the Colonel staggeringly drunk. Such was the testimony offered at the Colonel's courtmartial today by Commander E. C. White, surgeon in charge of internal diseases at the Balboa Park naval hospital.

Commander White, who said he had been a naval surgeon for 20 years, said he made an examination of Gen. Butler on March 15 last. The Coronado dinner party, which culminated in Col. Williams' arrest, took place on the night of March 6.

"Examination of his nervous condition, however, showed him very nervous; not irritable, but easily excited."

Dental Surgeons Called.

At yesterday's session of the Colonel's trial the defense called two dental surgeons to the stand to tell how bad teeth can corrupt a man's whole outlook on life; how "dental lesions" can impair the functions of organs far removed from the jaw bones of the toothache victim and how they often cause a man to "see visions," or jump confusedly to erroneous conclusions.

Both the dental surgeons, Lieut. L. G. Conditt and Lieut. Commander Frank S. Tichy, recalled on the stand that Gen. Butler had been having trouble with his teeth just before the eventful dinner at Col. Williams' home.

The Judge Advocate of the court, Capt. Leo Hermle, led the dental experts into admitting that most of their testimony was hypothetical.

Should the toothache defense fail, another avenue of defense may be explored by the Colonel's counsel in accordance with intimations of defense attorneys yesterday.

The intimations involved the question of whether or not Gen. Butler attempted to "browbeat" his subordinates into submitting written statements supporting his charge.

The question came up during the testimony of Capt. George F. Stokes, Adjutant of the Fourth Regiment of Marines, who explained the alleged differences between his testimony and a statement bearing his signature by relating that the statement had been written in accord with Gen. Butler's instructions.

He said he and other officers had been ordered to submit statements of what they observed of Col. Williams' condition. When the statements were submitted to Gen. Butler, he testified, they were handed back with the remark: "You boys know what is wanted. Now go back and write new statements."

TWO MAIL POUCHES THOUGHT TO CONTAIN $300,000 STOLEN

JOLIET, Ill., April 14.—Held up and forced to drive his captors with two pouches of United States mail to Joliet from Indiana Harbor, Ind., Frank Watson, mail truck driver, escaped from the robbers to relate his story to Joliet police this morning.

It is thought that the two pouches contained the $30,000 payroll of the Inland Steel Co. at Indiana Harbor, and Federal, county and city police were searching the country in the district of Joliet for the robbers.

The automobile became stalled on a hill here and was pushed by the robber and captor into a garage. Watson then eluded his captor to call the police. The robber removed the packages of mail from the car and went away afoot.

contests drifted in rather slowly, but among the almost certain winners was Martin B. Madden, incumbent, in the first district.

Returns on Minor Places.

Returns for minor places on the State ticket are coming in slowly.

Garret Kinney of Peoria today increased his lead over William J. Stratton of Ingleside, the Small candidate for the Republican nomination as State Treasurer. Returns from 4135 precincts gave Kinney 291,332; Stratton 237,295; Brown 76,183, and Kilduff 51,330. Stratton had a lead of about 5000 downstate, but Kinney was 58,000 to the good in Cook County.

Samuel L. Nelson of Peoria won yesterday's Democratic nomination as State Treasurer over J. S. Hickey of Chicago, leading by comfortable margins both down-state and in Chicago. With 2941 precincts represented, Nelson had 107,694 and Hickey 59,463.

For Supreme Court Clerk on the Republican ticket, 3301 precincts gave Vail 245,290, Lee 211,902.

All 27 Illinois members of the national House of Representatives were candidates and ten of them were without opposition.

Two of the ten, Representative Frank Reid (Rep.), Aurora, of the the Eleventh District, and William E. Hull (Rep.), Peoria, in the Sixteenth District, had no opposition for their places from any party.

Other Representatives unopposed were Morton D. Hull (Rep.), Chicago, Second District; Thomas A. Doyle (Dem.), Fourth District; Adolph J. Sabath (Dem.), Chicago, Fifth District; Stanley W. Kunz (Dem.), Chicago, Eighth District; Edward J. King (Rep.), Galesburg, Fifteenth District; William P. Holaday (Rep.), Georgetown, Eighteenth District; Henry T. Rainey (Dem.), Carrollton, Twentieth District; William W. Arnold (Dem.), Robinson, Twenty-Third District.

Congressional Victors.

The followinig Congressional candidates, who had opposition apparently were nominated: First District—Martin B. Madden. Sixth—J. J. Gorman. Eighth—W. F. Hetman. Ninth—Fred Britton. Tenth—C. R. Chindbloom. Thirteenth—W. R. Johnson. Fourteenth—J. C. Allen. Nineteenth—Charles Adkins. Twenty-first—L. E. Wheeler. Twenty-fifth—E. E. Denison.

In the Twentieth District H. H. Bancroft of Jacksonville, had a slight lead over Guy L. Shaw of Beardstown, with 71 out of 201 precincts reporting. In the Twenty-second District Dr. Ed Irwin of Belleville, had a comfortable lead over William E. Trautmann of East St. Louis, with 65 precincts out of 281 reporting. Their vote stood—Irwin 6406, Trautman 2889. In the Twenty-third, with 53 out of 237 precincts reporting, Ed Telford of Salem had 2460, and D. G. Kilburn of Olney had 976. In the Twenty-fourth, Thomas S. Williams of Louisville was in the lead over H. Z. McKay of Grayville, and R. B. Glines of Xenia.

Eighteen Democrats also were shown to be definitely nominated on returns received up to this morning. Those nominated over opposition were: Second District—M. C. Walsh. Third—E. J. Glackin. Sixth—J. T. Igoe. Seventh—J. S. Hall. Ninth—Raymond W. Moore. Four of the districts were not represented by Democrats in the primaries.

Disorder in Chicago.

During the voting there were shootings, sluggings and ballot box thefts in Chicago. Disorder in one West Side ward became so pronounced that hundreds of extra policemen were dispatched there. One man was shot and seriously injured by a policeman who tried to stop a factional fight.

One of the boldest ballot box thefts occurred in the Twenty-fourth Ward, when 12 armed men in three automobiles entered a polling place, forced all the occupants into another room, and scooped up all the ballots in sight and fled. Election officials said most of the ballots were blanks.

Almost simultaneously seven gangsters raided another precinct in the same ward, and took all the ballot boxes.

Late in the day several election officials and watchers in various precincts were reported kidnaped by gangsters as they were preparing to count the ballots.

Several arrests were made when it was charged that voters were duplicating their ballots, first voting in one ward, then going to another and voting under the name of some registered voter who had not put in an appearance.

One election clerk last night telephoned from Milwaukee saying that he had been kidnaped, taken there and released.

Joseph Burke, a candidate for Judge of the Municipal Court, landed in jail to hear the returns when he refused to leave a polling place and was ordered arrested by election officials.

Reed of Missouri Says World Court Issue Defeated McKinley.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Senator Reed of Missouri today issued the following statement regarding the defeat of Senator William B. McKinley in the Illinois Republican senatorial primary yesterday.

"The result can be attributed to Senator McKinley's vote for the World Court. Personally McKinley is popular in the Senate and in his own State. His campaign was abundantly financed and his forces well organized. He appealed to his regularity as a Republican and vigorously protested his loyalty to President Coolidge. Such arguments would naturally be very effective in a strong Republican State like Illinois.

"Clearly the voters are determined to adhere to the policies of Washington. They will not tolerate any interference with American rights by foreign Powers. And they have no desire to interfere with the policies of other countries so long as our rights are not invaded.

"The American voter has not been innoculated with damnable virus of internationalism."

Reed made two speeches against Senator McKinley several weeks ago, one at Chicago, the other at East St. Louis.

Declaring "Illinois has indexed the sentiment in this country against the League Court," Senator Borah, commenting on the defeat of Senator McKinley, said: "The Republican party would do well to consider getting back to the policies and principles upon which it was first nourished."

"The campaign against the Court will go forward," he added.

Smith a Former Railway Clerk, Later a Banker.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 14.—Frank Smith is a former Congressman.

He was born at Dwight, his present home, 59 years ago. Graduating from high school in 1885, he became a clerk for the Postal Telegraph Co., and later a clerk for the Chicago & Alton Railway Co. He entered the real estate business in Dwight in 1891 and in 1895 was one of the organizers and first president of the First National Bank of Dwight.

Smith sought the gubernatorial nomination against Frank O. Lowden in 1916 but was defeated. Smith married Miss Erminie Ahern of Dwight in 1894. Both are members of the Methodist Church.

Slot Machine Order Modified.

Circuit Judge Ittner, who issued a temporary order March 31 restraining police from interfering with the operation of slot machines distributed by the St. Louis Mint Co., today modified the order at the request of police. The modified order stipulates that the police are not restrained from arresting persons against whom there is evidence of gambling. A hearing will be held April 22 to determine whether the order will be dissolved or made permanent.

UNUSUAL FEDERAL COURT ORDER IN "BLUE SKY" CASE

RECORD OF DECISION ALREADY ENTERED

Investors' Syndicate, However, Not to Be Barred From State Before Hearing at Kansas City.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14.—An unusual court order, prohibiting State Securities Commissioner F. T. Stockard from giving any information to newspapers concerning a "blue sky" order issued by him against the Investors' Syndicate of Minneapolis, Minn., which is a part of the public records of the Securities Department, was served on Stockard today in a telegram from the clerk of the Federal District Court in Kansas City.

The Federal Court order was issued following filing of a petition by the company, seeking to prevent Stockard from issuing or enforcing an order directing the company to revise its methods of selling "investment certificates" in Missouri, on a monthly installment plan. Stockard had ordered the revision as a condition of the company continuing operations in Missouri.

Record Already Entered.

The order actually had been issued by the department and made a part of the department record before the Federal Court order was served on Stockard. However, in compliance with the court order, Stockard today declined to comment on his action.

The telegram received at the department, directed to Secretary of State C. U. Becker, and Stockard, stated the Federal Court in Kansas City had issued an order "restraining you from making or issuing any order or warning affecting contracts of the Investors' Syndicate being sold in this State and from giving any notice or information to newspapers concerning said matter." The telegram stated a hearing on a motion for an interlocutory decree in the case tentatively had been set for May 8 in Federal Court at Kansas City.

A copy of the order was served on Stockard by a Deputy United State Marshal after the telegram was received.

Charges Against Firm.

It is known that the department order against the Investors' Syndicate was prepared and entered on the department records as issued before the Federal Court order was issued. The department order, as issued, was to become effective tomorrow.

The department order charged that misrepresentations were made in sales of the "investment certificate" contracts. The certificates have a face value of $1000 and are sold on small monthly installments, the contracts maturing in 10 years.

Under the terms of the contract, the department order stated, the certificate had no "cash surrender" value if the purchaser allowed his payments to lapse in less than two years, and the certificate did not begin to draw interest until after payments had been made for five years. It was stated that nearly 80 per cent of the purchasers allowed their payments to lapse before maturity of the certificates, thus making the company's business a profitable one through the dropping of the contracts. Payments had to be made for several years before the "cash surrender" value equaled the amount paid in by the purchaser.

Similar to Another Case.

The department recently issued a similar order against the Bankers' Mortgage Co. of Topeka, Kan., operating on a somewhat similar plan in the sale of "guaranteed first mortgage 6 per cent savings bonds" on small monthly payments. The department order denounced the Bankers' Mortgage plan as "misleading and unconscionable," and designed to "thrive on forfeitures of the unfortunate."

The department directed the Bankers' Mortgage Co. to revise its method of doing business in Missouri, to provide a more equitable plan of "cash surrender values" and eliminate other practices to which the department objected. Thus far the company has taken no action.

The order was issued by Federal Judge Reeves, who formerly was attorney for the company. It was obtained by former Attorney-General Frank McAllister and former State Senator W. G. Humphrey, the latter formerly a partner of Judge Reeves.

Andrews Would Favor Return of Beer

Does Not Want Saloons Back.

"I do believe," repeated Andrews, "that that would be helpful."

"But you believe also," went on Reed, "that if the saloons were opened for the sale of beer, they might be used as a cover for the sale of illicit liquor."

"Yes," said Andrews, "that would be disastrous."

Reed then directed the examination again to the fact, stressed earlier in the hearings, that the prohibition forces in 1925 captured 172,537 illicit stills, an increase from 95,953 seized in 1921.

Andrews repeated that his men were now concentrating on the capture of large commercial stills. The captures made in 1925, he added, represented only four months of his own administration as prohibition director and eight months of his predecessors.

"And before prohibition," said Reed, "there were only 600 licensed distilleries in the United States." Andrews said he presumed that was correct.

"Then the inevitable conclusion is," said Reed, "that there are now at least 172,000 violators of the law." "That many, unquestionably," agreed Andrews.

172,000 Violators of Law.

"And there must be many more people than 172,000 engaged in the operation of those stills," went on Reed. "Undoubtedly," replied Andrews.

"If we assume that there were three persons to a still," said Reed, "then about 500,000 persons were violating the law by the manufacture of liquor." "And distribution," added Andrews.

"How many were engaged in the illicit sale of liquor?" queried Reed. "And I want you to include in that the women and children who are aiding in the sale." "I can make no estimate," said Andrews "but it would mount up."

"Were there not a couple of million?" asked Reed. "Perhaps, including those who buy," replied Andrews.

"No," countered Reed, "not including those who buy. If you include them, the figure would run to 40,000,000 or 50,000,000, wouldn't it?" Andrews replied again that he could make no estimate.

Reed Summarizes Situation.

"Then it all comes down to two propositions: First, in order to go after the operators of the big stills you have got to let the little fellows go. And, second, you have seized in one year 170,000 stills, and you have got your information from people connected with the underworld and from your agents who have looked through windows and keyholes and used their noses to smell out liquor."

"And in all of New England," continued Reed, "with a population of 15,000,000, you have got 91 agents—only 91 men to smell the homes of the people and peep in their windows."

"Do you think that those men got one still out of 50—Honest injun, General, what is your estimate?" "Yes," said Andrews, "I think they got more than that."

"How many would you say—one out of 10?" "I think, and this is a mere guess," replied Andrews after a further prodding by Reed, that we did not get one in 10 of the little ones."

"Then," said Reed, "on that basis we have 1,700,000 stills."

And turning to Senator Harreld of Oklahoma, a dry member of the committee, Reed challenged: "You can revise those figures, Senator, if you want to."

Must Go After Big Game.

"The cold truth," said Reed, summing up, "is that the people have gone into the manufacture of liquor to such an extent that in one year you got 170,000 stills and then you didn't get one in 10. You can't waste your time hunting jack rabbits, when there are tigers in the forest, and the jack rabbits are multiplying."

Reed noted parenthetically that he was not criticising Andrews, but was talking about a condition.

"I want to ask you, General," he went on, "as man and a citizen, if the manufacture of liquor in the homes does not tend to bring women and children in contact with liquor." "Of course it does," was the reply.

"And isn't this manufacture, the secrecy and the furtiveness of it, utterly destroying the morals of homes where it is carried on?" "Unquestionably," replied Andrews. "Morals are seriously injured where that goes on."

"And would it not be better if a man who wanted grog should go away from home to get it rather than make it on the premises?"

"I don't know the answer to that," replied Andrews. He added that there are many questions connected with prohibition that ought to be made the subject of scientific study.

"Don't you know," asked Reed, "that making whisky is a simpler process than making good bread?" "I believe it is."

Reed then, to the delight of the crowd that jammed the room, gave a simple formula for the making of whisky.

"All that is necessary," he said, "is to take some starchy cereal and put in a little yeast, and then the sole problem is to separate the alcohol from this corn meal, or rye, or whatever you are using for your mash. And all you have to do is to heat that mash to a point high enough to votalize the alcohol. The alcohol goes off in fumes, and you catch those fumes and cool them to a point where they turn back into liquid.

Can Make Whisky in Teakettle.

"You can put a bath towel over the mouth of your teakettle while you are heating your mash and wring out the towel and there you have enough alcohol to make anybody drunk.

"So all that you need in order to make alcohol and get drunk is a quart of corn meal, teakettle and a bath towel?"

The crowd whooped its appreciation.

Reed pointed to the still which had been set up in the room as an exhibit. It was an ordinary copper wash boiler, topped with a smaller receptacle about the size of a tomato can, from which led a copper tube into a keg. The still had been lent to the committee by Andrews.

Reed then told of an even simpler form of still—the Oregon still—which he said was much used by soldiers.

"I learned of this," said Reed, "from a marine, a man who served with distinction in the war. And what a marine doesn't know about getting liquor can't be learned. I say this with all due respect to a body of hard fighters and hard drinkers."

New Kind of Still to Andrews.

He showed Andrews a picture of an Oregon still, and Andrews replied that he had never seen one.

"I shall remember it," he said.

"It will be good for you when you get back into the army sometime," said Reed, "and you don't have any Gen. Smelly Butler."

Again the crowd laughed.

Charles Williams, a prohibition agent of the District of Columbia, was brought forward to give expert testimony about the wash boiler still. He estimated that it had 25 gallons capacity and could produce about five gallons of alcohol in three hours.

"That," said Reed, "would be, with the use of reasonable American ingenuity, about 40 gallons every 24 hours."

Reed showed that the still of the variety on exhibit could be used as a wash boiler one day and as a still the next. His object here, as in many of his questions, was to bring out the extreme ease with which liquor could be manufactured in the home with the simplest kind of equipment.

Possible to Make $480 a Day.

When Williams told the committee that the retail price of "corn" in Washington was $1.50 a pint, Reed rapidly estimated that an industrious bootlegger, aided by American resourcefulness and ingenuity, could make $480 a day by running a medium-size still 24 hours a day with an outlay of only $5 or $10 for materials. Williams admitted this was possible, but added that the profits of the bootleggers had been much overstated.

"The manufacturer doesn't sell the stuff direct and his expenses are high," he explained.

"You mean that he has to split his revenue with other people," Reed asked. "He has to split with the man that sells it and with other people, does he not? And have you ever heard of them splitting with prohibition agents?"

Williams said that he had never known of them splitting with Federal agents, but under Reed's questioning admitted that he had heard of such splits.

Can Make Whisky of Corn Sugar.

Leaving the question of the distillation of whisky from corn mash, Reed took up the method of making liquor from corn sugar. He asked if it were not true that the same type of still used with sour mash could be used with corn sugar. Williams replied that the type of still was the same but that it would be dangerous to use other than copper utensils.

Reed brought out the fact that there is no detectable odor when corn sugar is used, whereas, sour mash can be smelled for some distance. Other advantages he claimed for the sugar process were that sugar left no residue while the dealcholized sour mash had to be disposed of and many times persons could not account for their possession of it.

Reed maintained that 100 pounds of corn sugar, bought for $3.25, would make eight gallons of liquor, which at the retail price of $20 a gallon would bring the maker $160. Williams corrected him on the estimate, explaining that the price at the still in Washington was $18 a case, or $6 a gallon. This would make the revenue from eight gallons $48.

At the start of his testimony, Andrews said that the problem of dealing with illicit distilling was becoming increasingly difficult. From the fgures which Codman showed him, he said it was a "fair inference" that the number of stills was growing. He said the prohibition department depended largely on local co-operation for the capture of stills. The Federal forces, he added, could not afford to dissipate their energies by hunting down the small violators of the law.

"And these small stills, in the aggregate," said Codman, "might produce a very large amount of liquor."

Millions of Gallons a Year.

The witness agreed.

"They might make millions of gallons a year?" asked Codman and Andrews said that was so.

The purpose of this line of questioning was to show that the escape of industrial alcohol into bootleg channels represented only a fraction of the illicit liquor actually consumed.

Codman went on to show that there had been a large rise in the capture of stills in Southern States where there were no large industrial alcohol plants.

"Yes," said Andrews, "where the normal source of supply (meaning the supply diverted from industrial alcohol) is not available, it comes from the moonshiner. Where a source of supply is cut off, moonshine wells up to fill the gap.

"Where the demand exists, the supply appears, if possible. The old law of supply and demand applies in the bootlegging trade as with other merchandise."

The questioning shifted then to the bill urged by Andrews which would permit the issuance of warrants to search dwellings containing stills. Andrews said that the bill was designed to reach commercial stills.

"Bootleggers," he said, "are taking advantage of the law which makes a man's home his castle. They put a family in the house and distill liquor for sale."

Raiders Peek Through Windows.

Codman asked how, in such a case, the prohibition agents got their evidence that liquor was being made for sale, and Andrews replied that agents could see supplies being taken in and packages taken out, and sometimes they looked through the windows and saw the still in operation.

Codman asked whether Andrews or his subordinates might not spy on private families and perhaps betray their hospitality in order to get evidence against them. Andrews replied that this would be contrary to his instructions to agents.

"They have been ordered," he said, "to concentrate on the liquor traffic and not to dissipate their energies."

"Were not homes invaded under your predecessor?" asked Reed.

Andrews would not allow himself to be pinned down to a criticism of the policy of his predecessor. He said that the new feature of the enforcement policy was the concentration on sources of supply.

"And where you get one big violator," said Reed, "there are hundreds of smaller ones that you don't get."

"If you ever exterminate the big ones, then will you go after the small ones?" asked Reed.

Uses Underworld Informants.

"That's far in the future," replies the witness. Andrews said that a statement by an Ohio prohibition director to the effect that men with criminal records were being employed in the enforcement service, gave a "wrong impression." He said that men connected with the underworld were sometimes employed as informants and paid for concrete information. These men were not placed on the payroll, but were paid out of the general fund for enforcement.

In some instances, he conceded, ex-convicts had been employed as agents, but only when they had lied in making their applications. None had been put on the payroll knowingly.

Reed asked if raids were ever made without search warrants. Andrews indicated, in an inconclusive reply, that this might be done in the case of stills in woods or swamps.

Coolidge Approves $3,000,000 Additional Dry Law Appropriation.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A $3,000,000 additional appropriation for prohibition enforcement next year to take care of Assistant Secretary Andrews' reorganization program, was approved today by President Coolidge.

This would supplement the $11,000,000 already voted by Congress for next year. In addition about $10,000,000 also has been appropriated for the coast guard, which is defending the borders from smugglers.

The $3,000,000 would be used principally in meeting the cost of additional forces which Andrews proposes to employ on the border patrol and in the specialized squads which he has recently organized.

NATIONAL LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS CONVENES IN CITY

More Than 800 Delegates Expected to Participate in Sessions Which Will Continue for Week.

CONFERENCE BODIES ARE MEETING TODAY

Miss Amy G. Maher of Toledo, O., Gives Statistics on the Low Wages of Her Sex in Industry.

More than 800 women from all sections of the country are in St. Louis, or en route here, for the seventh annual convention of the National League of Women Voters which opened today to continue in session till next Wednesday. Headquarters are at Hotel Statler.

The visitors are leaders in many branches of public, social, civic, educational, political and commercial life. Among those on hand, or expected, are Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who conceived the idea of a national organization of women voters in 1919 in St. Louis; Miss Belle Sherwin, now president of the organization; Mrs. C. H. Brooks, first president, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, former president; Mrs. John T. Pratt, New York city's only woman Alderman, and Mrs. J. Paul Goode, a member of the Illinois Legislature.

Today's program includes conferences on efficiency in government, social hygiene, women in industry, child welfare, living costs and international co-operation to prevent war.

Sessions will be held in the afternoon and evening and, beginning tomorrow, in the morning also.

Greeting Ceremony Friday.

The formalities of the convention will be held Friday morning, when there will be greetings expressed by Mrs. George Gellhorn, president of the St. Louis League of Women Voters, response by Mrs. Ernest J. Mott, director of the Seventh Region; invocation by Mgr. John J. Tannrath, and reports and resolutions. Miss Sherwin will preside.

Some interesting facts on women in industry and their low wages are presented in a paper prepared for the convention today by Miss Amy G. Maher of Toledo.

She said:

"In my city, Toledo, common labor costs 50 cents an hour, $4 a day, or $24 a week. The latest figures on women's wages show that four-fifths of the wage-earners and saleswomen earn less than $20 a week, and that nearly one-half of the bookkeepers, stenographers and office clerks earn less than $20.

"Why should such a large proportion of the woman workers earn less than common laborers and ditch diggers? Is it because we have a 54-hour week law for women in Ohio, with one day's rest in seven? This hardly seems to be the reason, for the best paid half of Alabama's woman workers, where no law limits the hours of work, earn $8.80, whereas in Ohio they earn $13.80, and in Rhode Island, which has a 48-hour week law, half the women earn more than $16.85.

Law of Supply and Demand.

"Are women's wages low because dangerous occupations are prohibited—coal mining, for example? No, because Kentucky, with no such restriction, has a lower wage than Ohio—$10.75 a week.

"The law of supply and demand fixes the wages of common labor; when there are few jobs and plenty of workers, wages go down; when there are plenty of jobs and few workers, wages go up. This, of course, affects women's wages the same the men's.

"A smaller proportion of women are organized into trade unions than men. Trade unions not only affect the wages of the actual trades organized but also the entire wage level of all trades. Women's wages are affected by the fact that employers see no menace of imminent organization among large numbers of women.

"Again, actual wages are affected by the assumption that wages for men should be sufficient to support a family of five—the worker himself, his wife, and three minor children. But when we speak of a living wage for women, we usually mean a wage based on independent self-support only.

"There are those who argue that since more than 80 per cent of the woman workers live at home, their basic wage need cover only their expense in the joint cost of maintaining the family group; others hold that a living wage for women should, just as does the living wage for men, allow for dependents.

"It has been shown that 12 per cent of the woman workers have dependents; whereas, a study of mine workers' families showed that only 65 per cent of these men maintained homes, only 14 per cent had one child under 16, and 16.8 per cent had two; 15.9 per cent

cessor. He said that the new feature of the enforcement policy was the concentration on sources of supply.

"And where you get one big violator," said Reed, "there are hundreds of smaller ones that you don't get."

"If you ever exterminate the big ones, then will you go after the small ones?" asked Reed.

More Than 800 Delegates Expected to Participate in Sessions Which Will Continue for Week.

CONFERENCE BODIES ARE MEETING TODAY

Miss Amy G. Maher of Toledo, O., Gives Statistics on the Low Wages of Her Sex in Industry.

More than 800 women from all sections of the country are in St. Louis, or en route here, for the seventh annual convention of the National League of Women Voters which opened today to continue in session till next Wednesday. Headquarters are at Hotel Statler.

The visitors are leaders in many branches of public, social, civic, educational, political and commercial life. Among those on hand, or expected, are Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who conceived the idea of a national organization of women voters in 1919 in St. Louis; Miss Belle Sherwin, now president of the organization; Mrs. C. H. Brooks, first president, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, former president; Mrs. John T. Pratt, New York city's only woman Alderman, and Mrs. J. Paul Goode, a member of the Illinois Legislature.

Today's program includes conferences on efficiency in government, social hygiene, women in industry, child welfare, living costs and international co-operation to prevent war.

Sessions will be held in the afternoon and evening and, beginning tomorrow, in the morning also.

Greeting Ceremony Friday.

The formalities of the convention will be held Friday morning, when there will be greetings expressed by Mrs. George Gellhorn, president of the St. Louis League of Women Voters, response by Mrs. Ernest J. Mott, director of the Seventh Region; invocation by Mgr. John J. Tannrath, and reports and resolutions. Miss Sherwin will preside.

Some interesting facts on women in industry and their low wages are presented in a paper prepared for the convention today by Miss Amy G. Maher of Toledo.

She said:

"In my city, Toledo, common labor costs 50 cents an hour, $4 a day, or $24 a week. The latest figures on women's wages show that four-fifths of the wage-earners and saleswomen earn less than $20 a week, and that nearly one-half of the bookkeepers, stenographers and office clerks earn less than $20.

"Why should such a large proportion of the woman workers earn less than common laborers and ditch diggers? Is it because we have a 54-hour week law for women in Ohio, with one day's rest in seven? This hardly seems to be the reason, for the best paid half of Alabama's woman workers, where no law limits the hours of work, earn $8.80, whereas in Ohio they earn $13.80, and in Rhode Island, which has a 48-hour week law, half the women earn more than $16.85.

Law of Supply and Demand.

"Are women's wages low because dangerous occupations are prohibited—coal mining, for example? No, because Kentucky, with no such restriction, has a lower wage than Ohio—$10.75 a week.

"The law of supply and demand fixes the wages of common labor; when there are few jobs and plenty of workers, wages go down; when there are plenty of jobs and few workers, wages go up. This, of course, affects women's wages the same the men's.

"A smaller proportion of women are organized into trade unions than men. Trade unions not only affect the wages of the actual trades organized but also the entire wage level of all trades. Women's wages are affected by the fact that employers see no menace of imminent organization among large numbers of women.

"Again, actual wages are affected by the assumption that wages for men should be sufficient to support a family of five—the worker himself, his wife, and three minor children. But when we speak of a living wage for women, we usually mean a wage based on independent self-support only.

"There are those who argue that since more than 80 per cent of the woman workers live at home, their basic wage need cover only their expense in the joint cost of maintaining the family group; others hold that a living wage for women should, just as does the living wage for men, allow for dependents.

"It has been shown that 12 per cent of the woman workers have dependents; whereas, a study of mine workers' families showed that only 65 per cent of these men maintained homes, only 14 per cent had one child under 16, and 16.8 per cent had two; 15.9 per cent had three, and 39.2 per cent had more than three.

Hostility to Married Workers.

"The consciousness of this difference between women's dependents and men's has had its effect on keeping women's wages lower than men's. This same conception of need as the basis of the wage-rate accounts for the bitter hostility on the part of some of the single women workers, to the presence of married women in industry.

"Women are not organized, and the legislative efforts to restrict the open market's effect on their wages have failed; new methods must be found. Women's wages require special attention because they form part of the whole exploited group of cheap labor, and because they offer the problem of the difference between the men's rate and the women's rate. No easy thinking will solve such a difficult problem."

"Assessing and Collecting County Taxes" was the subject of an address prepared for today's meeting by John A. Zangerle, auditor of Cuyahoga County (Cleveland), Ohio. He urged the need for improvement of assessing and tax collection systems and for greater cooperation with the officials so concerned.

Speaking of the officials, he said:

"No set of officials seems to be less protected, yet more exposed to the daily fire of narrow-minded, selfish, unpatriotic property owners and scheming politicians. These functions of government are essentially autocratic in their nature. While Congressmen, Senators, State, county and city officials are generally elected to represent the people as to their likes and dislikes, the assessing and collecting officials must act contrary to the will of a very militant minority, if not, indeed, a very large majority.

Handicapped by Law.

"Under the general property tax, for example, the Assessor is expected to ferret out and tax all bank deposits in states where cowardly—or shall we say democratic?—Legislatures prevent its administration by providing that Assessors shall not be entitled to demand lists of depositors from banks."

Other speakers were Dean Isidor Loeb of Washington University; Mrs. C. J. Otjen of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. George W. Prichard of Santa Fe, N. M., and Miss Agnes Hilton of Cincinnati, O.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 14.—Restoration of scholarship and teaching to their rightful place in American colleges and universities is the object of the proposed $1,000,000 Phi Beta Kappa endowment fund, John D. Rockefeller Jr. last night told the members of the honorary society at the University of Pittsburg. He said the campaign to raise the fund would begin at once.

Many teachers have entered business because they could not live on their small incomes as instructors, said Rockefeller. The result, he declared, was a weakened and over-worked teaching force.

SUES WOMAN FOR $10,000 FOR CAUSING HIS ARREST

C. G. Lovekamp, Who Went to Prison, Alleges Malicious Reincarceration.

Charles G. Lovekamp who served a term in Leavenworth Penitentiary for sending obscene letters reflecting on the character of Mrs. Grayce Schilling, a widow, of 4642 Minnesota avenue, today sued her and two men for $10,000 damages, alleging malice on their part in causing his rearrest afterwards on a similar charge. He is 64 years old.

Lovekamp was released from prison July 1, 1925. His suit, in which the other defendants are Edgar S. Waer, 318 International Life Building, and F. J. Goshey, 3918A Lafayette avenue, avers that the three defendants caused him to be confined in the city jail from Aug. 15 last until April 8, but declares that the "proceedings terminated favorably to him" and that there was no probable cause for his arrest.

Salvation Army Chief Arrives.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Silencing reports that his mission to this country was to remove his sister Miss Evangeline Booth, as head of the Salvation Army in America, Gen. W. Bramwell Booth, international commander of the organization, arrived today on the Olympic. He will attend the Salvation Army congress in Chicago. Evangeline Booth, American commander of the Salvation Army, was not at the pier to meet her brother, due to convalescence from a recent illness. She sent him a warm personal message, however.

FLOWERS AND TAXICABS LAND A ROMEO IN JAIL

Repentant Youth, Who Sought Higher Things, Now Willing to Work for Father.

Ralph Louis, late of the Hotels Mayfair and Claridge, flew high for seven riotous weeks. With flowers, taxicabs and the blandishments of youth he tried to win a young woman, while unpaid bills and worthless checks piled up against him. Then the bubble burst. In a Market street pawn shop yesterday he tried to sell a suit of clothes while two detectives looked on.

Now he is in Central District holdover, repentant. He is held on a charge of attempting to defraud hotels.

"I'm a plain fool," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today. "If I get out of this, I'll convince dad that I'm the best little bag and burlap salesman in the State of Missouri."

Worked as Salesman.

Louis, who is 23, says he is the son of Abraham Louis, head of the Louis Bag and Burlap Co. of Kansas City. Leaving college last year, he began his career as a salesman for his father but longed for higher things, he said. He worked for a while in the office of a Kansas City theater and was discharged.

Whereupon, as Louis tells it, he came to St. Louis and registered at the Mayfair where he met the young woman. Flowers, dinners, and taxicabs were not enough, so he told her he was general manager for the Shubert theatrical interests and, to prove it, dictated letters to the hotel stenographer. He threatened to fire all the Shubert managers in the Middle West for various sorts of incompetence, and preserved carbon copies which police found in his pockets. The originals he destroyed, he said.

Registered as Doctor.

The Mayfair bill was $50 when Louis decided to move to the Claridge. There he registered as Dr. Aaron Levy and ran up an unpaid bill of $25.72. Meanwhile he cashed $138 in checks signed by the Bag and Burlap Co., "per Ralph Louis," They were returned marked "signature not authorized."

The police are communicating with Kansas City to ascertain whether Abraham Louis will recognize Ralph as his son and make good the checks. But warrants will be sought on the hotel bills inasmuch as the hotels have indicated they wish to prosecute.

THREAT AGAINST BOY MARQUIS

Heir to Largest English Estate Is Closely Guarded.

RAYNHAM PARK, Norfolk, England, April 14.—Close guard is being kept over 10-year-old Marquis Townshend, owner of one of the largest estates in England, as a result of a report by the Marchioness to Scotland Yard that she had received several letters threatening that the boy wolud be kidnaped unless £5000 ($25,000) were paid to a charitable institution.

Detectives are endeavoring to learn the source of the letters. Meanwhile the little Lord is being kept out of harm's way. Today he was given a brief airing in a covered motor van on the estate, accompanied by several trusty guards. The youngster has not been informed of the circumstances. He is wondering what all the commotion is about and has naively expressed himself as rather "fed up" with the restrictions on his liberty.

MANUFACTURER INDICTED BY U. S. JURY IN TAX CASE

HAD BEEN NAMED IN INFORMATION HERE

Action Taken Now to Prevent Statute of Limitations From Knocking Out Some of Allegations.

An indictment charging perjury and evasion of more than $19,000 in income taxes was voted by the Federal grand jury at Cape Girardeau yesterday against Louis G. Olian, St. Louis garment manufacturer and one of the beneficiaries of the tax assessment frauds uncovered at the City Hall in 1923.

Olian had been charged here previously, in an information issued last March 15, with evading his 1922 income taxes. The indictment includes that and five other charges of alleged evasion by falsifying returns, and three additional counts of perjury.

The first count is a charge that Olian reported a personal income of $9471.53 in 1922, when it was in reality $41,665.39. It is charged he paid $126.24 in taxes, but should have paid $5416.05.

Also Charged With Perjury.

In the second count it is charged he reported his 1923 personal income at $17,320.71 when it was really $48,146.32, and thereby evaded payment of $4978.18 in taxes. The third count charges perjury in the making of the personal returns.

The fourth count is that, as president of the Olian Waist and Dress Co., 1105 Washington avenue, he reported the firm lost $17,697.08 in 1922, when, as a matter of fact, it had an income of $27,818.77. A total of $3477.35 in taxes was thus evaded, it is charged.

Similarly in the fifth and sixth counts it is alleged the company, through Olian, evaded the payment of $2638.66 in 1923 and $965.80 in 1924. The seventh count charges perjury in the Olian Waist and Dress Co. returns.

It is alleged in the eighth count that as head of the Clavis Realty and Investment Co., Olian evaded payment of $2044.01 in income tax in 1924. The ninth count charges perjury for that return.

Said He Ordered Audit.

The indictment was returned at Cape Girardeau because there was a grand jury sitting there and Special Intelligence Unit agents, who made the investigation, were anxious to get an indictment before the statute of limitations expired on the early charges.

As will be recalled the city tax assessment of an apartment house at Waterman and De Baliviere avenues was lowered by $100,000 for 1923, saving Olian $2430 in taxes up to the time the erasures on the city books were discovered and the 1923 tax frauds revealed.

When the Federal information was issued against Olian last month he told a Post-Dispatch reporter he was having an audit made and declared the check would show he had not violated the Federal income tax laws.

MAN'S DEATH ATTRIBUTED TO POOR HOSPITAL EXAMINATION

Deputy Coroner Says Fracture of Everett McClain's Skull Should Have Been Discovered.

There is no doubt that if the man had been examined thoroughly at city hospital his life would have been saved, Deputy Coroner Dever told a Coroner's jury today in opening an inquest in the death of Everett McClain of 3508 Papin street.

McClain was struck by an automobile driven by Troy L. Stewart of 4257 Westminster place, at Grand boulevard and Chouteau avenue, Monday evening. After being taken to city hospital, where his injuries were diagnosed as abrasions, he returned to his home. He died four hours later of a fractured skull.

Deputy Coroner Dever told the inquest jury that the autopsy showed a definite fracture of the skull. A verdict of accident was returned.

Supt. Scharff of the city hospital explained yesterday that McClain insisted on leaving the hospital after he had been examined, although he was urged to remain for an X-ray photograph. An injury such as he suffered could not have been found by a cursory examination, Dr. Scharff said.

REPORT ON $7900 IN ASSETS ORDERED IN BANKRUPT CASE

Referee Cites Harry Goldblum, His Wife and Her Parents in New Order.

An order to show cause why they should not produce $7900 worth of unlisted assets was issued yesterday against Harry Goldblum, proprietor of the bankrupt General Variety Store, 2716 Franklin avenue; his wife, Gertrude, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Cohen, all of 1356 McCausland avenue, by Referee Coles.

Goldblum filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy last January, listing $13,000 in liabilities, $3.62 in assets above exemptions. Testimony at several hearings in the case disclosed that a number of expensive household articles were installed in the Cohen home shortly before Goldblum's bankruptcy and that Goldblum failed to keep an accurate record of his business transactions.

In testifying Goldblum attributed his failure to poor business and heavy personal expenditures, which included $600 monthly living expenses. He denied that he concealed any assets, one of the charges in the order to show cause, which will be heard by Referee Coles, April 28.

FUNERAL OF HENRY MILLER

Services for Noted Actor Attended by Great Throng.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Mourned by hundreds, from the peers of his own profession to the blind pencil peddler he had befriended, Henry Miller, actor-producer was buried yesterday. Long before the hour set for the services at the Little Church Around the Corner the crowds on the street had become so thick police reserves were called to preserve order. The actor's widow did not arrive from Europe in time for the services, but his son and daughter, Gilbert Miller and Mrs. T. J. McCoy, were present.

Services were under the auspices of the Episcopal Actors' Guild, of which Mr. Miller was a councillor. The Episcopal burial service was read by Dean Randolph Ray. Seated in the rear of the church was Joseph Hahn, blind pencil peddler often befriended by Mr. Miller. Hahn has sold his wares before the Henry Miller Theater since it opened in 1918. Whenever a new policeman tried to chase Hahn away it was Mr. Miller who interceded for him. A policeman tried to keep Hahn out of the church yesterday but a friend of Mr. Miller's got him in.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 14.—When Conductor J. A. Davidson, in charge of an interurban car from Ordel to Louisville, stopped his car at the station here yesterday he found a passenger that had paid no fare. A child had been born to a woman who was en route to the hospital. Mother and child are doing nicely.

CHILD GETS $10,000 BY BREWER'S WILL

Ellis Wainwright Helped Jeanne Labouret Because She Lost Her Father in the War.

A fairy godfather's gift of American dollars has descended upon Jeanne Labouret, 10-year-old daughter of a French soldier who lost his life in the defense of his country.

Jeanne receives $10,000 in the settlement, now being made, of the estate of Ellis Wainwright, former brewer. In the will, her address was given as Paris, with the notation that her exact whereabouts might be learned through a banking firm.

On his last visit to France, a few years before his death, Mr. Wainwright became interested in the child. Marion C. Early, attorney for the executors, said today that he was not certain whether Mr. Wainwright ever saw Jeanne. He had a picture of her, made when she was about 6 years old. Wealthy Americans in Paris, at that time, were asked to aid French children who had lost their fathers in the war, and Jeanne happened to be the one whom Mr. Wainwright undertook to help. He sent money to the child's mother, at regular intervals, up to his death in November, 1924.

Another of the individual legatees in the will, Mrs. Dorothy Brown of Portland, Me., is an elderly woman who was a friend of the Wainwright family in St. Louis years ago.

A bequest which will not be paid, as told yesterday, is that of "all my supply of beverages" to Mr. Wainwright's friend, Harry V. Day of New York. The alcoholic beverages were all drunk up before his death, by visitors to his apartment on Park avenue, New York. Washington University receives $548,270, and the St. Louis Children's Hospital $50,000, in the final settlement of the estate.

Youth Charged With Auto Theft.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 14.—William O'Mara, 18 years old, who said his home is in St. Louis, last night was arrested in connection with the theft late yesterday of an Essex coach, the property of W. W. Michaels. Another youth, Charles Kelly of St. Paul, Minn., is being held as a material witness in connection with the theft. Kelly told police he was invited to take a ride with O'Mara. After riding a short while, he said, he became convinced the car was stolen and called police.

AIR MAIL SERVICE TO CHICAGO TOMORROW

Plane to Leave Lambert-St. Louis Field at 4 P. M. After Ceremonies.

The first airplane on the Chicago-St. Louis air mail route, which is to give St. Louis overnight service to New York and Eastern points, will take off from Lambert-St. Louis Field at 4 p. m. tomorrow after ceremonies under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce.

An appeal for patronage of the service was issued yesterday by Col. Albert T. Perkins, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce postal committee who is also heading a campaign to raise $15,000 for an air mail hangar at the field.

"In order to retain this service and possibly bring about its extension to New Orleans and to the Southwest, two things are necessary," Col. Perkins said. First St. Louis must provide 250 pounds of mail a day—approximately 5000 letters. Second, we must provide a hangar for the mail ships at the field."

The funds to erect the hangar will be raised among local business houses who are also the objects of a campaign for use of the new service between St. Louis and points on the transcontinental route as well as for rail points north and south of the cross-continent line.

The first plane tomorrow will be piloted by Charles E. Lindbergh, former army pursuit pilot. If the volume of mail requires a second ship Philip R. Love, also a former army air service man, will take it north. Thereafter northbound planes will leave the field daily, except Saturday and Sunday, at 4 p. m., arriving in Chicago at 7:15 o'clock after 10-minute stops at Springfield and Peoria.

For this service mail must be at the main postoffice at Eighteenth and Walnut streets not later than 3 p. m., when the truck will leave with its air mail load. The rate is 10 cents an ounce to Chicago, with an additional 5 cents added for the trip eastward from Chicago to New York over the transcontinental line.

Southbound planes will leave Chicago at 6 a. m. daily, except Sunday and Monday, and will arrive here at 9:15 o'clock, after stops at Peoria and Springfield. Lindbergh will take his plane to Chicago this afternoon in readiness for the return trip tomorrow morning and will stand by at the field for the first trip north in the afternoon.

State Marketing Law Held Void.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, April 14. — A judgment preventing the enforcement of the State marketing law was ordered here by Judge Fred W. Coon in the Circuit Court. The law was declared unconstitutional. The hearing was in the test case brought two months ago by Bryant Arnold and 46 other Kansas City hay merchants. The suit was brought against Forest W. Hanna, prosecuting attorney, and C. P. Anderson, State Marketing Commissioner. The decision was appealed to the Supreme Court.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK AT FULTON CLOSED

By the Associated Press.

FULTON, Mo., April 14.—The First National Bank of this city, with a capital stock of $100,000, was closed this morning by order of the board of directors. A notice was posted on the doors notifying depositors that the institution was in the hands of Vance L. Sailor, a national bank examiner.

T. P. Harrison, Callaway County land owner, is president of the bank, and John W. Suggett is cashier. The management of the institution was in the hands of Suggett, and Baker Terry, first vice president, it was said.

The condition of the bank, according to its financial statement of Dec. 31, 1925, was as follows: Loans and discounts $462,482.55; individual deposits $180,000; time deposits $78,000; bills payable $144,000; capital stock $100,000; surplus $40,000, and undivided profits $5700.

Officials Are Hopeful.

Officers are hopeful for a reorganization of the bank without loss to depositors. No irregularities of any kind were noted, it was said.

"With careful handling of affairs there will be no loss to depositors and no assessments made against stockholders," Baker Terry, first vice president, said in conference with newspaper men shortly after the notice appeared on the doors of the bank.

"The directors all considered the closing of the bank to be the best way to protect the interests of the depositors and the stockholders.

"On account of the general business depression and the scarcity of money in the county it has not been possible in recent months to keep deposits in the bank up to a point where the institution could make any money."

Bank Robbed Last Year.

The bank was robbed Jan. 1, 1925, of $12,650, but four days later all but $500 of the money was found hidden in a storeroom in the rear of the bank building. Robert Cowan, 23, former accountant of the bank, was accused of the robbery. He was subsequently found not guilty of the charge by a jury in the Callaway County Circuit Court.

6 MEN KILLED IN FLARE-UP OF K. K. K. FEUD AT HERRIN

"Early in the afternoon I heard that there had been shots fired several blocks away but I did not leave my place of duty. Shortly after 4 o'clock as I came out of the Temple, three automobiles drove up and stopped in the middle of the street.

Fired on Him.

"A man got out of one of the cars and walked directly up to me. He drew a revolver and, pointing it at me said 'Stick 'em up.' I complied with the command and he began firing at me. He was only a few feet away, I should say not more than four or five feet.

"He was firing at my head, and so close to me that my face and hands were powder burned.

"He had fired four shots in quick succession when Mack Sizemore, who had come out of the building back of me, drew his gun and killed the man. Then began a general shooting affray. It all happened so quickly that I don't know which men killed each other. I saw troops come running up the street and the men who had opened fire on us piled into the largest of the cars, a Hudson coach, and drove rapidly away. I will have more to tell at the inquest."

The klansmen were killed on the sidewalk. Briggs and Treadway were killed in a Buick coupe that followed the Hudson. This car was abandoned by the attacking group, and was taken by the police. Treadway was at the wheel, and Briggs was at his side.

Weaver presumably is the man killed by Mack Sizemore. As Sizemore lay dying in the Herrin Hospital two hours later, he exclaimed with apparent satisfaction and pride, "I got my man. Tell them I died like a soldier."

Elections Started Trouble.

The trouble seems to have been precipitated by three elections with the last week. A week ago yesterday the antiklan men defeated the klansmen in a township election. On Saturday, in a school board election the klansmen scored a victory. In both these elections, leaders of the two factions did considerable strutting about Herrin, displaying their firearms. It was apparent that the leaders had chips on their shoulders. Some persons had spoken to State's Attorney Boswell about the situation.

Boswell said he conveyed this information Friday to the Adjutant-General's office in Springfield, with a request for troops for Saturday's election. He added that a second request for troops was made for yesterday's election, but both requests were disregarded.

And so election day dawned in Herrin yesterday. The voting proceeded for several hours without any disturbance, and then John Smith left his garage, headquarters for the klan group in Herrin, to take a walk. He had not proceeded far when a man identified with the anti-klan faction drew a revolver and hit him on the head.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

He took Smith's two revolvers and told Smith to "beat it." Smith hurried back to his garage.

Early in the afternoon Charles Davis, said by klansmen to be identified with the opposition group, was assaulted by a man who, as he reported, ran into Smith's garage. He was not seriously hurt. This word reached a group of anti-klan men loitering near the European Hotel, about a block and a half from the garage.

From automobiles nearby they procured rifles and opened fire on the garage from where they stood. Ordinarily pedestrians would have sought shelter. But not in Herrin. It brought more people out on the streets until, according to all accounts, about 1000 persons had gathered.

After firing more than 50 shots the men got in their automobiles, drove around the block and as they passed Smith's place, emptied their revolvers into the doors and walls.

Policemen Watch the Fight.

Policemen were among the spectators, but took no hand to stop the shooting. When the firing ceased for a time the voting, which had been interrupted, again proceeded.

At the Fourth Ward polling place, in the basement of the Masonic Temple, a dozen voters had congregated to cast their ballots when, shortly after 4 p. m., three automobiles led by a Hudson coach, drove up and stopped. It was observed by the voters that the men in the machines were the ones who had fired on Smith's garage. The coach contained six or eight men, and as they got out the shooting began. John Ford's version was the only one obtainable from a near witness.

When the smoke had cleared away, troops dashed on the scene. They were members of headquarters company of Carbondale, under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Robert Davis. They had arrived in Herrin five minutes before and were marching to Smith's garage.

The appearance of the troops put both factions to flight. The soldiers assisted in caring for the wounded and dead. Col. Davis began an immediate investigation. He was told that Monroe (Blackie) Arms of Herrin, an anti-klan man, had fired a shot at John Smith. Col. Davis arrested Arms, but released him when Sheriff Galligan said Arms was one of his deputies.

Blames Galligan's Deputies.

Mayor Marshall D. McCormack today said the trouble yesterday would have been averted had not a dozen or more men appeared in Herrin with commissions as Deputy Sheriffs. Amng them, he said, were Earl Bernard and Carl Shelton, who were implicated in previous trouble here, and Bill Burton and Arms. They said they had been deputized by Sheriff Galligan.

"Sheriff Galligan in the morning telephoned me," the Mayor said, "and inquired if I needed special deputies to preserve order during the day. I told him that appearance of himself or any of his deputies in Herrin would make bad matters worse, and he said he would not send anyone. He telephoned me a second time about noon; and he again agreed it would not be good policy to send deputies.

"But these men were already in town, loitering about the European Hotel. I saw one of them with a rifle. Burton reported to me early in the afternoon that John Smith had gone to a voting place in the second ward and flourished a revolver. Burton and others disarmed Smith and hit him on the head with a revolver.

Man Beaten in Garage.

"About 3 o'clock Joe Brasher was passing Smiht's garage and was seized by men in the garage and beaten. A little later an aged man, Charles Davis, was beaten in that vicinity. My information is that shots were fired from inside Smith's garage, and that the Deputy Sheriffs went down there to quell the disorder. General firing from both sides then began and lasted about an hour."

Sheriff Galligan, at Marion, denied today he had sen any deputies except Jack Wilkerson, a personal representative, to Herrin. If any others had commissions as Deputy Sheriffs, he did not know it, he said. Mayor McCormack has requested Col. Davis to keep the troops here until after the aldermanic election to be held next Tuesday.

Better Than Ice for Skin or Complexion

Every Beauty Doctor knows the value of Ice Treatments for the complexion, but recently an English Beauty Specialist found that even better results could be obtained by simply rubbing the face, neck or hands with a little ordinary ice-mint either just before retiring at night or whenever one desires to look their best.

The reaction of the ice-mint on the skin not only brings the color to the cheeks the same as an ice treatment, but it also holds the color there longer and makes the skin soft, firm and more youthful in appearance. Wrinkles will soon be a thing of the past to the woman who cares for her skin. Many have already made themselves look years younger by these simple ice-mint treatments and Druggists say they are having an enormous demand for it, as the cost is little and it is positively a delight to any woman who loves a good complexion and nice hands and skin.

JUSTICE OBJECTS TO HAYS' CRITICISM OF COURTS

By the Associated Press.

PASSAIC, N. J., April 14.—Arthur Garfield Hays of the American Civil Liberties Union, New York, was threatened with a disorderly person charge for utterances in defense of textile strikers in a Justice of the Peace's court in Garfield yesterday.

Simultaneously Sheriff Morgan announced he would soon put the riot act into force in Passaic County. It has been placed in effect in Bergen County.

Hays appeared before the court in defense of Robert Wolf, a member of a party which attempted to hold a meeting in Garfield, Robert W. Dunn of the American Civil Liberties Union and others.

Before leaving the courtroom without being able to have reduced the bail under which Wolf and Dunn were held, Hays declared it impossible for strikers to get justice in magistrate's courts of New Jersey.

Justice Hargreaves stopped Hays with the threat of disorderly conduct if he did not speak in a different manner. Dunn was held in $10,000 bail and Wolf in $5000.

MORE SPACE FOR LATIN AMERICAN NEWS IS URGED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The first Pan-American Congress of Journalists adjourned after the adoption of 29 resolutions which proposed, among other things, the organization of a Pan-American Association of Journalists, creation of a Pan-American Press Association and the holding of another congress, essentially technical in character.

The congress also went on record as favoring the adoption of arbitration as a means of settling disputes affecting the interests of Western Hemisphere nations and of the study of pending international questions that might affect their peace.

With reference to journalism, the congress recommended the "suppression of all horror-producing or intimate details in news regarding crimes or scandalous events," urged the purification or elimination of suggestive or deceitful advertisements, and suggested that steps be taken to obtain laws guaranteeing freedom of the press in all countries.

The journalists also urged that North American newspapers devote more space to Latin-American news, and laid down "emphatically the doctrine that the interests of North, Central and South America are more and more tending to become identical and that it is within the power of the press of this section to conserve its interests and to bring the nations involved to the point of harmonious action in their defense."

This Man Intends to Keep It in the House

"In May or June, 1913, I sent to you and got four bottles which were worth many dollars to me. They enabled me to go to work again. Charge Accounts Solicited

COURT VIRTUALLY ASKED TO ALLOT FRISCO PROFITS

FAVORITISM IN DIVIDENDS CHARGED

Common Shares Appreciably Advanced and Those in Charge of Road Benefited, It Is Alleged.

A suit for an accounting filed against the Frisco Railroad yesterday is, in effect, a request of Federal Court to fix the future practice of the road in disbursing its annual net profits to stockholders.

E. M. Grossman, attorney for Carl W. Brown, a Connecticut holder of 100 shares of preferred stock, who filed the suit, said today that the present practice of the road in declaring dividends takes from the pockets of preferred stockholders a portion of the net profits to which they were entitled and places it in the pockets of the common stockholders. The sum of this diversion since 1916 has been in excess of $3,000,000, it is alleged.

The value of common stock thus has been appreciably enhanced, Grossman said, and this in turn benefits those in charge of the road in two ways: it tends to satisfy common stockholders who form the constituency to whom those in charge must look for retention of their offices. It is profitable personally for those in control, because the promotion fee which they took at the time of the emergence of the road from receivership was $5,197,800 of common stock and only $524,800 of preferred stock.

Charge as to Dividends.

Between 1916 and 1924, the road declared only 1½ per cent on preferred stock, although earning a net profit of approximately $14,000,000. President Kurn of the railroad said today that this surplus had been expended for physical betterments or obligated for betterments.

The occasion for the suit at this time is an alleged violation of an agreement with preferred stockholders made at reorganization that no common stock dividends be declared until the preferred stock dividend of 6 per cent per annum had been satisfied.

No dividends, either common or preferred, were declared in the period between 1916 and 1924 except one quarterly payment to preferred. Meanwhile, the road showed a net profit in all except two of those years ranging from $753,013 to $5,925,574, the net operating profit for the period approaching $14,000,000.

Assertion as to Earnings.

Grossman asserts that the earnings in each year was sufficient to have paid the full preferred stock dividend of $450,000. Nor were the losses in the two years sufficient to deplete the accrued earnings to a point below the preferred divided requirement of $450,000. Hence, he contends, that no common stock dividend can rightfully be declared until the preferred dividend first has been paid. He says that the railroad position is that the action of the board of directors in any one year of passing the preferred dividend, forever removes the claim of the preferred stock dividends for that year.

The road declared a common stock dividend of $252,235 last year and also paid its 6 per cent preferred dividend. The court is asked for a judgment in favor of preferred stockholders of the sum paid to common stockholders.

It is expected that the court in ruling will necessarily establish or deny the contention of the preferred stockholders, that they are entitled to recover at any time preferred stock dividends for any year if earned in that year, whether the board of directors passed the dividend or not.

Statement of Kurn.

President Kurn of the Frisco, said today in relation to the suit filed on behalf of a Connecticut stockholder holding 100 shares of preferred stock, that he could see no reason whatever for filing such a suit. The Reorganization Plan and Agreement, entered into in in 1921, left it to the discretion of the Board of Directors when dividends should be paid.

As the road was in poor sphysical condition at the time of reorganization, it was considered good business to try to accumulate a surplus. Therefore no dividends were paid on any stock until Oct. 1, 1924, when a quarterly dividend on the preferred stock, now in question, was declared of 1¼ per cent. On Dec. 3, 1924, full dividends on the preferred stock were declared and set sadie for the year 1925, to be made in quarterly payments and was so paid. After this action a dividend of 1¼ per cent was declared on the common stock and set aside for payment on Jan. 15, 1925.

The Frisco records show that the 100 shares of stock used by Carl W. Brown of Norwich, Conn., with which to instiute this suit, ha dbeen originally issued to Spencer Trask & Co., New York bankers. It was canceled and reissued to Charles H. Brown of Norwich, Conn., on Dec. 12, 1925, and again canceled and reissued to Corl W. Brown of Norwich, Conn., on Feb. 19, 1926.

$7,000,000 RECOMMENDED FOR WATERPOWER SURVEYS

War Department Urges Profit to Include Rivers and Streams in All Sections.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The War Department has transmitted to the House a recommendation that $7,322,400 be expended for water power development surveys on rivers and streams in all sections of the country.

The surveys were recommended jointly by army engineers and the Federal Power Commission, and some of them, Chairman Dempsey of the Rivers and Harbors Committee announced, would be provided for in amendments to the omnibus bill which already makes provision for 109 surveys and 32 development projects.

Three proposals in the omnibus measure were attacked before the Republican steering committee of the House by members from Mid-Western states, who contended they were of too great magnitude to be considered with what they regarded as emergency projects.

Under fire were the proposed all-American canal survey, the Illinois River development, the Cape Cod canal purchase and development.

Although Dempsey, sponsor of the all-American canal project, has announced he would propose the expenditure of $250,000 for a new survey in a separate measure if necessary, he said he had no intention of giving up the fight for a unified bill providing for a natural development program.

Mother Says They're Fine for Kiddies

Build firm flesh and rosy health by new treatment

Mothers are amazed at the speed with which Dr. Gross' Double-Strength Cod Liver Oil Tablets cause thin, weak and undernourished children to gain. There is nothing finer than cod liver oil to build health and strength for children. Their dislike for its nasty taste and fishy smell has now been overcome by this new treatment.

Sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, these tablets increase appetite and energy in just a few days, so rapidly that you can actually see the change. Mrs. Thorn's testimonial speaks worlds.

"My little girl (age nine years) looked so thin and pale I worried constantly about her health. Your tablets seemed to be all she needed, and she picked up so rapidly I am now giving the tablets to my three other children. Several of my neighbors' children are taking them also. They like to take them and they are doing them a world of good. Their appetites are enormous."—Mrs. E. Thorn, Illinois.

Every child ought to have a fair chance for health and strength, and nothing is of greater help than Dr. Gross' Tablets. Sold by all druggists under positive guarantee to give results or money back. Dr. Gross' Laboratories, Inc., Dayton, O.

It's Time for New Window Shades

OUTSIDE and INSIDE . . . window shades make a place look shabby—or give that clean, well-cared-for appearance we associate with prosperity.

For years Kennard's has been furnishing window shades for residences . . . apartments . . . hospitals . . . office and public buildings. Our estimates for the work are the lowest possible consistent with quality and satisfactory service.

We carry only the best quality of shades, such as the well-known makes of John Kings & Sons Imported Scotch Holland; Stewart Hartshorn's Chouaguen hand-made oil opaque and tinted cambric cloth.

Kennard shades are cut 9 inches longer than window measurements. This prevents them from being pulled off the roller when down to the sill, and allows for new hem when being cleaned or reversed.

All shades are mounted on guaranteed Hartshorn rollers . . . no rollers less than 1-inch in diameter.

All fixtures are put [illegible] with screws to prevent them from becoming loose, and so as not to deface woodwork.

If you wish, old shades may be reversed or new cloth put on your own rollers.

LOS ANGELES LEAVES MOORING MAST ON A TEST FLIGHT

Dirigible Lands to Give Crew Experience, Then Sets out on Another Brief Trip.

By the Associated Press.

LAKEHURST, N. J., April 14.—The dirigible Los Angeles left her mooring mast at 2:15 p. m. for the second trial flight since her reconditioning after an idleness of 10 months.

The ship was returned to the station after a short flight to give the crew experience in landing and then set out on another brief trip.

The Los Angeles returned to her mooring mast last night after a successful two-hour flight, the first since June 8, 1925. The flight was successful in every respect, Capt. George W. Steele Jr., said. Engines worked perfectly and no difficulties were encountered.

Captain Steele said that with the exception of those transferred from the Lakehurst station, all survivors of the Shenandoah, including Colonel Hall of the Army Air Service, were aboard.

"THERE IS CONSIDERABLE DIFFERENCE"

"In the Way I Feel Now and Before I Took Herb Juice," Says Saint Louis Man

"There is a considerable difference in my feelings today and about three or four months ago, because up until the time I started taking Herb Juice I had just about come to the conclusion that there was no relief in store for me. But after hearing so many good reliable people praise Herb Juice so highly, and reading so many of the testimonials of people right here at home that Herb Juice had benefited so wonderfully, I decided to try it myself. And from the beginning it worked wonders for me and today I feel like an entirely new man," said Mr. G. W. Wilson who resides at 2026 Dekalb St., St. Louis, Mo., in a recent conversation with the special demonstrator at Walgreen's.

MR. G. W. WILSON

Continuing his remarks, Mr. Wilson said, "It has been many a day, in fact so long that I can't remember when I felt as good as I do now. This remarkable remedy, Herb Juice, has just simply reconstructed my whole system. And before taking this remedy I was a sufferer of chronic constipation of the very worst kind and had been for years. In addition to this I had a very gassy stomach and suffered a great deal with indigestion. Of course it's natural that I tried all the different remedies for my ailments, like everyone else who has suffered as I have, they are continually grabbing at something for relief. But I can truthfully say that I never found that long sought for relief until I tried Herb Juice. And from the very beginning it made a wonderful difference in my condition. I don't know what it is to be constipated any more; never have that tired, worn out feeling and, as I said in the beginning, I just can't remember when I have felt so good as I do now, and I attribute all this to Herb Juice and urge everyone suffering as I did to try this great remedy because I am sure they will find the same wonderful relief that I did."

This great laxative medicine is an Herb Extract preparation known as Herb Juice and is outselling any medicine where it has been introduced. Many are calling daily to see the special demonstrator at Walgreen Drug Co., 514 Washington Ave., giving statements for publication, praising this great remedy that their friends may be induced to try it.

TELLS OF EFFORT TO UNITE ST. PAUL AND NICKEL PLATE

Former Chief Stockholder of Defunct Road Says He Made Proposition to Van Sweringens.

NICKEL PLATE MEN TURNED DOWN PLAN

Attempts to Tie Up St. Paul With Southern Pacific and Illinois Central Also Futile.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Efforts were made in 1923 and 1924 to bring about some kind of consolidation between the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad and the Nickel Plate and several other roads, it was testified in the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the St. Paul receivership.

Edward S. Harkness, who was chief stockholder of the St. Paul, testified yesterday that, hoping to better its condition, he went to the Van Sweringens of the Nickel Plate to see if they could not make a great cross country system, but the weak financial condition of the St. Paul caused failure of these negotiations as well as similiar negotiations with the New York Central, Southern Pacific and Illinois Central.

The commission is investigating a complaint of a group of stockholders that the St. Paul directors and Wall street bankers purposely threw the road into receivership to bring about a reorganization at the expense of stockholders.

Owned 103,000 Shares.

Harkness said he became a director of the road in 1915, replacing a dead brother, at the request of Percy Rockefeller. In 1923 he had owned 103,750 shares of stock. He said he had sold 42,000 shares since the receivership, taking a great loss. Asked why he was not on any of the security holders' protective committees, he said he had never been asked to serve, but would have been glad to do so.

Answering questions tending to show his connection with the Rockefeller interests, Harkness said his family fortune was founded in Standard Oil. He said he had severed his connections with the National City Bank and the New York Trust Co. after becoming a St. Paul director.

As far as he knows no attempt was made to get suggestions from the holders of 1925 maturities as to a possible solution of the road's difficulties. The immediate reason given for the receivership was inability to meet these $84,000,000 obligations.

Reporting Income for Tax.

The other important witness of the day was Samuel F. Pryor, business associate of Percy Rockefeller, who continued discussion of the $150,000 commission he received for selling the Gary belt line to the St. Paul. This sale is alleged to have contributed to the road's weak condition.

He testified he had given the $150,000 in bonds to the Owenoke Corporation, in which he and Rockefeller each own a third interest. Required, despite his objection, to tell how this was reported under the income tax, he admitted it was reported as income of the Owenoke corporation and not in his own statement. He denied giving the bonds to the corporation as reward for Rockefeller's help in making the sale.

Byram Gives Reason for Purchase of Gary Road.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 14.—The saving in time and money in moving freight past Chicago from Eastern points to Western railroads was cited by H. E. Byram, former president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, as the major reason why the road acquired the Chicago, Milwaukee & Gary line.

Byram's assertion was included in testimony before Federal Judge Wilkerson yesterday in the effort of receivers of the St. Paul to get court permission to interest on the subsidiary's bonds.

SOVIET BUDGET TWO BILLIONS

Government to Make Big Allottment to Industry, Rykoff Says.

MOSCOW, April 14. — Soviet Russia's budget this year totals 4,000,000,000 rubles ($2,060,000,000), as compared with 2,800,000,000 rubles last year, Premier Rykoff told the soviet executive committee. A feature of the budget, he said, was the allotment to industry of 155,000,000 rubles under the heading of extraordinary expenditures.

Despite the adverse foreign trade balance resulting from increased imports, the government possessed sufficient currency and gold funds for the payemnt of all orders placed abroad.

INTERESTS OF PEOPLE SAME AS THEY WERE IN DAYS OF JEFFERSON, HAWES DECLARES

Congressman, Guest at Dinner Attended by 1000 Persons, Speaks Against Centralized Government.

A testimonial dinner at Hotel Jefferson last night given to Congressman Harry B. Hawes, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, by more than 1000 Democrats of St. Louis and Eastern Missouri, marked the formal opening of Hawes' campaign on a platform of a revival in governmental practice of the principles written into the Constitution through the efforts of Thomas Jefferson, the anniversary of whose birth was chosen for the dinner.

The speakers, Hawes and Claude G. Bowers of New York, recited the Jeffersonian principles, and then showed in detailss how the Government had drifted to a forgetfulness of the rights won for the people by Jefferson and his followers. Both urged that there were the same reasons today as there were 140 years ago for a protection of the people from a paternal Government.

Candidacy Not Mentioned.

Though Hawes had nothing to say regarding his candidacy, and although there were disappointed ones among his friends because of his failure to state his views on specific matters, such as prohibition and the World Court, the dinner was distinctively one of supporters of Hawes. Included among the guests were persons in all walks of life, men of big business, men of small business and the rank and file of organization Democrats.

A suggestion from Roscoe Anderson that the chairman of the meeting appoint a committee of 100 to organize and conduct a campaign for Hawes, was received with loud applause and was carried unanimously. This committee, which will be selected within a few days, will sponsor the Hawes campaign.

The large dining room of the hotel was inadequate to accommodate the diners and tables were set in the lobby for the overflow. Former United States Senator Wilfley presided at the opening and introduced Sam W. Fordyce as toastmaster. Although the only speakers on the program were Hawes and Bowers, Fordyce at the conclusion of Bowers' address called upon former Gov. Gardner and Mrs. Benton McMillin of Nashville, Tenn., Democratic National Committeewoman from Tennessee. Each spoke briefly from their tables.

Bowers' address, which is published elsewhere in this edition, was a historical review of the contests of Jefferson and Hamilton, with an analysis of present-day conditions as a parallel.

Hawes, whose prepared speech had covered much the same general ground as that of Bowers, did not follow his manuscript, though he referred frequently to Jefferson's principles, he used them as examples of the way the Democrats could return to power in Missouri and in the nation.

To Hawes the enormous pluralities the Republicans have had in two national elections, and their success twice in four years in State elections did not mean that conditions were hopeless for Democratic success.

Hawes Optimistic in Views.

"The interests of the people are the same as they were in the day of Jefferson," Hawes said, "and when they come to a realization of how Government has deprived them of their rights guaranteed by the Constitution, they will be as alive to recover and preserve those rights as they were in Jefferson's day to obtain them."

The Democrats, he said, maintained about their usual proportion of seats in the Senate and House of Representatives notwithstanding the huge Coolidge plurality. He pointed out that to control the next Senate it would be necessary for the Democrats to win 16 or 18 seats to be filled.

In Missouri, he said, Gov. Baker, a Republican, was elected by less than 6000 plurality, the Democratic party was not apparently united, and there was every reason to believe the Democrats would be successful in the election next November.

Opposed to Centralization.

Hawes gave a vigorous presentation of his opposition to centralization of government in Washington, which has marked his record in Congress. He prefaced this with his resume of the Jeffersonian philosophy:

"Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever state or persuasion, religious or political.

"Peace, commerce and honest friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none.

"Support of state governments in all their rights as the most competent administration for our domestic concerns and the bulwark against antirepublican tendencies.

Would Preserve Constitution.

"The preservation of the general government in its whole constitutional vigor as the sheet-anchor to our peace at home and safety abroad.

"Absolute acquiescence in the decisions of the majority, the vital principle of republics from which there is no appeal but to force, the vital principle and immediate parent of despotism.

"A well-disciplined militia, our best reliance in peace and for the first moments of of war till regulars may relieve them.

"The supremacy of the civil over the military authority.

"Economy in the public expense, that labor may be lightly burdened.

"The honest payment of our debts and sacred preservation of the public faith.

Would Encourage Agriculture.

"Encouragement of agriculture, and of commerce, its handmaiden.

"The diffusion of information and the arraignment of all abused at the bar of public reason.

"Freedom of religion; freedom of the press; freedom of person under the protection of the habeas corpus; and trial by juries impartially selected.

"These principles formed the bright constellation which has gone before us and guided our steps through a large revolution and reformation. They should be the creed of our political faith, the text of civil instruction, the touchstone by which to try the services of those we trust.

"And should we wander from them in moments of error or alarm, let us hasten to retrace our steps and to regain the road which alone leads to peace, liberty and safety.

Jefferson for Bill of Rights.

"Jefferson was absent in France when the Federal Constitution was written, but he approved it, and it is not true that he opposed a strong Constitution. He was one of those, however, who demanded that it should be improved by the addition of the first 10 amendments, called the American Bill of Rights.

"They have more than any other portions of the Constitution preserved the rights of property and the sacred rights of liberty. It was the political school of Jefferson which demanded that they should be placed in the written law. They are an essential part of the creed of Democracy:

"Religious liberty, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, the right of peaceful assembly, the right of petition for redress of grievances, the right of the State Militia to bear arms, no soldier shall be quartered in time of peace in a house without the consent of the owner, no unreasonable search and seizure, no arrest except upon probable cause, supporting by oath or affirmation describing the place and the person or things to be seized; capital offenses must be found by grand jury indictment, no person shall for the same offense twice be placed in jeopardy or compelled to testify against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; no private property shall be taken for public use without just compensation.

For Speedy Trials.

"In criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury in the district wherein the crime is committed, to be informed of the nature of the accusation, to be confronted by witnesses, to have compulsory service for obtaining witnesses and the assistance of counsel in defense; excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishment inflicted."

Concluding, Hawes said the battle was little changed today. "The broad lines of the fight are the same as they were in the days of Jefferson. The political issues are the same."

FOR DRY ACT REFERENDUM

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14.—The outlook for a popular referendum in New York State upon modification of prohibition took another step forward when, by a vote of 30 to 21, the Senate approved the Karle-Phelps referendum bill. A majority in support of the measure in the Assembly was foreseen by leaders of that body.

The referendum roll call indicated a gain of three wet votes since last week, but the dry forces recovered whatever ground was lost, their spokesmen asserted when the Assembly adopted the Jenks State enforcement bill which would commit the State to support of the national dry statutes. The Jenks bill passed, 76 to 72.

27 End Lives in Budapest in Day.

VIENNA, April 14.—A dispatch from Budapest says there have been 27 suicides reported during the last 24 hours. Many young persons were among the victims. Unemployment and other distress are largely responsible.

Coolidge Maple Orchard Sugared.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., April 14.—The Coolidge maple orchard is being sugared for the first time in 30 years by Lynn Cady, a young farmer, who rented the place from the late Col. John C. Coolidge. The first of the syrup will be sent to the President.

PEKIN CUT OFF AS ALLIED FORCES MEET WITH REVERSES

Harassed Kuominchun Troops Turn on Pursuers; Reinforcements Rush to Aid Allies.

By the Associated Press.

TIENTSIN, April 14.—The Allied Manchurian-Shantung forces are reported to have sustained a serious reverse today in severe fighting with the Kuominchun troops which have been supporting the Pekin government, recently overthrown. The conflict took place at Tunchow Chi, six miles east of Pekin and has resulted in the capital being cut off by road and rail.

The allies are believed to have attacked the Kuominchun troops hastily when they received news of the coup d'etat by which Chief Executive Tuan Chi-Jui was ousted from office. The harassed Kuominchun forces turned upon them, punishing them severely. Large reinforcements have been dispatched to the aid of the allies.

Gen. Chang-Sueh-Liang, son of Chang Tso-Lin, Manchuria's war lord, and Gen. Chang Tsung-Chang, Governor of Shantung, have gone to the front to take personal command of the allied forces.

Brief reports by wireless from Pekin state that yesterday's air raid upon the capital by the allies was the most serious experienced. Numerous Chinese are reported killed.

HISTORIC CAPE HENLOPEN LIGHTHOUSE FALLS INTO SEA

Heavy Gale at High Tide Undermines Unused Structure in Delaware Built by British in 1765.

LEWES, Del., April 14.—Historic Cape Henlopen Lighthouse, on the Delaware Bay, two miles south of here, crumbled and toppled into the sea yesterday.

A northeast gale—the long-time enemy of the "old man of the Atlantic" as the lighthouse was known—with the aid of an unusually high tide, destroyed the pre-Revolutionary structure. Henlopen was the second oldest lighthouse on the Atlantic coast. It was built by the British in 1765 a few years after the construction of the light at Cape Henry.

For years the insecurity of Henlopen Light had been apparent and unusual efforts had been made to preserve it for historic reasons. All night great waves from the ocean ate into the sand foundation at the foot of the ancient structure. Harassed by the gale, the water pounded higher and higher until they beat away the last supports and it tumbled over.

During the Revolutionary War the British seized Henlopen and burned the interior. The United States Government repaired the damage and mounted a lense manufactured in France whose rays were visible 40 miles at sea.

One of the last dramas within sight of the lighthouse was during the world war in 1918 when the oil tanker William Pratt was sunk by a U-boat. Its rays shone for the last time Sept. 30, 1924, when the Government opened a new steel lighthouse nearby.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14.—The State Highway Commission has awarded contracts for construction of 135.7 miles of State highways, in 22 counties, at a total cost of $2,073,539, including $553,770 in materials to be furnished in the State. The Commission yesterday also voted against issue of additional road bonds after the disposal of the present $60,000,000 issue and elected a secretary.

Contracts awarded yesterday were to the low bidders. The low bids on the work totaled $1,519,769 and the cost of material to be furnished by the State brought the total to more than $2,000,000.

Contracts let cover 53.3 miles of concrete paving, of which 24.8 miles is on primary routes and the remainder on secondary routes, to cost $703,451; 36.5 miles of gravel surfacing, 45.9 miles of graded earth.

WILL PUSH WAR CLAIMS BILL

President Gives Approval for Passage of Measure This Term.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Secretary Mellon told a House Committee today that the pending bill for settling German and American claims arising from war-time seizures had the approval of President Coolidge and that the Treasury would press it for action this session as an administration measure.

Dispute over "war-time secrets" arose with a request by Representative Garner (Dem.), Texas, for data showing profits of insurance companies during the time that ships were being sunk during the war. Despite objection by several committee members, Garner requested Secretary Mellon to ask for a presidential order to make the information public.

Mussolini Mixes Own Mortar.

By the Associated Press.

TRIPOLI, April 14.—President Coolidge, who recently laid all the mortar necessary for a cornerstone, shall have nothing on Mussolini. Benito found the mortar faulty for a ceremony and mixed some anew, then put the stone in place. And as for Al Smith holding a card of the Hodcarriers' Union, why Benito used to be a stone mason.

Principles of Jefferson Applied To National Problems of Today

Claude G. Bowers, Editor and Author of "Jefferson and Hamilton" and Other Books on American Political History, Addresses St. Louis Democrats.

The feature of the Jefferson Day banquet, at the Hotel Jefferson last night, was an address by Claude G. Bowers, an editorial writer of the New York World and foremost of present day historians of the formative period of the American Government.

Bowers' most noted books are "Party Battles of the Jackson Period," and "Jefferson and Hamilton." His address last night was devoted to a close study of Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton and to a refutation of much that has ben included in histories by authors of the Hamilton school.

Text of Bowers' Address.

The text of the address follows:

"America may well honor the memory of the consummate genius who made this a democratic republic, dedicated to personal liberty and equal rights. Had he done nothing more than write the Declaration of Independence he would be numbered among the immortals. Had he done nothing more than strike down feudalism in Virginia he would be remembered as one of the greatest reformers of all time. Had he done nothing more than force the Bill of Rights into the Constitution he would be revered as one of the wisest leaders of the people the world has ever known. But having done these things, and all these things, he looms in gigantic proportions as the personification and the symbol of everything that is essentially and fundamentally American.

"And Thomas Jefferson, 100 years in his grave, still lives. And it is because he lives that some historians are still dipping their pens in the slime of the Federalist gutter to malign the author of the Declaration of Independence.

Jefferson and the Constitution.

"They say that he was opposed to the Constitution—it is false. The record speaks in trumpet tongues in refutation of that miserable canard. His position is plain as a pikestaff in his letters during the convention to Washington and Madison. He had no objections to those provisions that make for a strong government, but he did demand the incorporation of the Magna Charta of personal liberty for the protection of the most humble citizen against the abuse of power. He made that demand, he led that fight and he won the victory which gives to the people a buckler and a shield against the prejudices of passion and the tyranny of power, and he then pronounced the Constitution 'unquestionably the wisest document ever presented to the consideration of man.' That charge is false.

Jefferson and Religion.

"They say he was an enemy of the Christian religion, and that is false. That is the revenge of the clergy because of his incomparable service in separating the church and state and writing religious liberty into the statutes of Virginia. From that hour on he was hated by the political preachers of his time. They said that he had said that a dilapidated church was good enough for the Christ who was born in a stable, and pious old women believed it. They said he was an atheist because he questioned whether Jonah was swallowed by the whale and whether the shells on the mountain tops were proof of the universal flood. Because he said that the tillers of the soil are God's chosen children a fashionable minister in New York denounced him as an impious babbler.

"Even in those days there were men who believed that God's chosen children are only the protected manufacturers and the manipulators of the stock market.

"And so persistent was this propaganda of falsehood on the part of ministers besmearing their cloth, that when he was elected, good old women in Connecticut actually hid their Bibles to prevent their confiscation and destruction by the anti-Christ of the White House. When these Bibles were reposing peacefully in the hay, Jefferson, in the White House, was devoting his evenings to the codification of the morals of Jesus. Yes, and when Timothy Pickering, as mild a mannered man as ever scuttled ship or cut a throat, was piously and hypocritically expressing the hope that for the sake of the young Jefferson would declare his faith, the man of Monticello was reading his Bible every day.

"The crime of Jefferson was the crime of Americanism—which insists that men may worship God according to the dictates of their conscience and not under the dictation of the state. He separated the church and state—that was his infidelity. He wrote religious liberty into law—and that was his blasphemy. That charge is false.

Jefferson and Democracy.

"Oh, but they say he got his ideas of democracy from the bloody Jacobins of the French Revolution, and that is maliciously false. Jefferson was born with democracy in his blood. It flowed in a good red stream through the veins of his father. He absorbed it as a boy on the fringe of the forest where he mingled in the woods with pioneers in coonskin caps and buckskin breeches. Even as a boy he was unable to read the novels of Scott because of his abhorence of feudalism. As a student of law he preferred Coke to Blackstone because the latter smacked of Tory aristocracy. He fed his youthful democracy on Locke and Milton, and when he sat down in the home of a Philadelphia bricklayer to write the Declaration of Independence he made it a beacon light of liberty and democracy for all the sons of men of every age and clime. Yes, he made it so much a document of liberty that we don't dare permit it to be read in the schools of the Philippines today.

"And then, having written the Declaration, he hastened back to Virginia to lead in the most radical democratic revolution in American history. He found there the nucleus of an aristocracy in the land resting on the laws of primogeniture and entail, and he declared that these sustaining pillars of feudalism should go. They fought him, they implored him, they cajoled him, but they could not shake him, and they did not stop him; and when he was through those barriers of caste and privilege had been swept away and the path made clear for the onward march of the democratic masses.

"No, Jefferson did not learn his democracy from Europe, but Europe has been learning of democracy from Jefferson for more than a hundred years.

His Political Philosophy.

"Thus he stood primarily for liberty, and because he stood for liberty he stood for democracy, and because he stood for democracy he stood for the sovereignty of the states and local self-government everywhere. He did not intend, if he could prevent it, that any satrap or his satellites in some remote capital should interefere with the traditional American principle of local self-government. He laid it down as an axiom of liberty that that government is best which governs least—and that is sound Jeffersonian democracy today.

"He believed that governments are made for men and not men for governments; and he did not believe that governments are created to give some men the right to pick the pockets of the masses under the cover of the flag. He respected the rights of property, but above the rights of property he placed the rights of men—and that is sound Jeffersonian democracy today. He was opposed to granting special privileges to the powerful because he knew that the stability of society and the ultimate protection of property itself depends upon those adjustments in the governmental machinery that make for the happiness and prosperity of the masses of the people governed.

"Jeffersonian Democracy — it means personal liberty and equal rights; it means local self-government and the sovereignty of the States; it means no Federal agent's hand in your pocket and no Federal snooper's spy glass at your window; it means less supervision for the citizen; fewer parasites upon the payroll, lower taxes, more equal laws, less paradise for the plutocracy and more opportunity and happiness for the average man.

Hamilton and Americanism.

"Now as against the Jeffersonian theory of government there is another theory just as elemental and eternal which is personified by Alexander Hamilton, with whom Jefferson crossed swords. I have no thought of attempting to belittle that colossal genius—but he never gave expression to an idea that is distinctively American. He got his idea of managing Congress from Walpole. He got his idea of concentrating power in the executive from Richelieu. He borrowed his repressive policies from Pitt. He was wholly out of sympathy with the spirit of the American democracy, but he was a genius of the first order and he played an important and essential part in the balancing processes of the formative days of the republic. When he wrote the Federalist he richly earned his immortality; when in 1800 his own party sought to thwart the will of the people in the defeat of Jefferson, and, despite his hatred of Jefferson, he plunged impassionately against that foul conspiracy, he rose to heights of patriotism seldom attained by men.

Hamilton and the Constitution.

"But the literary conspiracy to belittle Jefferson and exalt Hamilton, political in its motive, must be met with the battle ax and the artillery of the truth. And the truth is that Hamilton was opposed to a republic, and in the constitutional convention delivered an elaborate argument on the advantages of monarchy. Bowing to necessity, he then proposed as his own plan one he frankly declared was intended to approach as nearly to monarchy as public opinion would permit. Thus his President, a man of property, would be elected for life. This President would appoint Governors—for life. These Governors would have the power of absolute veto over all measures passed by the representatives of the people in the Legislatures. This would have destroyed local self-government, have reduced the states to a nullity, and have created an autocracy as powerful as the world has ever known.

"What a mockery that even to this day children in the schools are being given the impression that Hamilton, if not the author, was the champion of the governmental theories written into the fundamental law! His most brilliant English biographer and apologist is right when he says that what Hamilton really sought was the British Constitution, not as it existed, but as George III sought to make it, and was prevented by the protest of the liberty-loving Englishmen of his day. James M. Beck is right when he says that Hamilton's President would have been not dissimilar to Louis XIV and could have said with him, "I am the state." In the convention he declared that "states as states should be abolished." After the adoption of the Constitution he declared that the primary purpose in administration should be to secure for the Federal Government a "greater consistency than the Constitution seems to promise." And, as the leader of his party, he proposed a plan for reducing the states to a hopeless subordination by breaking the larger states into small districts to be dominated by Federal courts and Marshals.

"He played a minor part in the convention; he was opposed to the principles of the Constitution, and to the last days of his life, when he was writing Morris that the Constitution was "a frail and worthless fabric," he had never accepted it as anything other than a makeshift against the day when some crisis in events would make it possible for the Federal Government to seize on power, sustain its usurpation by the force of arms and strike down the sovereign rights of states.

Hamilton's Politics.

"More: If democracy is American, then Hamilton, who hated democracy, was not. He cared nothing for the ordinary man. With him liberty was a privilege and not a right. He believed in a government of aristocracy, with men of property, using the instrumentalities of Government to enrich themselves at the expense of the inarticulate masses of the people. Before the creation of the republic he wrote to Robert Morris of his plan for binding the wealthy to the Government by making government a source of revenue to the wealth. He preached privilege and wrote it into law. Give the rich and powerful what they want, make them the predominant partners of government, put the masses, whom he called "the mob" in their places and keep them there, if need be, by the force of arms. He was the Mussilini of his day and he preached the Fascism of his times.

"To him the bank and counting room offered the only public opinion worth regard. The artisan in the factory and the tiller of the soil were but as clods of the field; and in his report on manufactures, urging privileges for the industrialists, the only thing he offered to the farmers was the doubtful privilege of putting their wives and children to work in the mills.

The Two Principles.

"Now let us bring these leaders of the two fundamental theories into a close comparison. Hamilton preferred a monarchy to a republic; Jefferson was the champion of republics. Hamilton preferred an aristocratic to a democratic republic. Jefferson knew that government by aristocracy meant ultimately by plutocracy, and he took his stand for a democracy. Hamilton believed that governments are created to be the masters of men; Jefferson that they are created to be the instruments of men in working out a happier destiny for the race. Hamilton wrote to Morris that a government is strong in proportion as it is made profitable to the powerful; and Jefferson believed that government built upon the sands which does not rest on the affection and confidence of the masses of mankind.

"Hamilton boldly advocated privilege, and Jefferson stood for equal rights to all and special privilege to none.

"Hamilton would have injected governmental activities into all the affairs of men, and Jefferson thought that government best which governs least.

"Hamilton would have wiped out the boundaries of states, and Jefferson stood four square for their sovereign rights.

"Hamilton would have shackled the freedom of the press and limited the liberty of speech and Jefferson thought that government that cannot stand the criticism of its own people unfit to live.

"Thus these two men were more than men—they were elemental principles moving in the flesh. They personified a conflict that has gone on through the ages.

"They were engaged in a fight that has been waged from the dawn of time and which will go on, with varying fortunes, as long as some men seek to use government as a stirrup with which to mount and ride on the backs of their fellow men.

"And these differences are so elemental and every man and woman in America today who is not a communist is either a Hamiltonian or a Jeffersonian.

The Jeffersonian Age.

"In the generation of the revolution the Hamiltonian principles of centralization and privilege went down before the rush of the masses, bearing Jefferson on their backs to the seat of power. Autocracy, aristocracy, centralization and privilege were driven to cover in the revolution of 1800 and for more than half a century no one had the audacity to even propose the reversal of the verdict.

"Yes, for more than 50 years no political party or politician would have dared declare adherence to the philosophy of Hamilton or the ideas of centralization and privilege that the Federalists had sought to make the policy of the nation.

"Today the land is sprinkled with Hamilton clubs—for more than 50 years no political party would have dared sponsor a Hamilton club as a challenge to the verdict of half a century before.

Hamilton's Crisis.

"And then, with the Civil War came the crisis tha Hamilton had foreseen. Under the smoke screen of the field of battle the advocates of the Hamilton theory of centralization and privilege mobilized and marched. But it was not until Lincoln had fallen before the bullet of the assassin that they began to write the reversal of the verdict of 1800 into the laws of Congress and the records of administrations.

"It was done under the smoke screen of the war, and the second battle between Hamilton and Jefferson was fought and, by the latter, lost on false issues and through poison gas. Federal troops marched into the subjugated states to reduce local self-government and state sovereignty to a mockery, and to protect the exploiters and carpet-baggers at the point of the bayonet. State rights? They called that copperheadism and intimidated weak-kneed Democrats into silence. Local self-government? That had become the language of treason. And all over the North men seeking to convert the agencies of Government to the exploitation of their fellow men diverted attention from their crimes by waiving the flag in one hand, the bloody shirt in the other, while hurling imprecations at the Jeffersonians.

Hamilton Wins.

"And it was under this barrage of hate and prejudice that the wildest dreams of the Hamiltonians came true. They manipulated the money of the people to enrich the few at the expense of the many—and the financial bloc wheeled into line. They used the taxing power through the tariff to give the industrialists the privilege of picking the pockets of the millions under the protection of the police—and the industrial bloc reported for duty. They lavished the public lands on

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The Automobile Menace.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IF a tornado should come along and wipe out every man, woman and child in, say Belleville, Ill., the entire country would be horror-stricken and if this same catastrophe should be repeated each year terror would pervade the land. Then again if each ten years we had a volcanic eruption killing every man, woman and child in a city nearly half as large as the city of St. Louis, the entire world would be astounded and the "Good old U. S. A." would not be considered such a desirable place to live in. Yet this is exactly what the automobile is doing, wiping out each year every man, woman and child in a town the size of Belleville, each ten years a city nearly half the size of St. Louis, and our authorities and our papers lay supinely down without protest.

Why should it be necessary for Bill Doe to race through the streets at 25 to 60 miles an hour to get home ten minutes earlier to raise a row with his wife because dinner is not quite ready. A few years ago the whole police force would be out after a man driving a team of horses through the streets at six miles an hour, and that man would be hailed to court, fined and lectured by the Judge, and here we are slaughtering men, women and children by the thousands and nothing is done or said. Of course, the automobile club is opposed to compulsory insurance law and all other laws restricting their free right of slaughter, but so is a burglar and a murderer opposed to all laws affecting their rights of burglary and murder.

Whisky never did one-tenth the damage to lives, property or morality that the automobile is doing, nor do I believe it has very much to do with our crime wave, but I do believe the automobile has and is in fact the very foundation of this reign of lawlessness. One thing I do know, the streets are far more pleasant without the saloon than it ever was with them. And I am not a prohibitionist—far from it. Get after something worth while, don't bother so much about the home brew and those who want a little poison, this is a trifle. Get after the real sure-enough-to-goodness menace.

Loquacity in Congress.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WONDER if the following suggestion, made many years ago, by a gentleman named Thomas Jefferson, of whom it is possible some of the members of our present Congress may have indirectly heard, would, by any chance be considered in order at the present time:

"I served with Gen. Washington in the Legislature of Virginia, before the revolution, and, during it, with Dr. Franklin in Congress. I never heard either of them speak ten minutes at a time, nor to any but the main point, which was to decide the question.

"They laid their shoulders to the great points, knowing that the little ones would follow of themselves. If the present Congress errs in too much talking, how can it be otherwise, in a body to which the people send 150 lawyers, whose trade is to question everything, yield nothing and talk by the hour. That 150 lawyers should do business together ought not to be expected."

Property Taxes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IS it not about the right time for the small property owners to organize and try and protect their interests, as something must be done sooner or later, ways now being sought to raise additional revenue. The bond issue promise was for only a small increase in property taxes. My increase was 16 per cent for 1925. The Board of Education had to have the 85-cent rate to exist. They secured it. Now what is to occur? The small owners are paying their part of the burden and will be called upon to pay more unless they protect themselves. Records indicate value of real estate will be increased over $30,000,000 for 1926 assessment. What have others to say on this proposition?

Supreme Court's Milk Decision.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Supreme Court's decision holding St. Louis' milk ordinance unconstitutional is certainly good news. It is about time a stop was put to the practice of dairies here charging 25 cents a quart for the privilege of getting milk that has not been boiled lifeless. Raw milk is much more healthy than pasteurized, just as whole wheat bread is than white bread. I cannot see why fresh raw milk should cost twice as much, when there is absolutely no extra work in preparing it, except testing it. If the packing industry set a price on meat, and were to double it after Government inspection the majority of the poorer classes would be unable to buy meat.

Also, it is civilization's only salvation from deterioration, for the populace to begin using more foods in their natural state, as some scientists recently declared.

HOW TO DO IT

One chap in Pennsylvania would stand Volstead violators up against a blank wall and shoot them at sunrise.

An army officer, in his zeal for the cause, has introduced the practice of social snitching.

The District Attorney of New York, testifying at the Washington hearing, thinks he could make that town somewhat drier if, with a lot of money and a regiment of Judges, he could junk that old-fogy custom of trial by jury.

The charming Mrs. Willebrandt, in charge of the Department of Justice prosecution forces, recommends "watchful units of women" to keep indolent officials alert. "Watchful units of women," we suppose, is a circumlocution for spying.

And somebody wants to make observance of this law "fashionable." Gen. Andrews has elaborated on that theme. Do you, fair hostess, flush distressfully and stammer excuses when, as it sometimes happens, your trusty bootlegger has failed you and the menage is bone dry? Don't do it. Instead, apologize when you serve the zestful cocktail. Confess you are a miserable sinner. Chant Mea Culpa without batting an eye. Your guest, assuming, as we may, that he is a gentleman, will understand. If a lady, she'll put you at your ease with a "Fiddlesticks, dearie. Chuck the litany!"

There is one more left in the bag. It comes with the seal and zeal of John Garibaldi Sargent.

Ostracism is our Attorney-General's remedy. People who serve liquor in their homes should be cut cold. Be firm about this. Don't compromise with dishonor. Don't sanction such infamy with your presence. Have it explicitly understood before you accept an invitation that the liquor law will not only be observed, but not a word of criticism, solemn or jocular, shall enter in the encircling gloom of your righteous presence.

There it is, then, the intellectual spread, the profound feast, the complete collation. Which jeu d'esprit will beguile you most, fond reader, we cannot guess. There is rare pungency, it seems to us, in that bloody Pennsylvania confection, a savor of the real thing, but far be it from us to impose our notion on the American people as to how prohibition may be enforced. Everybody, we contend, should be privileged to exercise his own preference as to how to enforce the nonenforceable. This is a free country, isn't it?

NO STAR CHAMBER SCHOOL BOARD.

At the Town Club's meeting Monday night to discuss Supt. Maddox's plan for administrative reorganization of the public schools, Miss Lydia Lee made this point:

> We should demand of the board that it undertake no important decision affecting the schools without first having held public hearings.

We think that is a fair, reasonable demand.

The members of the School Board realize, of course, that the people of St. Louis are vitally interested in the public schools. The people have just given striking evidence of that interest by a 10-to-1 vote for retaining the 85-cent tax. That was a vote of confidence in the School Board which might well beget a like confidence on the part of the board in the public.

Everybody is aware that certain items of business must be transacted circumspectly. But when administrative questions are under consideration that involve a radical departure from established practices, we believe the public should be advised of them before a decision is reached. This, it seems to us, is the sound policy to pursue in fairness to the public, in fairness to the teachers and in fairness to the pupils.

When the board and the Superintendent have formulated some new plan they should have no fear of public discussion provided the plan is sound. Public discussion will serve to demonstrate the soundness of any sound departure, and such discussion will launch the plan under auspices of understanding and good will.

There should be no star-chamber odor in the School Board.

OUR "HOPELESS" MERCHANT MARINE.

It is a stout truism that "If you want to know why your business is failing, ask a successful competitor."

Wherefore, the testimony of Sir Frederick Lewis, who headed the British Chamber of Shipping during the war, and now is president of 34 British shipping and insurance companies, would seem convincing. Sir Frederick was asked the other day to tell what is wrong with the American merchant marine.

"Your vessels have full cargoes leaving the United States, but they come back empty," said Sir Frederick. "Your Pacific lines, for instance, carry wheat, steel rails and lumber to China and Japan—in other words, bulk cargoes. But when your ships come back they are lucky to get a little silk, tea, a few tons of straw braid and some eggs—all small stuff which doesn't fill a ship."

The gist of the trouble, argued this British shipping authority, is that the United States sells more than we buy. Our merchant fleets sail across too much "dead mileage" with empty holds. We have not the almost perfect balance between imports and exports which England maintains because of its insular position. Sir Frederick concluded his interview in a lugubrious mood, remarking that our task on the seas is "hopeless."

In view of the Shipping Board scandals, insinuations that mismanagement and lack of seamanship have hurt our merchant marine, and general public vagueness as to what ails the commercial navy flying our flag, it is well to emphasize economic factors. As Sir Frederick, one of our ablest competitors sees us, we are fine sailors and keen business men, but are bucking against a hopeless situation.

American shipping men are not quite as despairful as Sir Frederick about our future on the oceans. They are fighting bravely in a crowded shipping market against such handicaps as outlined above, and the public, realizing the long odds against them, should be wary of listening to political demagogues on the subject, "What is wrong with our merchant marine."

AN EVIL AND COWARDLY PRECEDENT.

Although six years have passed since the last Federal census, the House of Representatives has steadfastly refused to take steps toward the reapportionment of its membership. This is in defiance of the Constitution of the United States, Article I of which provides that the number of Representatives be apportioned in accordance with population, "within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of 10 years, in such manner as they shall by law direct."

There is no indication that the House intends to heed this obligation, and it is even suggested that the membership be allowed to remain static after the 1930 census. The House Committee on the Census, whose duty it is to report in suitable recommendations, has laid aside by a vote of 13 to 4 all measures looking toward a compliance with the constitutional provision, while the House as a whole has refused to entertain a motion that the matter be taken out of the committee's hands.

The political lineup is as follows: Of the members of the House Committee on the Census, six represent states which would lose membership by a reapportionment. The states which would lose and the states which would gain nothing by the measure control the situation over states which would gain Representatives. It is a victory of selfishness which involves a high-handed attitude toward the fundamental law of the land.

The great bulk of the House, with its 435 members, makes any increase inadvisable, and sooner or later reapportionment will have to be made on a different basis than it has in the past. The House dreads to face this issue. Heretofore, reapportionment has meant more Representatives. Hereafter, Representatives must be required to represent more persons. But to maintain conditions as they are now, as the Baltimore Evening Sun points out, is to revert to the rotten borough system. The present House is setting an evil and a cowardly precedent.

EXCHANGE OF FLORA AND FAUNA.

The news that the Japanese and Pennsylvania Government foresters have begun exchanging tree seeds, coupled with the news that one of our wealthy bird fanciers has imported a number of English nightingales, suggests that the lovers of nature and promoters of forestry here and abroad will do their several countries a most valuable service by promoting this exchange of trees, plants, birds and animals, useful or ornamental.

Japan is poor in land flora, because of its insular conformation and restricted area. The United States has many trees, plants and other natural productions that might enrich Nipon. The Land of the Rising Sun has already given us the graceful Gingko, or Maiden Hair tree, an ornament to our parks and gardens. Japan can give us her valuable camphor tree, lacquer tree, wax tree and perhaps others that might flourish in our Southern states and California.

The idea has interesting possibilities. Our Eastern chestnuts and other trees have been badly damaged by blights and insects. Japan has similar trees that might be more immune. And there is the wide world to select from, as we have practically every climate in which to experiment.

THE SUCETTE CONTROVERSY.

It was a low hour, a very low hour, in the history of France, and the Chamber of Deputies, worried over the budget, the fall of the franc, the Geneva impasse, Mussolini's imperialism and Suzanne Lenglen's love affair, had lost heart. Then up spake M. le Docteur Adolphe Pinard, Professeur a la Faculte de Medecine, Membre de l' Academie de Medicine, Officier de la Legion de la d'Honneur, Dean of the Chamber, in a thunderous voice:

"For two years—two years!—I have striven for the opportunity which is now mine. During that time and for years previously many of the infants of France have teethed upon a vile form of rubber nipple attached to a ring. In short, upon a sucette. How many of them have thus conveyed germs into their little mouths? How many have contracted adenoids through straining at the sucette? I do not know, my friends! . . . But, after two years' silence I place before this Chamber a bill forbidding the manufacture of the sucette."

The effect of this speech was monstrous. A Deputy of the Left sprang to his feet and denounced M. Pinard's dastardly attempt to deprive the babies of France of their consolateurs. He said that, deprived of sucettes, French infants would suck their thumbs. For two hours the debate raged furiously, but champions of the sucette fought a losing battle. The final vote was 370 to 153, forever banishing the sucette from France.

At the White House it was said no statement would be forthcoming as to the administration's position in the sucette controversy. In unofficial American circles, however, it is felt that the use of rubber pacifiers (sucettes), while unhygienic, has a quieting effect on children, leading to contemplative moods, and that a great many European statesmen could take up the habit with benefit to themselves and to the world.

BLURB ABOUT YE POLICE CIRCUS.

The policemen's benefit circus
  Is a howling wow this year;
The clowns are funnier than ever and
  There's lots of joy and cheer.
An educated seal performs
  A most uncanny trick;
One wonders at such aptitude,
  But have you seen our Vic?

The trapeze acts are marvelous,
  Our mouth is open wide
When some Greek god with steady nerves
  Essays a cranial slide.
We watch him shoot down from the roof,
  Our heart is beating quick;
He safely lands and all applaud—
  But have you seen our Vic?

The lions and tigers do their stuff,
  With many a snarl and roar;
The act's replete with kicks and thrills,
  The audience claps for more.
It's grand to see the trainer prod
  The fierce brutes with his stick,
Until they do just as he wills—
  But have you seen our Vic?

A booming band blares forth the tunes
  With vigor, pep and bingo;
And truly is the baboon's spats,
  To use the slangster's lingo.
The deafening din and clang it makes
  Is enough to raise old Nick;
We'll say the leader knows his prunes,
  But have you seen our Vic?

It has often been wondered if there ever was an army officer who could have got Custer's men out of the scrape at the Little Big Horn. We think Maj. Ross Rowell, who testified yesterday in the court-martial of Col. Alexander S. Williams at San Diego, could have done it. You may recall that Col. Williams some time ago gave a dinner party in honor of Brigadier-General Smedley D. Butler, who astonished the country by having his host arrested after the dinner for serving intoxicating liquors. The Judge-Advocate tried to make Maj. Rowell say that Col. Williams was intoxicated, but the Major wormed out of it.

Col. Williams tripped over a woman's shawl, the witness explained, and left the hotel unsteadily, assisted by Mrs. Williams and Capt. Gates.

"It is your opinion, then, that he was intoxicated?"

"No, not at all," the Major said. "I merely casually took it for granted at the time that he was intoxicated; I formed no definite opinion.

The comedy at Washington will have to step on the gas if it beats that.

Sir: Your Vinita Park and Valley Park correspondents who are at present engaged in an amicable discussion of the relative merits and value of frogs inhabiting their respective localities will perhaps be interested, from a purely scientific angle, in a very peculiar species of frog which is said to inhabit the Swashin Valley, particularly the headwaters of this stream in the vicinity of Bird's Bluff, south of De Soto.

This frog—if a frog you may call it—appears during the dark of the moon, is very limited in numbers, and has been actually seen by but one of the oldest inhabitants of the Valley.

Its cry is not at all similar to that of the mill-run frog, being more of a hissing scream, for all the world like a small projectile passing through the air or the sound of a young hurricane tearing its way through the tree-tops.

In appearance this reptile is at least a close second to a small dinosaur; combining the contour of that extinct monster with a striking resemblance to an alligator, but possessing a pair of legs so powerful that it finds no difficulty at all in propelling its six-foot body through the air in gigantic 40-foot leaps.

During my early boyhood in De Soto I was quite friendly with a one-legged ancient, of African extraction, who swore upon all that was holy that his limb had been amputated at a single bite by one of these monsters. As I recall the story, the negro had gone to Bird's Bluff in the dark of the moon for the purpose of gathering a few herbs upon the creek bank, a common practice of that period. Forced to work without a light—as the effect produced by the herbs when made up into medicine depended largely upon the method of their gathering—he had stumbled upon the frog just as it was emerging from one of the many caves that honeycomb the cliffs at that point, heard, too late, the hissing scream, saw the outline of the reptile by a phosphorous light which it emanated, and found himself running wildly back in the direction of town. His excitement was so great that he did not discover the loss of his leg until, passing a street lamp at the edge of the city, he saw that he was running upon but one foot.

I do not vouch for the authenticity of this tale, but I know it to be a fact that, when I knew him, even the slightest chirp of a tree toad would throw this old darky into a panic of fear. AMES A. CASTLE.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

CAPT. JAMES NORMAN HALL, in the Atlantic Monthly for April.

IN order to play at anarchy with any success, two conditions are essential; one must follow an art or profession or trade which provides the necessities of life; and it must be of such a kind that it may be practised, for the most part, in solitude. I have such a trade. It is journalism. "A journalist in solitude? How can that be?" you say. "The words are antipathetic." I once thought they were, too, but I have found, in these days of specialization, that there may be all kinds of journalists just as there are all kinds of doctors, dentists, carpenters, clergymen. * * * Here, many a time, secure from interruption, I have read for a solid week—mornings, afternoons, evenings, and until far into the night, living in books more intensely than I have ever lived in the world of reality. * * * One of the books was Conrad's "Lord Jim." I know it almost by heart, but my enjoyment was as keen at this fifth reading—or was it the sixth?—as it would be were I to hear Beethoven's C-Minor Symphony for the twentieth time. * * * Reading it under these circumstances was an approach to what is commonly called a religious experience. It seemed to me that I had had a glimpse of something divine. When it faded, swiftly, as such glimpses do, I went over the chapter again, and, although the fine moment could not be repeated, I had a journalist's delight in seeing with what complete mastery Conrad had worked here, how every word held its place by inevitable right, and how the chapter as a whole fitted into the story with that perfection which even the greatest artists do not achieve more than once or twice in a lifetime. * * * It is for pleasure so keen as this, among other things—for profit so worth while—that I live on this jog-trot island in the mid-Pacific.

UP TO CONGRESS.

From the Baltimore Sun.

THE Eighteenth Amendment is imbedded in the Constitution and there seems no likelihood of getting it out. There seems as little likelihood that the present open defiance of the law will decrease. It is this condition which is lending support to the movement, now rapidly growing, which would urge Congress to go as far as it can go in permitting the states to determine, within the constitutional inhibition, what percentage of alcohol violates the Federal law. If this seems a lame and impotent attempt to solve the perplexing problem—at best, if successful, it would legalize sale of wine and beer with but small alcoholic content—the answer is that the need of some remedy for the present intolerable situation is so great that any step which promises to lessen some of the restrictions which have made the Volstead law so obnoxious is worth trying.

THE OLD, OLD DAYS.

From the Ohio State Journal.

WE are not so much worried as some of our fellow reformers seem to be by the thought of what would happen if 2.75 per cent beer, or even 4 per cent for that matter, should be legalized in this automobile age, and our memory goes back to the combination of the open saloon and the high-wheeled bicycle, and a good many of us are still here.

San Carlo Troupers Offer Enjoyable Performance of Wagner's "Lohengrin."

THE CAST.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

DESPITE exasperating deficiencies of orchestra and chorus, the performance of Richard Wagner's "Lohengrin," given last night at the Odeon by the San Carlo Opera Company, was of service to the city, since German music-drama is virtually a stranger in St. Louis. After "La Traviata" and "La Gioconda," there was the keenest pleasure in hearing four acts of music without a shoddy or slattern measure, and soaring frequently on the pinions of genius.

Fortunately the score could not be translated, but Wagner's text, with one exception, was rendered in Italian. A moment after Miss Saroya appeared on the stage, one's hearing was startled at discovering that she was singing the role of Elsa in English. She explained that she learned it first in German, and then in English for performances at Ravinia. She intended to acquire the Italian version, but received so many letters of congratulation, she said, that she decided to keep the English translation. In fact, though her diction was not the clearest, the role leapt out from the others like a close-up on the screen.

Sketches of Lofty Episodes.

Competent if not masterly singing and acting by the principals resulted in an enjoyable experience for the big audience. As in a glass darkly there shone the splendors of the great Vorspiel and the titanic prelude to Act III; Elsa's dream aria, Lohengrin's narrative, and other famous passages.

Wagner is said to have remarked that his "Lohengrin" should be sung by Italians. This early work retained the Italian method of recitative interspersed with solos, duets and choruses; but in quality it unmistakably foreshadowed "Tristan" and "Die Meistersinger."

Instead of the conventional song-speech, what vitality and significance vibrate in Wagner's recitative! With what power and individuality did he conceive his melodic ideas! And what brilliant invention transfigures his orchestral writing!

Influence of Beethoven.

Wagner never composed a "Traviata." Why did he escape that childish stage of evolution? Because, unlike Verdi, he had in Germany a background of music which had attained adulthood, gravity, self-respect. This it had achieved in the symphonies of Beethoven, providentially exempt from the blight of the actor's vainglory, the prima donna's egotism.

Tonight the company will undertake "Carmen," with Lorna Doone Jackson in the role of the gypsy heroine. It is announced that instead of "La Forza del Destino," the troupe tomorrow evening will present "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I' Pagliacci."

Sundelius Sings in Four Languages During Webster Groves Recital.

THE Young Musicians' Club last night, as the third concert in its course for this season presented a song recital by Marie Sundelius, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company. The audience comfortably filled the Webster Groves Armory.

Purity of tone and simplicity of manner marked the 19 selections rendered by Mme. Sundelius. Occasional high notes, and high-pitched passages, were sent through the Armory rafters in thrilling fashion. But there was no striving for dramatic effect, in the absence of dramatic settings. The singer's hands, clasped before her, were opened and used in demonstrative fashion in only two or three numbers.

Beginning with old English ballads, the program took a more ambitious turn with the air from "Amleto," with two Strauss selections, and an aria from Charpentier's "Louise." The longest group of songs contained two oddities, Debussy's "Fantoches" and Grieg's "Wild Geese." Then, having sung in English, German and French, the singer gave three Swedish selections. One was about a maid's conversation with a tree; another was about the fiddler who traded his cow for a fiddle: and the third was the "Call in the Woods," a prettily rendered bit of hallooing.

"Fairy Pipers," by Brewer, in the final group, was an exceptionally delicate piece of vocal artistry. It was followed by another nature song, "The Cat Bird," with "Will o' the Wisp" added as an encore number.

Mrs. David Kriegshaber, at the piano gave admirable service as accompanist.

Ernest F. Wiederholdt, president of the Wiederholdt Construction Co., Bank of Commerce Building, died of cerebral hemorrhage at 5 p. m. yesterday at his home in Overland, St. Louis County, after an illness of one day.

Mr. Wiederholdt perfected a type of chimney which, in spite of its great height, is sufficiently light to enable the roof upon which it is built to serve as the base of construction. The chimneys on the Cahokia Power Plant of the Union Electric Co. are an example of his work.

Mr. Wiederholdt was born 47 years ago in St. Louis. He graduated from Washington University in 1901 with a degree of engineering. He was a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Midland Valley Country Club and the Missouri Athletic Association.

Funeral services will be held from the home tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The body will then be cremated at Valhalla Crematory.

Give these costly things the same protection you give fine fabrics—keep them looking always radiantly new—make them serve you longer! For just 4¢ more than you pay for ordinary laundry soap you can wash everything in rich, sudsy Lux—save dollars in wash-day wear and tear!

And how your hands welcome Lux in the laundry! Pure, gentle Lux treats your hands so kindly they don't mind Monday. For your protection Lux is sold only in the familiar blue packages plainly marked LUX. Two sizes—enough in the big new one for two average washings.

the railroads—and thus privilege bought another mercenary corps and paid for it out of the pockets of the people.

"And then these mercenaries poled their interests with the party that was prepared on the principles of Hamilton to license them to use the Government for their own advantage in return for campaign contributions and political power.

"Thus when at length the Federal troops marched out of the subjugated states and their footsteps died away faintly in the distance there could still be heard the clatter of horses hoofs—it was the Black Horse Cavalry of Privilege and Centralization riding on its raids with the spirit of Federalism riding on ahead.

"Privilege had been enthroned.

"State rights were crushed.

"Jefferson was defeated.

Confusion on Fundamentals.

"Now do I mean that the people have actually reversed their verdict of more than a century ago? I submit that a referendum to the people on the fundamentals without any reference to party would show four-fifths of the people as soundly Jeffersonian today as they were when they won the battle for liberty and democracy a hundred years ago.

"To me the greatest tragedy of the Civil War is the fact that from that hour dates the confusion of the people on the fundamentals.

"Abraham Lincoln was a Jeffersonian. Had he lived in the days when Hamilton and Jefferson crossed swords he would have been found, not with the Hamiltonians in Mrs. Bingham's drawing room, but with the Jeffersonians at the crossroads store. He subscribed with all his heart to the elementals of Jeffersonian democracy. The only two men, say his biographers, for whom he was ever heard to express a feeling of reverence were Jefferson and Washington. Thus, when it became the fashion to sneer at the Declaration of Independence, he voiced his protest in his oration on Clay against the tendency to "assail and ridicule the white man's charter of freedom written by Jefferson." And that is what he meant as late as 1860 when in response to an invitation to address the Jefferson Club of Boston he declared that "the principles of Jefferson are the definitions and axioms of a free society."

"Abraham Lincoln was a Jeffersonian Democrat.

"Think of the hopeless confusion of the public mind on the fundamentals when one party can claim the joint parenthood of Lincoln and Hamilton. Why, you can't believe with Lincoln in democracy and with Hamilton against it. You can't believe with Lincoln that God loved the common people or he would not have made so many of them, and with Hamilton that the people are "a great beast." You can't believe with Lincoln that the principles of Jefferson are the "definitions and axioms of a free society" and with Hamilton that they are the definitions of anarchy. You can't believe with Lincoln in a government of the people, by the people and for the people, and with Hamilton in a government of the aristocracy and the fat purses.

"There are Lincoln Republicans and there are Hamilton Republicans, but never the twain shall meet until some way is found to ride two horses going in opposite directions at the same time. The Lincoln Republicans belong where Lincoln stood—under the banner of Thomas Jefferson. And the Lincoln Republicans will stand where Lincoln stood when the party of Jefferson takes its stand four-square on the elementals and eternal principles of Jeffersonian democracy.

Call to Jeffersonian Principles.

"Yes, and the conditions in the country call imperatively to the spirit of the democracy that followed Jefferson in his fights. We see the Federal Government insidiously and persistently usurping the rights of the states until state sovereignty has been reduced to the shadow of a skeleton.

"We see local self-government denied where it was never intended by fundamental law.

"We see the land overrun with sneaks and spies prying into the private business and the personal habits of the citizen, and taxes mounting dizzily to pay the pensions of these political parasites.

"We see privilege enthroned and equal rights anathematized.

"We have seen a tariff of abominations written at the dictation of beneficiaries filching billions of dollars from the millions under the pretense of maintaining the American standard of living for the workers; and we have seen these workers protesting against the reduction of their wages to a starvation basis in the highly protected silk mills of New Jersey, beat on the heads of Cossacks riding them down in the streets of Passaic.

"We have seen the nation's oil reserves bartered away for a song—and a bribe; we have seen reeking corruption or moron stupidity in the Department of Justice; and we have seen the administration squandering the people's money in an attempt to ruin the public servant who had the decency and the patriotism to interfere with the miserable game of 'addition, division and subtraction.'

"We have seen the evidence on which the Federal Trade Commission based its charge of crime against the Aluminum Co. of America ordered under cover by some high functionary of the state; and we have seen an Attorney-General ordering a white-wash of that company three weeks before the completion of his department's investigation, and hurrying it to the press at the dead hour of midnight when 'churchyards yawn and hell itself breathes forth contagion on the world.'

"We have seen enough in the last six years to persuade the most confirmed optimist that it would require a million years of intensive reformation to raise some of our public servants to the level of —total depravity.

"We have seen the farmers reduced to a state of literal bankruptcy through a system of taxation which makes them pay billions of dollars to increase the profits of industrialists and gives them nothing in return.

"The Hoosier philosopher needs no diagram for his joke: 'Till Moots went to Indianapolis Thursday and bought a pair of new boots with the money he had left over from the Wilson administration.'

Hamilton Wins.

"And so the dream of Hamilton has come true. He wanted organized wealth in possession of the government—and we have it. He wanted the States deprived of their sovereign rights—and we have it. He wanted Federal agents swarming over the land like the locusts of Egypt and squirming through the keyholes on the privacy of citizens—and we have it. He wanted pricilege given to a class for their personal profit—and we have it. He had no other thought than of industrialists riding with the arrogance of feudal lords over the fields of the farmers—and we have it.

"He would deify dollars and minimize men, limit self-government and centralize power, cripple democracy, enthrone autocracy, welcome plutocracy, and we'll soon have that, too.

"Permit the present trend to go on a little longer and everything that was considered sacred by the generation of the Revolution and which was long stubbornly maintained as essentially American will be lost beyond redemption.

"The fight that was made more than a century ago must be fought anew. The issues are precisely the same as when the father of democracy lead the fight.

Call the Roll.

"You can't change a thing by changing its name, and the things that confront us now are precisely the same faced by the founder of the party. These things go to the determination of the form of government. They involve the principle of equality before the law. They embrace personal liberty and home rule. They include economy and taxation. They take in the rights of states. There is not a single issue on which Jefferson and Hamilton crossed swords that has not been forced to the fore by the Republican administrations of the last six years; and the fight we are called upon to make is for the preservation of those principles of liberty and equality without which no people can be really prosperous and happy and no government beneficent or strong.

"Let the note sound clear and strong—back to the fundamentals on which the father of the American Democracy won his momentous victory for liberty and equal rights. These fundamentals are inherent in the American people. They have directed our destiny from the early days of the colonies when men in coonskin caps and buckskin breeches knew their rights and had the manhood to maintain them. Let the word go forth that we fight once more for the fundamentals and the response of the people will be as hearty as when, crashing through the barricades of centralization and privilege they bore the red-headed philosopher of Monticello on their backs to the seat of power.

"The spirit of Jefferson can lead us still, for the spirit of liberty, like the words of the holy man, do not perish with the prophet but survive him." Let the word go forth and the Lincoln Republicans will come back home after their long meanderings in the waste. Yes, and if there be Hamiltonians among us, let them depart in peace. The nonessentials must be dropped. The spirit of discord must be stilled. There must be a rebranding of the colts on the basis of the fundamentals, and then, once more, strong as the American passion for local self-government, strong as the love of personal liberty, strong as the hatred of usurpation and privilege, the party into which Jefferson breathed the breath of life will live to resume its sway over an essentially and soundly democratic people.

"Now has come the time for action—
Clear away the clouds of faction—
Out from Vascillating shame.
Every man no lie contain.
Let him answer to his name.

DEMOTION PLAN ORIGINATED BY HIS PREDECESSORS, SAYS SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Board Defers Action for 30 Days at Request of League of Women Voters and Other Organizations.

The plan of Supt. Maddox for the administrative reorganization of the public schools, which has been referred to as the most radical change in the system in recent years, merely is the expansion of a principle set up as long ago as 1907 by Soldan and later further developed by Blewett.

Supt. Maddox so characterized it last night in his first public comment made to reporters at the close of a meeting of the Board of Education, at which adoption of the plan was delayed 30 days. The majority of the board had made known their intention to pass the plan last night.

Several events changed this purpose. The League of Women Voters and the Wednesday and College Clubs asked the board to defer action to permit further public understanding of what was proposed. John C. Tobin, chairman of the Instruction Committee, recalled to his fellow committee members a promise that the plan would be called up for action at this time. Similarly they recalled to Tobin an understanding that no discussion would be had, if a vote was not to be taken.

Action Not Discussed.

This resulted in disappointment to an audience of about 200 who had gathered for information upon the plan. Supt. Maddox was prepared to present his plan, but was not called upon.

As has been told, the plan creates five new administrative divisions and reduces in rank three of six assistant superintendents.

"These divisions are identical in theory with a division still existing which was set up in 1907 by Supt. Soldan," Maddox said.

"It is the division of attendance, having complete charge of truancy, excuse from compulsory schooling under work permits and all other questions affecting child attendance.

The theory was that it provided school principals a place to which they could carry directly all questions affecting attendance. This is the identical theory I am pursuing in recommending my new divisionsto the end that both principals and superintendent will have an arm of administration to which they can carry all question affecting every phase of school work.

Many Students Helped.

"In 1909, Blewett recognized the merit of the Soldan plan and established the division of hygiene and in 1913 created the third division, that of tests and measurements by which the achievements of any branch of the schools or any particular school can be accurately guaged.

"In 1924 I established the fourth division—that of vocational counseling which sets up advisors in high schools to who pupils can apply for advice as to what subjects they can most profitably pursue. These advisors this year have persuaded as many as 200 students who had intended to abandon schooling to remain. They continuously help pupils leaving schools to find employment.

"My present plan merely is the further expansion of this machinery. First I propose to establish a division of records and statistics which will gather in the reports of principals and tabulate them.

Purpose of Plan.

"These tabulations will provide for the superintendent an accurate record touching school attendance, regularity of attendance, progress of grades, including failures, costs of various instruction per pupil and hence a comparison of these costs among schools.

"The second is a division of school and community relations. The outstanding purpose of this division is that it will provide for the public a source of information on school matters. It is my hope that no citizen can present any question to this division without answer. It will be a bureau of complaints from parents and the public. It will be the clearing house of suggestions from the public.

"It will handle all suspensions of pupils and will determine whether transfers of pupils from one school to another are to be allowed. I intend to instruct the director of this division to seek contact with civic organizations to the end that the schools may profit from outside ideas.

"The third division is housing and fixed equipment. This division will maintain an incessant study of population trends and through that study determine where it is necessary to provide new school buildings.

New Ideas for Schools.

"In that connection, the director will be instructed to establish understanding with the city plan commission. He will be the arbiter of boundary lines affecting school districts. It will be his duty also to acquaint himself with new ideas for school equipment, such as manual training shops. I shall expect him to have ready upon call the most recent innovations adopted in other cities.

Examination of Books.

"The division of curriculum, books and supplies will have for its chief function keeping the courses of study in the schools up to the minute. The director will 'head up' hundreds of committees of teachers who will keep constantly alert to changes in instruction in the subjects with which they are familiar.

"Henceforth our course of study will be ever shifting, breasting modern ideas as tried out and practiced elsewhere or which are born in the committee themselves. At this time we have hundreds of new textbooks which have never been examined. It will be the duty of this division to review all textbooks upon publication and prepare for the superintendent a report on their merit.

"The division of personnel will be entrusted with the investigation of qualifications of applicants for teaching positions and we receive and file from one to twelve applications every day. Every problem of maladjustment in the established teaching corps will go to this division for investigation and recommendation. It will be entrusted with such adjustments, as it can pacifically make, but final decision is reserved for the superintendent.

Source of Information.

"These new divisions will constitute a storehouse of accurate information for the superintendent, which will provide an enlightened basis of decision for any problem that may arise.

"I propose to treat the assistant superintendents in the future chiefly as a board to sit upon whatever problems arise out of this group of nine administrative divisions. They will make their recommendations to the superintendent unless the problem is one which they can reasonably be expected to handle.

The present plan of two district superintendents at the head of a corps of 40 to 50 supervisors who oversee the method of instruction in the classrooms will function unchanged, likely, under the direction of one of the three superintendents.

Board of Principals.

"I propose to create a new supervisory body which holds, I believe, one of the best opportunities for progress presented in the plan. Under the head of a district superintendent, I propose to establish a group whose duty it will be to train

Don't fear Pyorrhea —prevent it

Bleeding gums are Nature's warning of Pyorrhea's approach. Don't let the warning go unheeded. Start using Astringosol on your tooth brush and as a mouth wash—also see your dentist without delay.

Astringosol has been used for years by leading dentists in the treatment of this dread disease. It is an effective, reliable mouth wash that not only prevents Pyorrhea, but keeps gums and mouth in a fresh, wholesome condition, kills bad breath and, used in proper strength, destroys bacteria that lodge between the teeth. See your dentist at least twice a year and use Astringosol twice a day.

For a free three-day sample and folder on proper care of teeth and gums mail this advertisement with name and address to Dept. 26, Frederick Stearns & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Astringosol is most economical to use, for it is highly concentrated and only a few drops are needed. At all druggists —60c, $1.00, and $1.20

Constipation the result of a weak stomach

Help Nature remedy constipation

If your Stomach and Liver are weak, your food is not digested. This causes food to be held up in your body. The usual result is constipation, which causes headache and severe gas pains. For 53 years, people have sensibly corrected this condition by using Chamberlain's Tablets for the Stomach and Liver. They help the digestive organs stop chronic constipation. 50 Chamberlain's Tablets cost only 25c at your druggist's, or send 25c to Chamberlain Medicine Co. 608 Park Street, Des Moines, Iowa.

ILLINOIS PRESERVES OLD FLAGS BY UNIQUE PROCESS

Women of Springfield Have Prepared More Than 100 War-Time Emblems for Posterity.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 14.—Preserving the flags under which the sons of Illinois have gone forth to battle, from Chapultepec to Chateau Thierry, is the work now of a corps of 30 Springfield women under the direction of Miss Julia A. Reckford.

There are seven distinct operations in the process, and in the case of flags tattered by bullet and shell holes, the work occupies several months.

The first is to straighten the edges of the tatters so that they will fray no further. However, no part of the torn standards is replaced by any new material. A net of transparent black silk, imported from England, is prepared for each flag, and after its restoration, the net is put over the flag and stitched to it so that the net supports the weight of the time-worn material, which might otherwise pull apart.

More than 100 of the wartime emblems of Illinois have been thus prepared. Flags of the Mexican war were treated first. When the Civil War flags were taken up, it was found that much of the work of the Springfield women of 1865-66 would have to be undone. They sewed the flags to tarletan. This backing is being removed in the new process.

SEEKER FOR THRILL SPENDS NIGHT IN THE HOLDOVER

Light Law Violator Wanted the "Experience," So He Refused to Sign Summons.

Because he wanted the experience of spending the night in jail, Carl Noldmeyer, 32 years old, 6633 University drive, University City, refused to sign a court summons when arrested last night for driving a machine with defective headlights, he testified today before Police Judge Rosecan.

He was arrested at Spring avenue and Lindell boulevard and upon his refusal to sign the summons was taken to the holdover, where he spent the night. His fine of $5 and costs was stayed on good behavior.

new principals and advise old ones. This group will consist of principals now in service who will be relieved temporarily from their principalships to go among other principals stimulating them with new ideas in the management of their schools. No system in the United States gives the school principal so exalted a position, so much responsibility for teaching progress as does our St. Louis system. I propose this division to enable principals to better execute this responsibility.

"That is all there is to the plan. The reassignment of assistant principals was only incident to it. Asking, as I have, the creation of this new supervision, I could not, from the standpoint of finanical economy, ask for the continued retention of six supervisory assistant superintendents, more in number than possessed by any metropolitan system in the Middle West.

Denies Plan Is Radical.

"Consequently, by the reassignment of three of these, I have made it possible for the board to adopt five new administrative divisions at a net saving of about $7000 a year over what now is being spent for administration of my office.

"The plan is not radical; it is sensible, promotes efficiency and creates businesslike method in a branch of municipal affairs where economy is profitable."

Labor organizations flooded the board last night with petitions that some new school building be named the Samuel Gompers building for the late president of the American Federation of Labor. John C. Tobin offered a resolution for naming the new grade school to be erected on Arsenal street and Canterbury avenue for the late Melville L. Wilkinson in recognition of his interest in civic affairs. Plans for this school were approved last night.

FOR GOITRE

There is just enough of the right kind or iodine in deep sea water to check and help reduce Goitre and bring beneficial action to the thyroid gland.

Try Ocean-O, a concentrated deep sea water with the excess of common salt removed.

It's a great blood, nerve and gland tonic because it supplies the entire system with just the vitalizing mineral elements it lacks. It builds you up. If it doesn't, get your money back from Walgreen Drug Stores or any druggist anywhere. Ocean-O is so concentrated that a teaspoonful in half a glass of water is usually enough—that's why a 10-ounce bottle lasts a long time.

FOR Acid Stomach
PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate or soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store.

PLANS INITIATIVE VOTE ON CITY AND COUNTY MERGER

Annexation League Preparing Petitions for Submission of Question in November.

Initiative petitions to place a constitutional amendment providing for merger of St. Louis and St. Louis County as one community before the voters [illegible] are being prepared by the St. Louis County Annexation League.

In doing this the league, which represents [illegible] sentiment in the county for annexation, [illegible] deliberately [illegible] efforts to bring about [illegible] the Board of Freeholders. [illegible] members of the board [illegible] Missouri [illegible] constitutional amendment might be adopted.

[illegible] president of the Annexation League and a [illegible] champion of annexation for years, in announcing the initiative proposal, declared the organization was satisfied that nothing would come of the work of the Board of Freeholders, since the nine city members are determined to stand by their scheme for merger of city and county as a city, and thus far have been unable to break the nine county members' opposition and obtain a necessary tenth signature for submission of their scheme at the polls.

The board has only two months of official life left.

Incorporated in the proposed constitutional amendment will be virtually the same provisions and language used in the pending scheme of the city freeholders. It also will call for repeal of the amendment adopted by Missouri voters in 1924, authorizing appointment of the Board of Freeholders. Should the new amendment be adopted, it would make the merger plan effective automatically and the only voice voters of St. Louis and St. Louis County would have in it would be in casting their portion of the State ballots and influencing as they might the voters elsewhere.

Freeholder Roessel said today the initiative movement appeared to him to be an effort to browbeat the board into submitting an annexation plan. He denounced it as an indictment of the board before it had completed its work.

DEMOCRATS IN KANSAS CITY CHEER WILDLY FOR REED

Mention of Senator's Name at Jefferson Day Banquet Starts Ovation; Wilson Also Extolled.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 14.—While Senator James A. Reed has been engaged in many bitter factional fights in Missouri, the mention of his name last night at the Statewide dinner of the Young Democrats Jefferson Club at the Hotel President caused an ovation. Some of the rural Democrats, still bearing in their hearts a smoldering resentment toward the senior Senator, appeared bewildered when the applause and cheering started. The crowd of nearly 1000 Democrats stood for several minutes.

The ovation started when Garland Wilson of Bethany, reviewing the history of Missouri Democracy, mentioned Reed as one of the outstanding leaders. Holly Jarboe of the First Ward Democratic organization started the cheering, and soon the entire audience was on its feet, virtually all joining in the applause.

To even up matters, an ovation also was given when the speaker from Bethany extolled Woodrow Wilson. Thus the young State Democracy showed its willingness to forget the bitter factional feud which has disrupted the party in Missouri nearly seven years. To forget the past and attempt a cohesive party organization in Missouri was one of the purposes outlined by Elmer O. Jones, president of the association and toastmaster at the dinner.

Later Senator Reed's name brought applause again when Representative Wilson referred to him as a "giant among men."

New Recipe For Lemon Pie

Lemon Cream Pie

One cup sugar; 1¼ cups boiling water; 3 tablespoons cornstarch; 3 tablespoons flour; 1 teaspoon salt; 3 eggs; grated rind of 1 lemon; ⅓ cup lemon juice.

Sift dry ingredients. Add water and cook in double boiler until thick (15 minutes). Add slightly beaten egg yolks and cook 2 minutes longer, then add lemon juice and grated rind. Cool and turn into baked pie shell. Cover with meringue made by beating egg whites until frothy—adding 4 tablespoons sugar and ¼ teaspoon baking powder and continue beating until stiff. Put into moderate oven (325 degrees) for 15 minutes to brown.

Ask for California lemons, juicy, tart and practically seedless—ideal for all flavoring.

Wife Is Happy—Can Sleep Well Now

Mrs. B. Brinkley is happy again. She writes: "For 6 years I suffered from gas on the stomach, headache and dizziness. The first dose of Adlerika gave relief and now I sleep well and all gas is gone."

Many people keep the OUTSIDE body clean, but let their INSIDE body stay full of gas and poisons. Give the inside a REAL cleansing with the mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as sold under the name of Adlerika. This acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, eliminates metabolic poisons and removes old matter which you never thought was in your system, and which caused sour stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, etc.

Whenever you eat too much heavy food, let Adlerika REMOVE the undigested surplus and leave you feeling fine. ONE spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling. Even if your bowels move every day, Adlerika brings out additional matter which might cause trouble. Don't waste time with pills or tablets, but let Adlerika give your stomach and bowels QUICK relief.

What Doctors Say:

Dr. G. Eggers reports Adlerika is the best medicine he has used in 37 years.

Dr. W. H. Bernhart writes he cannot get along in his practice without Adlerika.

Dr. J. J. Weaver, a doctor for 50 years, says he knows no medicine better than Adlerika.

Dr. L. Langlois prescribes Adlerika regularly with GOOD effect.

J. E. Puckett writes: "After taking Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. AWFUL impurities were eliminated from my system."

Adlerika is a big surprise to people who have used only ordinary bowel and stomach medicines because of its REAL quick action. Sold by leading druggists everywhere. In St. Louis by Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores, Enderle Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co. and other leading druggists.

ADMITS SHOOTING FOUR POLICEMEN, ONE FATALLY

New York Radio Burglar, Arrested at Open Baseball Game, Confesses 11 Robberies.

Special to the Post-Dispatch

NEW YORK, April 14.—The radio burglar is also a baseball fan, and that fact led to his arrest at the Polo Grounds. Last night he confessed he had shot four policemen, one of whom died last Tuesday, and that he had committed 11 of the 27 burglaries charged against him by police, as well as five which they had not listed as his. He said his name was Paul Emanuel Hilton.

Hilton was one of the early arrivals at the ball park yesterday, but two detectives were there before him.

The prisoner was taken to police headquarters and there identified by Detective Charles McCarthy as the man who shot him April 6 when the detective stopped him to ask a direction. The prisoner admitted the recognition was mutual. McCarthy seemed to bear no particular grudge.

Hilton's specialty was stealing radio sets. He was known as a man ready to shoot his way out of any trouble that arose. He told police where he had sold most of the stolen radio sets, and said he got only $6 or $8 apiece for them. Detectives questioned the buyer who admitted purchasing the sets from Hilton. Thirty of the sets were recovered.

HOUSE MANAGERS CONFER WITH CUMMINS ON ENGLISH CASE

Senator Says Decision on Delaying Trial Until November Will Not Be Made for Two Weeks.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Senate Judiciary Subcommittee, headed by Chairman Cummins of the full committee, yesterday conferred with Representative Michener of Michigan, head of House managers in the Judge English impeachment case.

After the conference, which also was attended by Representative Sumners of Texas, ranking Democrat on the managerial board, Cummins said it probably would be two weeks before decision would be reached whether the Senate would proceed immediately with the trial or defer it until after the November election.

He said no decision has been reached whether it would be consttiutional for the trial to be conducted at a special Senate session as is urged by House leaders. He indicated this point probably would be threshed out on the Senate floor.

NEGRO, WHOSE CAR STRUCK BOY, GIVEN SIX MONTHS

Clifton Jones, 30 years old, a Negro chauffeur, was sentenced to six months in the workhouse by a jury in Circuit Judge Mix's court yesterday on a charge of felonious wounding resulting from the injury of John Reardon, 13, of 4604 McPherson avenue, who was struck by a car driven by Jones at Taylor and McPherson avenues Nov. 30 last.

The sentence is one of the heaviest imposed in local courts in a traffic case in which no permanent injury or death resulted.

Reardon suffered lacerations and a fractured nose when he was knocked from a bicycle he was riding west in McPherson avenue while attempting to cross Taylor avenue. Three witnesses testified yesterday that Jones was driving north in Taylor avenue at a speed of 35 miles an hour in an apparent effort to "beat" a traffic signal when he struck the boy. They also testified that Jones gave his name as William Johnson when he stopped to pick up Reardon, who was dragged a distance of 60 feet. He was released on bond pending action on a motion for a new trial.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

CARDS SHOW TREMENDOUS PUNCH IN BEATING WORLD CHAMPIONS

HITS BY BOTTOMLEY AND HORNSBY ACCOUNT FOR 5 RUNS; DEFENSE IS WEAK

Rhem Hurls Great Game Against Pirates but Errors of His Teammates All but Resulin His Defeat — Attendance More Than 17,000.

By Herman Wecke.

"Well," remarked Mr. Fan, "this certainly looks like the Cardinals' year. Did you ever see such hitting in the pinches? Or pitching such as served up by Flint Rhem? Boys, I'll tell you he is going to be one of the sensations of the National League."

There was reason for Mr. Fan's joy. He was just one of the 17,000 cash customers, who went home to a late but satisfied supper. Had not the Cardinals downed the world's champions from Pittsburg, Pa., in the National League inaugural? It was a close squeak. The score was 7 to 6, but the home talent was on the right side and that was what counted.

The game showed there was nothing wrong with the Cardinals' big punch as supplied by Manager Hornsby and Jim Bottomley, the two best gunners in baseball. Of the seven runs for the Cardinals, the two sluggers were responsible for five. Hornsby made three safeties and drove in one run. He helped in two others. Bottomley, with a single and home run, chased four tallies across the plate. His four-ply swat came with two sacks tenanted. With these two men at top form, there was little left for the other fellow in the batting line.

Thanks, Mr. Hornsby

Rhem's Work Pleases Fans.

And there was the hurling of Rhem. The former Clemson College right-hander pitched better ball than the score indicates. In the first five innings he was found for but two safeties. Only two other Pirates became baserunners, both as a result of passes. From that time it would seem that Rhem weakened, as the Pittsburg box score shows nine safeties.

The truth, however, is that Rhem was just as good as before and that it took a mighty courageous pitcher to carry on in the face of the support accorded the right-hander in the last four rounds. True, Rhem was batted more freely than at the start, but with major league support at least three hits and that many runs might have been cut off.

It was the Cardinal defense that proved the only fly in the ointment in the fifty-first National League season opening. And it was the one feature that Mr. Fan had overlooked as a result of the joy of seeing a St. Louis club get off on the right foot by trouncing the world's champion.

Cards' Defense Weakens.

The Cardinal defense was not up to snuff. There were two errors of commission and at least three of omission. These slips, the mental ones, were the ones that made it appear that Rhem was weakening, and that he was lucky to pull through. And mental breaks, such as the Hornsbymen made, are the ones that must be eliminated if the club is to live up to its expectations of being a serious contender for the pennant. Errors are to be expected.

All the Cardinal breaks came in the last four rounds, when the Corsairs scored six runs and turned what looked like a rout into a close finish.

And these breaks will hurt in close games. Even with a devastating punch, the Cardinals cannot hope to score seven runs every day. And that total proved just enough to offset the poor work in the field in the game yesterday.

Bell Boots a Couple.

The first "break" in the Pirates' favor came in the sixth. Two Pirates were on the sacks, when Bigbee cut one between first and second. Bottomley rushed over, but failed to make a play. Had Bottomley remained at his post Hornsby apparently could have made the out. The Pirates scored two markers in this round. If Bigbee had been retired the Corsairs would have been stopped without a marker, as Cuyler fanned and Wright popped to Hornsby.

Just before Bottomley's "break," Bell made his first error, and it came when he had an easy double play in front of him, as Pitcher Aldridge and the crippled Moore were the base runners.

To start the seventh, Bell kicked an easy roller hit by Barnhart. Grantham sent a fly to right-center. Mueller and Hafey turned the Alphonse-Gaston stunt and the ball fell safe for a two-base hit. Smith's fly scored Barnhart. Another run that could have been cut off, even after Bell's error.

Bell Fails Again.

But the day was not over. Came the ninth. Bell waved Thevenow away from a harmless pop off Grantham's bat and the ball fell safe in front of the shortstop for a single. It started a two-run rally that brought the Pirates to within one run of the Cardinals at the finish.

There was no help for the Cardinals. The enemy, though several infielders were hobbling around on one leg, fielded cleanly. It was honest to goodness socking that produced seven runs.

Aside from the five runs which Hornsby and Bottomley accounted for, Thevenow drove in one, and the seventh and what proved the deciding one was pounded across by Bell, who proved the weakest cog on defense. Bell's sacrifice fly scored Hafey, who had tripled in the eighth.

Haines to Face Kremer Today

Jess Haines, right hander, is scheduled to pitch for the Cardinals in the second game of the series with the champion Pirates this afternoon. Ray Kremer is due to fling for McKechnie. Play at 3:15 o'clock. There is little likelihood that either manager will rely on left handers. Too many right handed hitters are found in the batting orders of each team.

Manager Hornsby was given a floral horse shoe, a basket of flowers and a silver trophy before the start of the opening game. The trophy was his reward for being the most popular National League player in a contest held by a Cleveland news agency.

Mayor Miller Present.

Mayor Victor Miller was among those present. The Mayor did not pitch a first baseball. He had his picture taken, standing next to Hornsby. Booes were mingled with a few cheers when His Honor went back to his seat in a box.

Tommy Thevenow made a sensational, even though unconscious, catch of Barnhart's foul in the ninth. The shortstop, Bell and Blades tore after the ball. When it looked as if the sphere would fall to the ground, Tommy stuck up his bare hand and the ball remained. Tommy handled five chances cleanly and came through with one hit in the pinch.

"Oil" Smith, Pittsburg catcher, was in form. He tried his old stunt of putting "the stuff" on Hornsby. It worked poorly, as the manager banged a single to left, a double to right and an ace to center, as well as drawing a pass. Yes, this Hornsby guy is still a pretty fair batter.

Max Carey Complains.

Max Carey, ailing captain of the enemy, rushed to Umpire O'Day in the fifth and argued that Bottomley had his left foot out of the box. Hank listened and then Carey went back to the bench. On the next pitch, with his foot further back, if anything, Bottomley smote one into the right field pavilion. Two men were on the paths and maybe Carey's only object was to give Victor Aldridge a rest.

Hafey's triple in the eighth was a tremendous wallop over Cuyler's head to the center field wall.

After messing up two easy grounders, Bell in the seventh took a torrid smash from Moore's bat, stepped on third to force Grantham and then threw to Bottomley to complete a double play. The throw was none too good, but as Moore was hobbling down on one foot, it arrived in plenty of time.

O'Farrell's drive in the seventh, which Bigbee caught close to the left field fence, would have been good for the circuit in the old Sportsman's Park.

Bigbee is only a substitute with the Pirates. All he did was to smash out a single and home run. His ace counted Aldridge with the Corsairs' first run.

American Team Second.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 14.—A threatened strike of the riders in the six-day bicycle race yesterday was averted when some wealthy sport followers put up a guarantee to pay the riders who have been worried by the poor attendance and the disappearance of the promoter, who is said to have lost $10,000.

At the end of the 120th hour the French team, Sergent-Louet, was in the lead with 1895 miles and 268 points. The American team, Beckman and Eaton, was one lap behind but in second place with 213 points.

Gottfried and Junge, Germans, were third.

HIT FIRST HOME RUN OF CAMPAIGN

JIM BOTTOMLEY.

The Cardinal first sacker hit for four bases with two men on the bases in the fifth inning of the opening game between the Cardinals and Pirates.

Amateur - Pro Golf Tourney Next Monday

First Mixed Tournament of Local Season at North Hills Club.

The first professional-amateur golf tournament of the season in the St. Louis district will be held next Monday on the North Hills course, according to an announcement by Louis Hamel, secretary of the local Professional Golfers' Association.

It is the intention of the association to hold such a meet at least once a month. The plan was inaugurated last season and proved very popular. It was found that excellent competition was provided both for the amateurs and the pros.

The Algonquin Club has granted permission for the use of its course for the sectional professional qualifying round to be played on Monday, June 14. There will be 15 such qualifying rounds in various sections of the country instead of two as in former years. It is expected that 20 or more professionals will compete in the local qualifying round at Algonquin.

Landlord, a rapid breaker, outfooted his field from the start and was rushed into a commanding lead rounding the far turn. Was tiring in stretch run and had to be hard ridden to stall of Golden Pennant's challenge. The latter responded full of courage under punishment and would have beaten the winner in a few more strides. Pat McGee and Master William were on the outside to stretch turn. Willie K. broke very slow. Gumdrop carried wide at turn out of backstretch.

Umpire a "Robber" in Honolulu As Well as in U. S., Billikens' Hawaiian Backstop Relates

By Jack Alexander.

Organized baseball is a metropolitan affair, in this country, but in Hawaii it takes on a cosmopolitan air. A league centering around Honolulu has two Japanese teams, a Portuguese, a Chinese, an American and a native Hawaiian club.

Ulukou.

Baseball has been the national sport of Hawaii almost as long as it has been the main sport in America. It is played in the cities and on the plantations. The season lasts from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31. A very high class brand of ball is played.

All this is according to the apostle, Richard Ulukou, dental student at St. Louis University, catcher on the Billiken baseball squad; native of Honolulu and son of the leading sporting goods dealer of the Sandwish Isles; Honolulu C. of C. booster and steel guitar twanger of the St. Louis University Hawaiian Radio Serenaders' string orchestra.

And there is gambling and betting on the teams by the racial groups who have come from all parts of the world. A ball game is like a wrestling bout between Londos and Gardini. The rooting is loud and fierce. The temperature is 113 degrees. There are cries in Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese and good, staunch American of "Robber! Take him out!"

Of course there are laws against gambling but so are there in St. Louis and Madison County. It is not hard to place your money. Ban Johnson would be shocked.

Umpire is a "Crook" in Any Language.

The Hawaiians and the good people of Honolulu have learned the game well. The umpire is not slighted. Terms corresponding to felon and crook have been evolved since the game was introduced. And in the very rural districts where the plantation workers gather to play, an arbiter is just as likely to get socked with a pineapple as not, if he is not careful about his decisions.

Ulukou is a good catcher. His work shows finish and the marks of good coaching. His running mate, Henry Freitas, also a Hawaiian, is temporarily laid up with grippe. Freitas is a left-handed pitcher and was looked to for a lot of service this summer but could not get used to the weather. He and Ulukou were the star battery of St. Louis College, a Honolulu preparatory school, prior to coming here. Luke, a Chinese residing in Honolulu, plays in the Billiken outfield.

Popular as Surf Riding.

Alexander J. Cartwright, founder of the first organized team in this country, the Knickerbockers, introduced baseball to Hawaii when he went there to retire. It took root immediately and today the little Kanakas are as familiar with it as any American sandlotter. It is as indigenous to the soil as surf riding to the beaches.

VADALFI TO MEET DICK DAVISCOURT IN EAST SIDE PROGRAM

Dick Daviscourt will meet Oreste Vadalfi tonight in the main event of a wrestling show at Ainad Temple, East St. Louis, starting at 8:30 o'clock. Seats have been installed for 5000 spectators.

Roy Steele of Seattle, Lloyd Carter's "unknown," is scheduled to wrestle George Hills of Wisconsin in a finish battle in a semiwindup. George Tragos and Henry Kahrunsari of Finland are down for an eight-round preliminary, opening the show.

Proceeds will be used to defray expenses of the Temple's uniformed groups to the national Shrine convention at Philadelphia.

WESTERN LEAGUE TO OPEN SEASON TODAY

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 14.—With fair weather and record attendance predicted, the 1926 season opens today in the Western League. All games are scheduled in the southern half of the circuit: Denver at St. Joseph, Des Moines at Oklahoma City, Lincoln at Tulsa and Omaha at Wichita.

HORNSBY'S ANSWERS

If the batter hits the pitched ball and the pitcher stops it and runs between first base and the batter, is the batter out?—D. C.

No.

If a ball is a high foul fly and the player who tries to field it misses it, may runner advance?—INFIELDER.

No. Runners do not advance on flies and the runner may then flits and the runner may then advance after the ball is caught.

Does a run count if the runner fails to touch a base but the side in the field does not ask for a decision?—KENWOOD SPRINGS.

The run counts.

Runners on second and third. Runner on second forgets and steals third while the catcher has the ball. Runner originally on third remains there and the runner from second returns to second safely after touching third base. Is the original runner on third out?—READER.

No.

Is there any baseball law which says that a ball player cannot play in a major league after he is 40 years of age?—VETERAN PLAYER.

None. A ball player can stick along in major league baseball until he is 50 if he can play well enough, op even older for that matter.

Has the scorer any right to disagree with the umpire or vouchsafe information to him?—MUNY LEAGUER.

None, whatever. The scorer is a bookkeeper and not an official of the game.

Runner on third and none out. Batter hits fly to center fielder, who throws ball to third. The runner who has started for home gets there. Is the runner out?—R. D. McM.

The runner is out if he was off the base when the ball was caught and did not go back to the base and touch it.

If, with a runner on base, a foul fly ball is hit and a fielder catches the ball and throws to the base before the runner returns, is the runner out?—SANDLOT.

The runner is out.

What is meant when it says a waiver is asked on a player?—READER.

If a club has a player whom it wishes to put elsewhere it must ask consent of other clubs in its league to do so, and the consent that it asks is called asking for waivers. This is to prevent players from getting away from a league if other clubs in the league wish the players.

Boxing Measure Carries Easily In E. St. Louis

Professional Ring Shows Will Be Held as Soon as Commission Is Named.

East St. Louis voted strongly in favor of the professional boxing bill in yesterday's referendum election, the measure carrying by a vote of 6518 to 2565.

Within 60 days the American Legion and the East St. Louis 124th Field Artillery No. 53 will probably engage in the promotion of professional boxing shows. The bill provides for the appointment of a State Athletic Board to govern boxing and no ring shows will be held until this board is appointed by Governor Small.

ISLERS' MEN HIT BALL AS OFTEN AS WHITE SOX, BUT NOT WITH RUNNERS ON BASES aston Falters in First, but Pitches Well Thereafter—Ballou Is Pounded for Three Runs—33,000 Attend Chicago Contest.

By J. Roy Stockton.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Eddie Collins, manager of the Chicago hite Sox and one of the smartest baseball players that the game s ever known, said before the start of the American League pen- nt race yesterday afternoon that his team was sure to be in the ght for the flag.

"Any team that has five good pitchers is sure to be in the race," d Collins.

"And with Everett Scott plugging the hole at short, the only weak ot in our machine last year, we ll give our five good pitchers a at deal of support. Our pitch- s are going to be hard to beat."

And then Collins gave the owns a chance to look over the cher that is considered Chicago's t bet, the White Sox candidate r leading honors in pitching in e American League—Ted Lyons. d he was so effective, so hard hit in the pinches—and they re many—that, although the owns made 10 hits, six of them ubles, they were able to score ly one run off the slants of the rmer Baylor University right- nder, and lost the first game of e season, 5 to 1.

Lyons had everything that a at pitcher needs. He did not ow any burning speed. He had sharp-breaking curve—not the nce curve that causes strikeouts, t a sharp-breaking twist; a drop, confounding dip, that had the owns lofting the ball to the out- lders or topping grounders to e inner line of defense; and a ffling change of pace.

ons Had the Browns Guessing.

Never did the Browns know hat to expect. They would set emselves for another fast one, ter fouling off one, and the next ne, apparently delivered with the me speed of arm, would float up the plate so tantalizingly slow hat the bat would be around its c before the ball got into the dan- r zone.

The first 11 Browns to face ons were turned back in order, d so effective was the pitching at it required no brilliant field- g on the part of the other Chi- go players. Harry Rice, the owns' lead-off man and a slugger of note" on whose batting strength much of the team's success depends, could not do anything with Lyons' curves. Once he tapped to Collins, twice he sent feeble rollers to the pitcher and once he struck out, swinging viciously but impotently at a half-speed ball that made the young outfielder look foolish. Rice connected solidly once, but Harris, the Chicago center fielder, raced back into the crowd and made a spectacular catch. That was about the only time that Lyons needed any brilliant support. It was in the seventh inning, two Browns were on the bases and the only St. Louis run had just been scored.

Gaston Starts Weakly.

Encouraging for the Brownie cause was the fact that despite Lyons' great pitching the St. Louis team was not outclassed, even in the hurling department. Milton Gaston got off to a bad start and the Sox scored two runs in the first inning, but after that Gaston was master and held the Chicagoans scoreless during the five other frames he worked. In the sixth Gaston retired in favor of a pinch hitter and then the White Sox put the game on the ice by soaking Win Ballou merrily. The former Senator was slammed for five hits, two of them doubles and with only one out he was taken out of the box after three more Chicago runs had been scored.

Dixie Davis finished the game and during his 1 2-3 innings on the hill the Sox went hitless and scoreless.

There were many bright spots in the game for St. Louis, though defeat in the first game of the season never is an encouraging thing. Sisler's reserves showed their power. Bennett and Hargrave were rushed in as pinch hitters and Bennett singled, driving in the team's only run, and Hargrave slammed a double into the crowd in left center.

When the Browns and Sox meet in their second game, Sisler's men will get a chance to look at another of Collins' five good pitchers. It probably will be Urban Faber, one of the few remaining spitball pitchers. The other members of the big five are Ted Blankenship, Hollis Thurston and Tommy Thomas. For the Browns Joe Giard or Tom Zachary probably will do the pitching.

33,971 View Browns' Game.

Chicago upheld its reputation as a great baseball town by packing the ball park with an overflow crowd. The spectators swarmed on the field from foul line to foul line and thousands were standing in bleachers and grandstand. The park's seating capacity has been announced as 30,000, but with all the overflow there were only 33,971 cash customers present. At that rate Comiskey Park's seating capacity is not as large as that of Sportsman's Park.

Election day coincided with the baseball opening and the result was that there were not enough policemen available to handle the crowds at the park. As a result the game was held up several times while players and umpires forced back the overflow crowd.

Commissioner Landis threw out the first ball from his box near the third base line and that was the only opening day formality. There was no band and no bunting or flags.

No Resin Bag on View.

Nor was there any resin The question was raised as to who would have provided the resin had an American League pitcher stood on what Landis said were his rights, and asked for resin; perhaps the "Jedge" had a bag in his pocket.

The Browns were not any too wide awake on the bases. On one occasion Jacobson was on second when Robertson hit a long fly to right. Jake ran half way down to third and after the catch had to retrace his steps to second. Had he stayed on second he could have advanced after the catch. Then, if the ball had gone into the crowd, he could have scored on the ground rule which provided for two bases on hits into the overflow crowd.

The ground rules did not help the Browns. Several times runners could have scored on hits had it not been for the ground rules.

Sisler got three hits off Lyons and was the first Brownie to reach base. With two down in the fourth he scratched a single past Scott. It might have been scored as an error for the aged infielder.

McManus got two doubles. One was a tremendous clout through the fence in left center and the other was a high fly which fell safe when too many Sox went after it.

It was a great day for the opening. The sun was on duty throughout the game and though overcoats were comfortable it was good baseball weather.

The Browns will be stronger when Rice starts to hit. He has been fighting off an attack of the grip and has not shown his best punch.

Sisler's men put on a rally in the ninth. Robertson singled past Kamm with one down and Hargrave, batting for Davis, doubled into the crowd in center. Rice, however, struck out and Lamotte grounded gently to Scott.

Wrestling Champion Gains First and Third Falls From Veteran Rival.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 14.—Joe Stecher, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, defeated Stanislaus Zbyszko, the veteran Pole, in two out of three falls in what was termed a title match here last night.

Stecher won the first fall with a body scissors after 43 minutes, 26 seconds. Zbyszko then came back and took the fall in 11 minutes, four seconds. He used an arm lock. The third fall was Stecher's when he caught the Pole in another body scissors as Zzyszko was maneuvering for another arm lock. The time was 13 minutes.

212,000 Persons Witnessed Opening Big League Games

Approximately 212,000 fans braved generally chilly weather to see the major league baseball races get away to a thrilling start.

American League—New York at Boston, 12,000; Philadelphia at Washington, 25,000; Cleveland at Detroit, 35,000; St. Louis at Chicago, 37,000. Total, 109,000.

Johnson Wins in 15 Innings; Petty Gives Giants One Hit

Senator Veteran Allows Six Hits and Strikes Out 12, Beating Rommel, 1-0 — 71 Runs Scored in Opening Day Tilts.

By the Associated Press.

Major league baseball ran the gamut at its opening—two extraordinary pitching performances, a remarkable slugfest, errorless games and contests with several errors—and the weather was much more suited to football.

Each league sent forth a pitcher to establish a mound pace that opening day seldom has seen—Jess Petty, Brooklyn's left-hander from Los Angeles, and Walter Johnson of Humboldt, Kan., starting his twentieth season with the Washington Senators.

Petty, touching his pitching fingers to the newly-permitted resin bag time and again, granted the powerful Giants a lone safety. That was a double by Frisch, a freakish sort of high fly that just eluded the grasp of Dick Cox in right field. Clever fielding by the veteran Rabbit Maranville at shortstop held back the enemy at two stages of the tussle and Brooklyn won, 3 to 0.

Johnson at Top Form.

Johnson hurled through 15 innings against the Philadelphia Athletics and downed Eddie Rommel in a seething duel, 1 to 0. Only six hits were made off the "Big Train" and only nine off Rommel. The "Fireball King" struck out 12.

Five home runs were registered, all in the National League, by Bigbee of Pittsburg, Bottomley of St. Louis, Johnston of Boston, Freigau of Chicago and Picinich of Cincinnati. Three National Leaguers had perfect days at bat — Wheat of Brooklyn, Hornsby of St. Louis and Wilson of Boston.

The National League made 38 runs, 68 hits and 15 errors, against 33 runs, 81 hits and eight errors for the American.

Boston witnessed a battle royal and a parade of pitchers, with the bats of the New York Yankees swung mercilessly against the remodeled Red Sox only to have the Fohlman return the onslaught until the Yankees barely eked out a victory, 12 to 11.

Uhle Stops Tigers.

Uhle was in good form for Cleveland and registered a 2 to 1 decision over Detroit. Ty Cobb's only appearance in the game was as a pinch hitter and he lined to Uhle.

Donohue, Luque and May struggled to a victory over the Chicago Cubs, 7 to 6. Luque pitched to only two men after relieving Donohue in the eighth. The Cubs made five misplays.

FOUR KNOCKOUTS IN SOUTH BROADWAY CLUB'S AMATEUR RING SHO

LAWREY DEFEATS FAGUE IN BEST BOUT ON CARD

Rousing Rally by Fague All but Wins—Feature Bout Fails to Materialize.

Four knockouts added zest to a fight card at the South Broadway Athletic Club last night that otherwise was mainly interesting for the bloody match of Martin Lawery and Al Fague, won by the former.

One of the headliners of the evening, the Morris Greenberg and Frank Sims match failed to take place. According to the announcer, Sims had injured himself in training. The other star attraction between Frank Merz and John Buckley was all for Merz. The latter, who looked much heavier than his opponent, drove home his heavy right early and often so that Buckley, the South Broadway entry, never got started.

The Judges Disagree.

Despite Fague's defeat by Lawery, he finished strong and referee Heisner's decision, was necessary to decide the tie vote of the judges.

Claude McCleavy of the South Broadway club, weighing in at 158 pounds, sent Virgil Martin, unattached, down in the first round for the count. Carmen Durso of the Business Men's Gymnasium performed a similar service for Fred Schwartz in the 112-pound class. The other knockouts were scored by William Konich of the Broadway club over William Hackman of the Tower club, and Henry Hoff of the Business Men's Gymnasium who delivered John Kling of the Red Ball Gymnasium to the floor.

Greenberg, who failed to show his wares last night, will meet Eddie Burke of the Western A. A. U. in a featherweight encounter April 29, it was announced last night. All of the fights last night were of three rounds.

S. B. A. C. Results.

Henry Hopp, Business Men's Gymnasium, defeated Johnny Kling, Red Ball Gymnasium, knockout, second round. Weight, 135 pounds.

International to Start Campaign

Various Clubs Once More Hope to Break Run of Baltimore Flags.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Hopes of several clubs in the International League this year are strong, but they can be no more than hopes, for Jack Dunn and his Baltimore Orioles have romped away with pennants for the past six years.

The league season starts today.

Toronto, where Dan Howley handles an overflow from the Detroit Tigers, appear to be the best fitted to battle the 1926 team of Dunn. Howley has lost three players of his 1923 array, but he has added pitchers of caliber from Detroit. Baltimore depends on the pennant winning squad of last year.

Jersey City, a receiving station for Brooklyn recruits, also is regarded as powerful. Rochester will depend for the most part on recruits, while Buffalo is uncertain. Newark is starting a club that is untested. Syracuse has obtained pitching strength from the St. Louis Cardinals. Reading, last place club in 1925, starts with a makeshift outfit.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Shadows.

A COMBINED ballot of big league infielders and news photographers of America probably would vote the new Browns ball park a raspberry.

Yesterday's opening day game began at 3:15 or thereabouts. At 3:20 p. m. the shadow of the grand stand was across home plate and headed toward the outfield. Before half the game was played nearly all of the infield was a crazy quilt of light and shade that defied alike both the camera's eye and the infielder's.

It so disturbed the Cardinal defense that it all but cost Hornsby the opening game. Thevenow put up his bare hand, to shield his face in fielding Barnhart's foul, and the ball fell into his palm and stuck there.

As for the photographers, they folded up their tripods and put up their boxes in the third inning, with the exception of one member of the Optimist Club.

If the local teams can become familiar with its peculiar grand stand shadows, New Sportsman's Park ultimately ought to prove a big advantage to the home talent, by confusing the visitors.

Very Much Alive.

THERE is nothing dead about the new ball. All the "jack rabbit" traits of its predecessor were evidenced, yesterday, when homers and long hits were abundant. In the spring series there also were homers by the usual home run talent.

Fears that the teams might have to abandon the free hitting, that has so pleased fans of late, for the old "army game" were unfounded. If Babe Ruth still has the home runs in his system there is nothing about the new ball to prevent him from getting them out, to judge by the hitting thus far.

It Was "Vic" Day.

EVERYTHING was jake for Vic, at Sportsman's park, yesterday.

Vic Keen, Cardinal pitcher was warming up, when things became strong for Flint Rhem.

Vic Aldridge was treated rather roughly, but lived through several innings.

And Vic-tory perched on the Cardinal banner.

N. B.—The Pirates, though a bit restless, had to be content to be the Vic-tim.

Lucky Mr. Breadon.

THE first lawsuit of the baseball season—and there will be many—was foreseen when a spectator wearing an overcoat, fawn-colored in front and green-tinted in back, presented a very red face and a loud voice at the management's office and demanded a new o'coat.

It seems the green paint on a chair took a liking to the overcoat and stuck there.

A more serious incident was averted by an iron box-rail. A line foul that had all the ear marks of a $50,000 law suit, whizzed straight for the vest button of a portly fan, who was too slow to move. It looked like an ambulance for the fan, when the box rail intervened. The ball bounced back into the field.

That Ball Using Orgy.

IT IS probable that more conservatism in the matter of throwing out new baseballs during a game will prevail this season. Last year the cost of baseballs to the Browns equaled the purchase price of a first-class major league player, being around $8000. That's because every day of the season at least five dozen balls were consumed during the game or by the home and visiting clubs in practice.

On one occasion, not last season, however, the Browns used six dozen, seventy-two baseballs, in a single game. That was the time when Dave Danforth, coming back from the minors after having been sent there in disgrace, was hurling his first returning contest. So eager were Danforth and his teammates to show that Dave was not tampering with the ball that many times the pitcher himself and the members of the Browns team voluntarily threw out baseballs.

Contrast that with the old days of the Cardinals, when Vic Willis pitched an entire game using but one baseball!

At yesterday's opening game several of the balls in use became very materially darkened, before they were thrown out.

Chicago Votes to Legalize Boxing By Big Majority

No Matches Expected for Two Months—Governor to Appoint Commission.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 14.—The cauliflower ear, for 20 years spoken of in whispers in Chicago, as something illegal, has taken on the robes of lawful sanctity.

Latest returns today show that the local option boxing bill legalizing 10-round bouts was passed in yesterday's election by an overwhelming majority of five to one. The vote in 1900 precincts of 2270 showed: For 326,277, against, 77,586.

There probably will be no boxing in Chicago for at least two months, however, because that time will be required for the appointment of a commission. Gov. Len Small of Kankakee said today that he had given no thought to the personnel of the commission, but that it would receive his attention immediately. He has received more than 2000 applications for membership upon the commission, which will consist of three members and a secretary.

The commission will have unlimited power in regulating boxing and wrestling. Champions will be compelled to defend their titles in decision contests. The commission will regulate the prices of all shows and also decide upon the merits of all contests.

The revival of the sport in Chicago after a lapse of 20 years gives the metropolis a chance to see champions in action without fear of police interference. Chicagoans interested in boxing heretofore have been forced to go to Milwaukee or to East Chicago, just over the Indiana line, or to sit in at numerous amateur bouts. In recent months nearly fifty amateur clubs have sprung up and have been doing a flourishing business.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

You are Rich Enough to Write a Will
—if the value of your property is modest

IF YOU have some money in the bank, a home that you are paying for, perhaps some life insurance, Liberty Bonds or other investments—and a family that looks to you for security and material happiness, you are rich enough to write a will.

If the total value of your property is modest, the protection that you can give your family by your will is more vital than you may realize.

The division of your property is not the most important thing that your will can accomplish. It can make sure that neither misjudgment nor the impulse to spend or speculate will ever waste any part of the property you leave. It can provide for good management, experienced control and faithful guardianship to continue for you the protection you give your family while you live.

A will, carefully written, should make sure of these important safeguards by naming the St. Louis Union Trust Company as Executor and Trustee. You will find a good deal of satisfaction in the thought that this strong institution will be ready to look after your family's affairs when you are gone.

G. O. P. MACHINE VICTORIOUS IN ST. CLAIR COUNTY

Eight of Eleven Candidates Nominated in Contested Districts Are Regular Party Men.

WET SENTIMENT IN DEMOCRATIC RACE

George E. Brennan Received Ten Times as Many Votes as Nearest Rival.

The Republican machine in St. Clair County was successful in yesterday's primary election in winning eight of the 11 contested offices in East St. Louis where opposition to it was strongest. While the vote has not been tabulated in the remainder of the county, it is practically certain that the Belleville Republican "machine" has won an overwhelming victory.

Considerable wet sentiment was evinced when George E. Brennan, Democratic State boss, received almost 10 times as many votes as his nearest rival.

Three Independents Win.

The three independent candidates, who successfully opposed the Republican machine in East St. Louis, are William E. Trautmann, nominated for Representative in Congress from the Twenty-second District; E. J. Abt, candidate for State Senator, and Thomas L. Fekete Jr., nominated for Representative in the General Assembly from the Forty-ninth District.

Among the offices which the Republican machine successfully sought in East St. Louis were State Central Committeeman from the Twenty-Second District which Edward E. Miller won; County Judge with Waldemar R. Weber nominated; County Clerk with Ross C. Adams successful; the office of County Treasurer won by Martin Schnipper; the office of Sheriff, which was hotly contested, with Charles Ahrens, machine candidate, defeating J. G. Schrader, East St. Louis independent candidate for the Republican nomination.

Unexpected Victory.

Adam Weilmuenster received the Republican nomination for Board of Assessors in East St. Louis, while Arthur P. O'Leary won an unexpected victory when nominated on the Republican ticket for a member of the Board of Review.

The Democratic primary, which did not excite so much interest, resulted in the nomination of Patrick Sullivan for Sheriff, Frank Holton for representative in the General Assembly from the Forty-ninth district, Edward McHale for State Senator from the same district, and Charles A. Karch for Representative in Congress from the States at large.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia.—It was not her good looks, but her ability to dance better than any woman he ever danced with that caused Henry Faustain of Traer to elope with Mrs. C. C. Martin, wife of a business friend, he told Judge George C. Scott in Federal Court here when he was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail on a charge of violating the Mann act.

Faustain told the Court that he danced with Mrs. Martin two weeks before he asked her to leave her husband and child and elope. They were followed to Chicago by Martin, but he missed them. They were captured finally at Memphis, Tenn. Mrs. Martin returned to her husband but he later obtained a divorce. She operates a beauty parlor here now. Faustain is married and has a family.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS TO BE DISCUSSED AT CONFERENCE

Gov. Baker Issues Call for Open Meeting at Jefferson City May 10-11.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14.—Gov. Baker has issued a call for a State-wide conference on measures to reduce traffic accidents and to safeguard travel on public streets and highways, to be held in Jefferson City on May 10 and 11.

Baker issued the call after a conference here with delegates he appointed to attend the National Conference on Streets and Highway Safety, held recently in Washington, at the call of Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce. These delegates reported the national conference had urged adoption by the states of a uniform motor vehicle registration and title law, and uniform laws regulating operation of motor vehicles on public highways, and licensing of automobile operators.

Those here for the conference with Baker were Arthur Freund of the St. Louis Police Board; James R. Davis, member of the State Highway Commission; State Labor Commissioner Hinkle; Emil Koch of the Kansas City Police Board, and Julian Harvey secretary of the Kansas City Safety Council.

The Governor said that 449 lives were lost in Missouri in 1924 as a result of traffic accidents. "Many times that number were maimed or crippled," he stated, "and this condition will continue unabated unless positive steps are taken to correct the situation."

In calling the conference, Gov. Baker stated it would be open to all individuals and representatives of organizations interested in the matter. He urged participation in the conference by city officials, fire and police departments, County and Circuit Judges, Sheriffs and Prosecuting attorneys.

COURTESY SAVES COCKTAIL AT WOMEN'S ENFORCEMENT MEET

Resolution Against Concoctions at Functions Defeated Out of Deference to Delegates' Hostesses.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Many of the women prohibition advocates who opened the dry's case before the Senate Committee Monday departed for home today, having wound up the annual conference of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement yesterday after hearing appeals by Attorney-General Sargent and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant Attorney-General in charge of prohibition cases, that they use their influence to bring about better observance of the dry law by officials and social leaders.

A resolution by Mrs. Harvey Flint of Providence, R. I., to put a ban on the serving of cocktails at social functions and recommending that demonstrations be made against this practice, however, failed of action at the concluding sessions of the conference. Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Beverly, Mass., chairman of the National Committee, explained afterwards that "pure courtesy" dictated the course taken, since it would not have been polite for the delegates, while guests in this city, to adopt a resolution asking Washington women not to serve cocktails.

"Wait till I get home," she added. "We will take such action there, and an effort will be made to do it by individual communities everywhere. We merely did not wish anyone to go back home from the convention and say that while here we had overstepped the bounds of propriety set by courteous obligation to our hostesses."

PRESBYTERY HERE BLAMES CUSTOMERS OF BOOTLEGGERS

Evils of Prohibition Laid to "Otherwise Good Citizen" Who Bribes Liquor Seller.

Blame for the evils of prohibition was placed upon the shoulders of the "otherwise good citizen who bribes the bootlegger to break the law" by J. A. Todd, chairman of the St. Louis Presbytery Committee of Moral Welfare, at the spring meeting of the Presbytery yesterday at the Winnebago Presbyterian Church, Winnebago street and Tennessee avenue. A resolution urging Missouri Congressmen and Senators to uphold the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act was adopted unanimously.

Three ministers and two elders were elected delegates to the Presbyterian General Assembly to be held in Baltimore May 27. Reports of various committees indicated that in the past year Sunday School attendance in the district increased from 5483 to 5736, of whom 1751 also are church members; $500 was spent for student assistance at the University of Missouri, and total church debts of $253,000 were reduced to $230,000.

E. T. Eitzman, a member of the Winnebago Church, who is completing his course in the McCormick Theological Seminary, was ordained.

WOMEN NEED MORE YARDAGE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 14.—Gloom sits heavy on the hearts of London husbands.

With the new craze for pleating of women's gowns there has been a drastic increase in the yardage of my lady's garments, and the cost has risen correspondingly. The ladies will not be denied, however, for not only are pleats smart, but, curiously enough, the more material used the slimmer the figure appears. Some creations have as much as 50 yards of pleated trimmings. Unlike the husbands, cloth manufacturers are jubilant, for it gives them a chance to get some of their own back after being hard hit by the vogue of the short skirt.

RITCHIE REPLIES TO PLEA BY DRYS TO UPHOLD LAW

Maryland Governor Says Old Temperance Issue Has Become One of Personal Liberty.

SPEAKS AT DINNER OF JEFFERSON LEAGUE

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, speaking last night at a Jefferson day dinner given here by the Thomas Jefferson League, paid his respects to the drys who have denounced efforts to modify the prohibition law as "an assault upon the Constitution."

Ritchie's subject was "Thomas Jefferson and the Freedom of the Press."

After asserting that the press—"the chief bulwark and protection of our liberties"—must be kept free, Ritchie came to the point that "it is in the field of human conduct and morals that the greatest difficulties lie in maintaining the Jeffersonian ideas of freedom and toleration."

"Witness," he continued, "the fateful issue of prohibition. Those who advocate this as a great moral issue are prone to denounce those who differ from them as lacking regard for law and order and for the binding sanctity of the Constitution of the land—are prone even to pin the badge of treason upon them. They argue that all good men should be of one mind—and that mind theirs. They do not see that an age-long issue of individual temperance has now become an issue of political liberty.

Would Stand Alone.

"I care not whether I am in the majority or in the minority. Even were I a minority of one, still in the name of temperance and of the individual freedom which is guaranteed the citizenship of this land, I would oppose that law.

"And to those who question my right to do this, while still revering the Constitution of my country, I summon the memory of Thomas Jefferson, when he demanded the first article of our Bill of Rights as a shield against intolerance and a sword for the conquest of liberty, and I ask, by what right would you abridge my freedom of speech against a law I oppose and my right to petition my Government for a redress of the grievances I believe are caused by it?

"Thanks to prohibition and to the war's aftermath and to newborn conceptions of law, we are fighting the old issue of human freedom over again—freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedof of the individual, freedom from intolerance, freedom for the saving power of truth."

Jefferson's Fight.

Earlier in his speech Ritchie recalled the fight of Thomas Jefferson, in shining armor, for the principles written into the Bill of Rights. He envisaged Jefferson as waging a fight against "the powers of darkness, against the product of long ages of intolerance and tyranny over the minds and the energies of men."

"He fought everything that might invade the liberties of the common man. He fought for freedom to think, to speak, to wrtie, to live and to worship as he saw fit."

First among the essentials of political liberty, said Ritchie, Jefferson put the freedom of the press.

"'The liberty of speaking and writing,' said Jefferson, 'guards our other liberties.' No man in our history ever had more newspaper calumnies heaped upon him, but still he said, 'Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a Government without newspapers or newspapers without a Government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter.' Free Government without a free press was to him impossible.

A Practical Statesman.

"Jefferson," continued Gov. Ritchie, "was no visionary idealist. He was the practical statesman. So he translated his views as to a free press into the body of our political life. This involved one of the bitterest struggles in American histroy. Much of the best intellect of his day feared the common man, and believed that with free speech and a free press stable Government would not endure. The persecutions which those in authority were wont to visit upon adverse criticisms and opinions were abroad in the land.

"It was largely Jefferson's influence that wrote into our Constitution through the Bill of Rights those guarantees of individual and political liberty which embody a new philosophy of government, the world's greatest charter of political freedom.

"But to secure them in their integrity he had to fight with an energy unparalleled in American political history. He had to marshal and lead his hosts against the alien and sedition laws, which, under the guise of suppressing revolutionary propaganda, were intended to muzzle the press, to silence criticism of the ruling powers and to crush the Irish who sought asylum here and for whom Jefferson fought in such a way that should forever enshrine him in their hearts.

"It is not too much to say that in all the essentials which go to make a free people, this contest was the most crucial in our history. Had Jefferson lost, our political life would have been vastly different. But he did not lose. When the smoke of battle cleared away, the Federalist party lay wrecked and prostrate, but Thomas Jefferson had saved the Republic.

"In spite of provisions in recent espionage acts, both Federal and State, and of legislative and judicial performances which set constitutional lawyers and lovers of liberty somewhat aghast I do not believe for a moment that Jefferson's work of a century and a quarter ago will be undone.

Recent Tendencies.

"Recent tendencies undoubtedly mark a great break in the American tradition of free speech—the first real break since the alien and sedition laws of 1798. But the idea that liberty of thought and expression can be suppressed from above—whether this be attempted by king or priest or 'watch and ward' societies—can never survive before the political democracy of free America.

"There is no surer way to discover the truth in any field of endeavor, governmental or otherwise, than through the unfettered expression of individual thought. This applies to the radical and the ultra-conservative alike. The views of either, peaceably advanced, should never, unless in extraordinary emergency, be overcome by suppression, but only by argument. There is no other way to divide the light from the darkness. Free discussion exposes lies and fallacies better than anything else does.

"Many of us think of freedom of the press as though it involved the unrestrained right to print what one pleases. Jefferson did not. 'The press is impotent,' he said, 'when it abandons itself to falsehood.' So even in spite of itself the press is bound to be an agency of truth, else it cannot function at all.

"It is perhaps not unpopular to criticise the newspapers. Public men often swell the chorus. But run the whole gamut of press activities, from checking public abuses and derelictions of duty and detecting evils down to amusing the populace, and you will find no other agency touching the press in importance or in results. It is the chief source of public opinion, the chief bulwark and protection of our liberties. It must be kept free—free even to abuse its freedom."

Ritchie's speech, which was well received by the 300 persons present, was the main event of the dinner. John W. Davis and several other scheduled speakers sent regrets.

WANTS EXPOSITIONS TO BRING MANY PERSONS TO ST. LOUIS

Sesquicentennial Celebration Is Subject of Address at Chamber of Commerce.

The Sesquicentennial Celebration and Pageant of Progress, to be held next September on the old aviation field in Forest Park, should be only the first of expositions to bring thousands of visitors to St. Louis every year, F. W. A. Vesper, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, declared at a luncheon of the Chamber yesterday.

Vesper said he had been impelled to establish himself in St. Louis by memories of trips to the old St. Louis Exposition from his boyhood home in Kansas. If the celebration and pageant this fall goes over as it should, he said, it will be an achievement second only to the passing of the bond issue.

Promising support of the city administration, Mayor Miller said: "For many years the average citizen of St. Louis has been accustomed to talk about what St. Louis is 'going to be.' Most of us have come to realize that St. Louis does not have to wait to become a great and prosperous city, but already is great and prosperous. Our task now is to show not only the citizens of St. Louis, but the entire world, what we really have here."

Presidents Baldwin of the Missouri Pacific and Kurn of the Frisco pledged support of the railroads, and Carl F. G. Meyer, president of the Chamber, gave details of the plans.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO BAPTIST GENERAL FUNDS INCREASED

Figures Show Gain of 117.6 Per Cent Over Last Year for Six Months.

A gain of 117.6 per cent over last year's figures in the contributions to the Missouri Baptist General Association during the October-March period, was reported yesterday by Dr. A. J. Barton of Kansas City, superintendent, to the quarterly meeting of the association at the Third Baptist Church, Grand and Washington boulevards.

A total of $124,344.18 has been received since Oct. 15, including $49,506 Christmas Fund, the report shows, as compared with $57,145.21 last year at this time.

"These figures indicate an increased degree of information and interest, and a growing spirit of liberality and stewardship among our people, in the world task assigned to us by our Lord," Dr. Barton said. He left last night for Washington, to take part, as chairman of the national executive committee of the Anti-Saloon Leogue, in tomorrow's investigation.

PERSONAL STATE INCOME TAX HERE OF $1,041,754

Payments of Individual St. Louisans This Year to Exceed Those of Last by $147,460.

RETURN OF $3,100,000 BY ONE CITIZEN

Corporations to Bring Grand Total of Levy to About $1,975,000—Fewer Lists Filed.

The individual State income tax to be paid by St. Louisans this year, on 1925 income, will total $1,041,754.21, an increase of $147,460 over the previous year, according to figures computed by City Assessor Gehner yesterday.

The tax levy, 1 per cent, is based on a total net income of $104,175,421. State income tax to be collected in St. Louis on the same rate, from railroads totals $116,956.26, and from other corporations, $81,707,833, bringing the grand total of income tax payable to $1,975,788.80 on an aggregate net income by corporations and individuals of $197,578,880. The total net income is $14,746,044 higher than in the preceding year.

Largest Individual Income.

The largest individual net income reported for 1925 was for $3,100,000, on which the State will collect $31,000. Last year the largest individual net income reported was $330,000. Under the law, the names of individuals or corporations making income tax returns cannot be divulged.

There were 62,270 returns filed with the Assessor, a decrease of 5172 over last year, which is explained by the fact that 10,000 nontaxable incomes were reported last year. This year only returns subject to taxation were accepted. An increase in the number of taxable incomes is indicated.

The amount of increase in the income tax collectable will grow during the ensuing months. Collector Gehner explained that the calculations for 1924 income, used as a basis of comparison, include two supplementary additions, totaling $7,702,909. This year's total of net income will be increased $7,500,000, he said, when similar items constituting delinquent returns on which extensions have been granted are added.

Assessor's View of Increase.

Gehner believes that a considerable portion of the increase in this year's returns is due to the concerted campaign by him and representatives of State Auditor Thompson to make delinquent taxpayers file returns.

He also pointed out that more corporations this year have taken advantage of the law permitting them to make returns at the end of the corporation's fiscal year. Last year 6104 corporations made returns, against 3558 so far this year.

TEXAS PLANS CENTER FOR CREATIVE ARTISTS

Project Would Be Patterned After MacDowell Colony in New Hampshire.

CORSICANA, Tex.—A Texas art center, where painters, musicians, sculptors, writers and other creative artists, may rest and work is to be proposed by the State Federation of Music at its eleventh annual convention in Dallas, April 28-30.

Miss Dorothy Drane of Corsicana, in announcing the project, stated that one of the outstanding features of the convention would be an art center dinner to be given at a Dallas hotel.

"An art center such as we hope to establish," she said, "will be a place somewhere in Texas where, amid delightful and beautiful, yet quiet surroundings the talents of our creative artists may find inspiration and opportunity for development and expression.

"I know of only one other project in the country which aims to give to creative artists the quiet and solitude needed, and that is the MacDowell colony at Peterborough, N. H. We hope to operate on the same general principle of the MacDowell, but of course it would be many years before we could attain the heights reached by the MacDowell colony."

BENITO SHORT FOR BENEDICTUS

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

ROME, April 1.—A Lombard carpenter belonging to the Fascist militia wished to have his son christened with the name of Benito Anacleto, but the parish priest objected to Benito as not being the name of a saint certified to be in Paradise. The village took the matter so much to heart that the carabineers were called in by the fatherto settle the dispute, and the Captain of Carabineers laid down the law that some words were cut short at the beginning and some at the end, and Benito was short for Benedictus. He won the day, and denounced the priest for disloyal obstinacy.

TWO KINDS OF POISON FOUND IN THE BODY OF GEN. FLORES

By the Associated Press.

MAZATLAN, Sinaloa, Mexico, April 14.—Traces of at least two kinds of poison have been found in the stomach of Gen. Angel Flores, who is thought to have been slain by political enemies. Rosales College physicians, who conducted the examination, have arranged for further analysis in Mexico City.

The General's widow declares she knows who administered the poison, but she refuses to tell the name. She also said Flores knew he was poisoned, but refused to name the poisoner, although he, too, knew his name.

TEXAS ANGLERS RAISE WORMS FOR FUTURE USE

Coffee Grounds and Buttermilk Fatten Bait for Colorado Fishing Trip.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LUBBOCK, Tex. — Diversified farming has taken on a new wrinkle—or more properly, a new wriggle—in Lubbock. E. Murray Jones and Ross Edwards now have a flourishing angle worm farm at the former's residence here.

There approximately 1000 ordinary earth worms wriggle contentedly in a two-foot square box filled with their native soil, and feast daily on a mixture of coffee grounds and buttermilk poured over the surface of their domicile. They are being fattened for sacrifice. Next summer Jones and Edwards will use them for bait in a Colorado fishing trip.

As Jones, explained, the ground around Lubbock becomes too hard in summer for convenient digging of worms. "And up where we are going," he said, "we have been able to find only one small area where the digging is profitable, and since all the other fishermen are aware of that restricted area, the field is overcrowded and likely to play out. So several weeks ago we dug up our worms and planted them."

During the recent cold spell the worm farm was stored in the cellar near the furnace.

Jones claims the worms are now thoroughly domesticated, and answer to their names when called. This was not demonstrated, however, to the parties who inspected the farm.

BILL ON CIVIL SERVICE FOR PROHIBITION AGENTS AMENDED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Civil service for prohibition agents has advanced a step nearer realization, with the reporting of an amended House bill by the Senate Civil Service Committee.

After refusing to hear Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, because of the objection of its chairman, Senator Couzens (Rep.), Michigan, the committee agreed upon a bill containing a broad change in language from the House measure, which Wheeler had indorsed.

As explained by members of the committee the proposal is in part the House bill, part the Tinkham bill and part the suggestion of Assistant Secretary Andrews of the Treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement, who appeared before the committee.

After the measure was reported to the Senate, Representative Tinkham (Rep.), of Massachusette, issued a statement attacking Wheeler and congratulating the committee for ignoring the Anti-Saloon League.

"For the first time in 15 years a committee of Congress has refused to cringe and to abase itself before the fanatical commands of the Anti-Saloon League," he said. "The front of professional and political ecclesiastical domination of Federal legislation at last has been broken."

WOMAN'S COOKING BUILT ALASKA HOTEL

Mrs. Harriet Pullen, Stranded in 1899 With $7 and 4 Children, Becomes Famous.

By the Associated Press.

SKAGWAY, Alaska, April 14.—Many tourists from the States know Mrs. Harriet Pullen of the famous Pullen House, which is 1500 miles as a plane flies from Ketchikan, at the southeastern tip of Alaska to Nome, out to the Northwest on Bering Sea.

All over the world, wherever linger those madmen and others who came rushing to Alaska and the Klondike—to the eastward, in Canada—for gold in 1898 and 1899, Mrs. Pullen is loved.

A handful of women became famous because they were able to stand beside the sprinkling of men in uncounted myriad goldrushers who were hard enough to conquer the North—and of all that bright company the men of the Golden North count Mrs. Pullen the brightest.

Young, comely, strong Harriet Pullen was daughter of a rancher on Puget Sound in Washington State. She came to Alaska in 1898 with her four children to go with her husband over the Chilkoot Trail or the equally terrible White Pass Trail into the Klondike for gold.

Had $7 Capital.

She lost her husband. Camped on the beach here she had $7.00—and four little children.

The rush was never so mad that men did not eat, and the mother with the four children and $7.00 went to cooking. She cooked so well and withal was so kind and helpful that those thousands passing through here and up the White Pass Trail or through Dyea, four miles from Skagway, and up the Chilkoot Trail called her the Mother of the North. She prospered and bought out old Cap Moore's boarding house in Skagway.

The boarding house she developed into Pullen House, a 20-room modern hotel, standing in a landscape garden of several acres split by a mountain stream with an island and rustic bridges. Canadians opening up their country came with a railroad over White Pass—the White Horse and Yukon.

The railroad still runs, and Mrs. Pullen still prospers because the Whitehanded Children of the Outside come taking this fast route to see the sights of the North. Pullen House is reputed to have entertained more distinguished guests than any other hostelry in the North.

Mrs. Pullen's oldest son was Dan. He attended the University of Washington, which then had a preparatory school, five years. President Roosevelt gave him the first appointment from Alaska to West Point. He became all-American tackle, and graduated among the first five cadets in his class.

Into the World War he went as a Colonel of Engineers. He was pressed into service as a tank commander.

With his squadron of tanks he took a German position, but infantry following him failed to consolidate. To hold the position, Pullen hastened back afoot, reformed the infantry, led them back and retook the position. He died of sleeping sickness, attributed to war service, two years ago.

Royal Pullen graduated from the University of Washington, playing guard, and was an officer in the World War. Both brothers were cited for gallantry and Gen. Pershing once exclaimed: "I wish I had a regiment of Pullens."

FILES THIRD DIVORCE SUIT AGAINST WILLIAM KRANKE

Wife Withdrew Second Petition, Charging She Caught Loan Firm Head With Another Woman.

Mrs. Adelaide Kranke of 6807 Pershing avenue yesterday withdrew her second divorce suit against William Kranke, president of the Kranke Loan Co., 505 Pine street, and replaced it with a third petition in which she alleges infidelity and names a co-respondent.

The Krankes married in August, 1922. Last August, Mrs. Kranke sued for divorce, alleging general indignities, but withdrew her petition after a reconciliation, which failed last February, after which a second suit was filed by her.

Last week Kranke sued at Clayton to get back a half-interest in the home and a $5000 automobile, which he said he gave his wife after the reconciliation. In her third suit Mrs. Kranke asserts that on March 18 she followed her husband and another woman in an automobile and was attacked and knocked down by the woman while Kranke stood idly by.

Mrs. Kranke asserts her husband has property of at least $150,000 and annual income of $25,000. She asks $75,000 gross alimony.

LATIN-AMERICAN TRADE TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING HERE

Third Conference of Mississippi Valley Foreign Commerce Body to Open April 21.

Ways and means of developing trade in the Latin-American countries, particularly Mexico and Cuba, will be discussed at length at the third Mississippi Valley Foreign Trade Conference, to open in St. Louis April 21.

W. F. Saunders, secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico City, will be a speaker, and invitations have been extended to various Latin-American editors. It is hoped, at the conference, to bring before the visiting editors the growing importance of St. Louis in import and export business.

According to James A. Troy, secretary of the Conference Committee, Mexico buys $14,000,000 worth of St. Louis products a year, and Cuba $16,000,000.

ARTISTS MAY STARVE, BUT THEY LIVE TO RIPE OLD AGE

Many of England's Painters Are Past 70 and They Are Living and Painting Still.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 14.—Artists may starve in Chelsea garrets, as Sir Joseph Duveen suggests, but starvation does not shorten their lives, if one may judge by the longevity of many of England's painters.

Sir Luke Fildes is 82, Joseph Farquharson is 79. Both Sir David Murray and Sir Aston Webb are 77, and Walter Ouless is 78. Sir Frank Dicksee, the president of the British Academy, is a mere child among academicians, being only 71. Claude Monet, the celebrated French impressionist, is 85. Titian lived to be 96, and so many of the other old masters reached a ripe age that present-day artists have plenty of precedent for longevity.

WEBSTER GROVES TO VOTE ON $290,000 IN BOND ITEMS

A special election to vote on two proposals to issue $290,000 of bonds for items voted down in an election March 15 last, will be held May 15 in Webster Groves. Decision to submit the propositions again was reached at a meeting of the Board of Aldermen Monday night.

One of the items would provide issuance of $225,000 in bonds for purchase and improvement of five parks and playgrounds, and the other provides for an expenditure of $65,000 for a new city hall. The present city hall is an old residence. Three other items in the last election were carried by the necessary two-thirds majorities. The city hall proposition was lost by 58 votes and the other lacked 234 votes of having the required majority.

How to Pasteurize Milk In the Home Explained By U. S. Dairy Experts

Post-Dispatch Bureau,

WASHINGTON, April 14.—In view of the recent decision of the Missouri Supreme Court invalidating the St. Louis pasteurized milk ordinance, the following process for home pasteurization with simple materials, obtained at the Department of Agriculture, should be of interest to householders and parents of growing children:

"A pail somewhat deeper than the bottles containing the milk and with a perforated false bottom is perhaps the most convenient utensil in which to pasteurize milk. An inverted pie plate with a few holes punched in it serves very well as the false bottom, its purpose being to raise the bottles from the bottom of the pail, allowing free circulation of the water and preventing the bottles from bumping. A good thermometer with the scale etched on the glass is needed. The ordinary floating dairy thermometer is likely to be inaccurate.

Pour Out a Little of Milk.

"For general use, milk is most conveniently pasteurized in the bottles in which it has been delivered. Pour out a little of the milk, replace the covers, punch a hole through the cap of one of the bottles and insert the thermometer. Set the bottles in a pail, fill with cold water nearly to the level of the milk and heat the contents until the thermometer in the milk registers 145 degrees Fahrenheit. Remove the pail from the heat and allow the bottles to remain in the water for 30 minutes, repeating if necessary to keep the temperature at 145 degrees. After the 30-minute period, replace the hot water gradually with cold until the temperature of the milk is down to 50 degrees. If necessary, use ice in the water to bring the milk to this temperature. After cooling, put bottles in the refrigerator and keep them at 50 degrees or less."

Milk for infants is best pasteurized in the nursing bottles in quantities needed for each feeding. This lessens the chance of contamination, they explain.

The process is basically the same as described above, with the added suggestion that a wire basket be used instead of the inverted pie plate. With this basket, all the bottles can be handled at one time, and there is less danger of scalding the fingers. It is recommended that an extra bottle be prepared to guard against the possibility of one bottle being broken in pasteurization.

How to Prepare Milk for Infants.

In pointing out the difference between general pasteurization and that of milk for infants, the experts said:

"With milk for infants, after the milk registers 145 degrees, the bottles should be removed from the pail, the thermometer removed from the milk and set in the water to which cold water has been added until the water also registers 145 degrees. Put the bottles back into the pail, cover with a heavy cloth and let stand for at least 30 minutes. Then cool the bottles as much as possible by running cold water into the pail, and store them in the refrigerator, or better still, pack broken ice about them before putting them into the refrigerator. Remove the miln from the refrigerator, bottle by bootle, as needed. If a bottle is warmed and not used, discard it; do not return it to the refrigerator to be used for later feeding."

As a general rule it is not a good policy to mix old milk with new, dairy experts said.

"New milk should never be mixed with old unless it is to be used at once," they said. "The old milk is likely to contain a larger proportion of bacteria. Some persons even go so far as to say that milk or cream that has been exposed to the air by being poured into other vessels for table or cooking should not be poured back into the general supply."

Vitamins A and B Not Hurt.

The experts said their investigations into pasteurization had convinced them that the heating to 145 degrees, while it killed or rendered ineffective the tuberculosis, diphtheria and typhoid germs, left vitamins A and B unimpaired. Other vitamins, however, were eliminated, partly or wholly, they contended, and for that reason the deficiency should be supplied by orange juice, juice of orange peel or potato water. Scurvy would result if the deficiency was not made up, they said.

Pasteurization has the solid support of the Department of Agriculture. Bulletin 342 of the department gives a detailed account of the history and processes of pasteurization, beginning with its discovery by Louis Pasteur in France and concluding with a chapter on "The Necessity for Pasteurization."

Under the latter head, it recites the many epidemics of typhoid and scarlet fevers, diphtheria and septic sore throats that have been traced directly to the milk supply.

No data are included regarding the State laws, such as the one in Missouri specifically permitting the sale of raw milk, yet pages are given to the growing use of pasteurization in the cities, particularly the larger ones. The officials said today they had not bothered with the State laws, but had confined themselves to statistics of city consumption.

Cities Adopt Pasteurization.

In the table appearing for the year 1921, the percentage of pasteurized milk sold in St. Louis was given at 92. Buffalo, N. Y., was listed as having 100 per cent of its milk pasteurized and New York City's supply was listed at 98 per cent.

According to this survey, the larger the city, the greater percentage of pasteurized milk consumed. Of the cities with more than 500,000 population, the average percentage of pasteurized milk was 95, while cities with populations from 100,000 to 500,000 dropped to 72 per cent. The percentage continued to drop until towns with populations between 10,000 and 25,000 had only an average of 53 per cent pasteurized milk.

Those who wish detailed information regarding milk, its uses and pasteurization can obtain two pamphlets free by writing to the Director of Publications of the Department of Agriculture. Farmer's Bulletin 1359, entitled, "Milk and Its Uses in the Home," is a nontechnical discussion intended for the housewife. Departmental Bulletin 342, entitled, "The Present Status of the Pasteurization of Milk," by S. Henry Ayers, bacteriologist of the Dairy Division of the Bureau of Animal Industry, is a more technical work.

ST. LOUIS FIRM GETS CONTRACT FOR STATE ROAD MARKERS

S. G. Adams Stamp and Stationery Co.'s Bid Was $10,528 on 15,000 of the Plates.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14.—The low bid of the Oklahoma State Penitentiary on the manufacture of about 15,000 road markers to be erected by the State Highway Commission along several state highways has ben rejected by the commission and the contract for the markers awarded to the S. G. Adams Stamp and Stationery Co. of St. Louis, which was the third low bidder. The Adams company bid was $10,528. The Oklahoma Penitentiary bid $8437 on the markers, which will be placed on state roads designated as routes in the Federal interstate highway system.

In rejecting the prison bid, the commissioners made no statement of policy concerning purchase of convict-made supplies. Chairman Theodore Gary stated he was agaisnt awarding it to the penitentiary and Commissioner Hugh Stephens said he had had an unsatisfactory experience in such contracts.

The next low bid of $10,094 by the Carter Weeks Co. of Kansas City was rejected on the ground the company had not had any experience in making road markers, although the commission a few minutes later awarded the Carter Weeks Co. the contract for manufacturing about 9000 warning and direction signs.

1,000,000 Japanese Live Abroad.

TOKIO, April 14.—Japanese living abroad, including those from Korea and Formosa, total approximately 1,100,000, recent statistics show. Asia has the largest number of Japanese with 686,000. In North America there are 153,000. Oceania has 127,000 and South America 60,000.

MEDICAL SOCIETY URGES USE OF PASTEURIZED MILK

A resolution advising citizens to use only pasteurized or certified milk and relating the disease-spreading dangers of raw milk not produced under conditions required for certified milk was adopted last night by the St. Louis Medical Society. It was drawn by the Committee on Health and Public Instruction as a result of a recent Supreme Court decision making invalid a city ordinance requiring the pasteurization of all milk not certified.

The resolution declares that the process of pasteurization does not destroy any of the vitamins. Objections to pasteurization had been raised on the grounds that it rendered the milk less nutrition.

Following announcement of the Supreme Court decision the larger St. Louis dairy companies said they would continue pasteurization of milk.

COUNTERCHARGES IN PROPOSED WARD STOCK SALE INQUIRY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Charges that W. B. Ward, baking magnate, had improperly used more than $8,000,000 of the General Baking Corporation's fund to finance personal dealings in its stock were followed by a counter-accusation that an investigation by a special stockholders' committee merely represented an attempt by William Deininger, former head of the corporation, to regain control.

The committee, asking that it be empowered to take action against the corporation's directors and officers, asserted that Ward and the Ward Securities Corporation had turned back to the General Baking treasury 119,900 shares of Class "A" stock, for which they were paid $8,547,935. These transactions, it was said, were made without the knowledge or approval of the board of directors until April 6, when a resolution ratifying them was adopted.

After the Ward holdings had been unloaded on the corporation at an average price of almost $72 a share, the Class "A" stock broke sharply on the curb market and yesterday reached a new low level at $44.50 before rallying to around $50.

Ward's activities, the committee indicated, were made possible by his acquisition of a controlling interest in the General Baking Corporation, which he proposed to use as a nucleus for a $400,000,000 merger involving the Ward Baking and Continental Baking Corporations. The consolidation was never effected, and subsequent plans to form a $2,000,000,000 Ward-Food Products corporation were thwarted by Federal action. The General Baking Corporation, however, absorbed the old General Baking Co.

In California
—Think of This for Summer!

No Rain! Average Mean Temperature of 66 degrees for June, 70 for July, 71 for August, and for September, 69—records of the U. S. Weather Bureau for the past 50 years! And added to this comfort—all of Southern California's unique interest, great beauty and incomparable charm!

WHERE else? Nowhere else is there a land where summer recreation, summer fun and summer sports have such a "setting" to perfect them. Your favorite is here—as you have never known it heretofore—whether you are man, woman or child.

Here are, ready for you, not merely a "seashore," not "a mountain resort" only, not simply "golf," "sailing" or "bathing," but any of these "specialties" that you or your wife or son or daughter may select. And each on the grandest of grand scales.

It means merely jumping into motor cars or trolleys and being whisked off to this or that playground to which your whim inclines.

You may, some day, want to visit an old Spanish Mission, or see what a real desert, like Sahara, is. Or climb a mountain, or go camping, or pack into a wilderness in which you might not meet a human soul for weeks. Or attend a tea dansant at a fashionable hotel in a city of more than a million population.

Whatever your hobby may be, you simply mount and ride.

5000 miles of perfect motor roads will help you. Nearly 200,000 guide-signs placed by the world's largest automobile club direct you without charge.

You're a guest and Southern California serves you.

It is this year-'round attraction that brings new scores of thousands here each year to build a home and stay. It is this rare charm that sends as many vacationists to Southern California in Summer as in Winter.

It is this allurement that will make this Summer the most delightful you have ever spent if you come here.

Yes, the railroads are co-operating with you—extra low round-trip fares from May 15th until October 31st are offered.

And for very little extra you can come via Los Angeles and San Diego and return by way of Santa Barbara, Del Monte, San Francisco, Oakland, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane and see the entire great Pacific Coast in one outstanding, unforgettable trip.

Don't miss it. Insure it now.

We have issued probably the most complete book on vacations ever put in print. 47 pages, illustrated. Don't plan your summer elsewhere until you get a copy free. Just mail coupon below.

DR. HIGGINS DENIES HE IS HUSBAND OF MRS. BUFORD

She Has Sued Him for Divorce, but He Says He Knows Her Only as a Nurse.

Dr. Samuel Higgins of Glenwood Sanitarium, Webster Groves, said today that he is not the husband of Mrs. Margaret E. Buford, who has sued him here for divorce, asserting she married him in 1919 as Charles G. Wilson, at Mandeville, Ark.

Dr. Higgins declared he never saw Mrs. Buford before Feb. 10, last, when he joined the sanitarium staff and found her employed there as a nurse. He said his investigation disclosed that a Dr. James Bacon Buford is practicing in Mandeville.

In her petition, filed March 16, Mrs. Buford asserted Dr. Higgins deserted her 10 months after marriage. He says he has never been in Mandeville, and that he graduated from Barnes Medical College in 1902, and not Beaumont Medical College in 1896, as she alleges.

FOUR YOUTHS GET 20 YEARS EACH FOR NEW YORK MURDER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Richard Daunt, 16 years old; James Green, 18; Gustave Fischer, 19, and Fred Kellerman, 18, stood before Judge Adel in Queens County Court and pleaded guilty of murdering Angelo Mahairis, Jamaica restaurant keeper, March 21.

Herbert Koerber, 18, was convicted of first degree murder for the same crime last week. Koerber will be sentenced Friday to death in the electric chair. The four other boys were immediately sentenced, each to serve 20 years to life in Sing Sing.

The trial of Daunt had progressed as far as the selection of the fourth juror when his attorney offered a plea of guilty of second degree murder.

SENATE RESUMES DEBATE ON ITALIAN DEBT SETTLEMENT

World May Expect Revision of Dawes Plan, Robinson of Arkansas Says.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The world may expect revision of the Dawes plan and subsequent revision of any settlement of the Italian debt to the United States, Senator Robinson, Arkansas, the Democratic leader, declared today in the Senate during debate on the settlement.

If Germany defaults in her reparations payments, he said, the revision of the Dawes plan would be necessary and this would force a reduction of Italy's payments.

Senator Fess (Rep.) of Ohio, arguing in favor of the settlement, said it did not cancel one dollar of the debt but did make a concession in the interest rate.

Jersey Lad Says He Forgot to See if Revolver Was Loaded.

NEWARK, N. J., April 14.—Four-year-old Catherine Cocuzza was shot and killed today by her brother, Joseph Cocuzza, 12. The boy disappeared after he ran to the street shouting "I shot my sister; she doesn't answer me. Get a doctor."

The boy was found at the home of a playmate and confessed, but said the shooting was accidental. "I pointed the gun at her to show some of my friends that she wasn't afraid," he said. "Always before I played with the gun I looked to see if it was loaded, but I forgot."

How to Get Rid of Colds and Catarrh

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method That Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There are many people suffering from chronic catarrh who would like to know how they can stop catching cold after cold, for they must realize that sooner or later this may lead to deafness and other serious troubles.

Dr. Blosser, for years a specialist in catarrh, is the discoverer of a pleasant, direct method that can be used by women and children, as well as men. His remedy is made from medicinal herbs, flowers and berries which you smoke in a dainty pipe or cigarette, and inhale the vapor into the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs, carrying medicine where sprays, douches and salves cannot possibly reach. It contains no cubebs, tobacco or habit-forming drugs.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is effective in all forms of colds, catarrh, catarrhal headaches and ear troubles that may lead to deafness. You will breathe better and feel better after using it.

If you suffer from catarrh, asthma, catarrhal deafness, or, if subject to frequent colds, you should try Dr. Blosser's Remedy, which may be had at any drug store. Get one of the convenient pocket-size packages and prove for yourself the pleasant beneficial effects.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

G. M. S.—Arkansas is pronounced as if it were spelled Arkansaw. There is no proper pronunciation for proper words.

R. E. P.—Never lay meat directly on the ice. Place it on a dish or wrap it in paper before putting it in the refrigerator. Use for the purpose "butcher's paper." To wrap meat in newspaper is to poison it slightly. Moreover the practice is unclean. The best plan is to lay the raw meat on a clean dish and put a wire cover over it.

S. P. D. — The Society of St. Tammany, or the Columbian Order, was founded in New York City in 1789 by William Mooney as a social organization directed against aristocratic influences. Under the manipulation of Aaron Burr, who became powerful in society, it began its career as a partisan political organization in 1789. Its present home is Tammany Hall, No. 145 East Fourteenth street. The membership in 1925 was 750.

K. E. P. — The United States adopted standard time in 1883 on the initiative of the American Railway Association, and at noon of Nov. 18, 1883, the telegraphic time signals sent out daily from the Naval Observatory at Washington were changed to the new system, according to which the meridians of 75 degrees, 90 degrees, 105 degrees and 120 degrees west from Greenwich became the time meridians of Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific standard time, respectively. By act of Congress, approved March 19, 1918, standard time is made the legal time throughout the United States; in addition to the four time meridians already mentioned, the meridian 105 degrees west from Greenwich is established the time meridian of standard Alaska time; authority to readjust the boundary line between the time zones is lodged with the Interstate Commerce Commission. The commission has made the readjustment so as to bring the new limits of the zones about half way between the standard meridians. United States standard Eastern time is used from the Atlantic Ocean to a line through Toledo, Monroeville, Mansfield and Newark, O.; thence through Huntington, W. Va.; Norton, Va.; Johnson City, Tenn.; Asheville, N. C.; Atlanta and Macon, Ga., and Apalachicola, Fla. U. S. Standard Central time is used from this first line to a line through Mandan, N. D.; Pierre, S. D.; McCook, Neb.; Dodge City, Kan., and along the west line of Oklahoma and Texas. Standard Mountain time is used from the second line to a line that forms the western boundary of Montana, thence follows the Salmon River westward, the western boundary of Idaho southward, the southern boundary of Idaho eastward and thence passes southward through Ogden and Salt Lake City, Utah; Parker and Yuma, Ariz. U. S. Standard Pacific time is used from the third line to the Pacific Ocean. Almost all countries throughout the world use standard time that differs from Greenwich time by a whole number of hours or half-hours: a few countries, however, use standard time based on longitude of their national observatories.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

A. E.—He cannot sell your property under the mechanic's liens until he has gotten judgment in his suit.

JAP AND DON.—You can compel the telephone company to remove the wire unless they have an easement across your property for it.

MRS. E. A.—It is legal to keep the 5-gallon can of gasoline in the basement of your home, that is, there is no law prohibiting it, if the gasoline is not for sale, but is used for household purposes. If it is actually unsafe, you should report the facts to the police.

C. M. C.—On March 23 you were advised that if there was no agreement to the contrary, ordinarily the seller of the property pays for the examination of the title. The St. Louis Real Estate Exchange states that the prevailing practice is the purchaser pays for the examination of the title unless otherwise agreed.

M. M. P.—You do not have to have possession of the child for any length of time before adopting it. However, you will either have to have the written consent of the parents or else show that they have wilfully abandoned the child or have neglected to provide proper care and maintenance for the two years prior to the date of the filing of your petition for adoption.

M. G.—The Constitution requires that he be a natural-born citizen to be eligible to the office of President. Some courts have held that "natural born citizens" means all persons born in the jurisdiction or allegiance of the United States. The Supreme Court has never construed this clause of the Constitution, and it is doubtful whether they would hold that a person born of American parents or foreign suit was a "natural-born citizen." If he is not there is no way for him to become eligible for the presidency.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

V. O.—It is possible to determine some diseased conditions by examining the eyes and especially the interior of the eyeball, with an instrument employed for that purpose, but we are quite sure that a sore on the gall bladder is not one of them.

CONSTANT READER.—The following stomachic tonic should relieve you: Tincture of nux vomica ½ ounce, powdered papoid and bismuth subnitrate, of each 2 drachms, com. tincture of gentian and elixir lacto-peptine of each 2 ounces. Mix; shake well and take two teaspoonful doses in wine glass water 3 times daily before meals. The diet plays an important part in such conditions and if you will send stamped envelope we will provide a diet list for your guidance.

IRENE.—Eczema is not contagious. It has many stages—anyway three well defined ones, and it happens that an appropriate treatment for one stage would be positively harmful in another. So we cannot suggest a treatment without knowing just what stage of the disease we have to deal with. It may not be positively harmful for a mother to nurse a baby under such circumstances, but it is unnecessary and very ill advised. A doctor can usually tell.

C. & N. W. Gas-Electric Cars.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 14. — Because the motor car has so reduced the short-haul passenger traffic of its lines that steam locomotives are no longer profitable on branch lines, the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad is experimenting with gas-electric motor cars, President Sargent told stockholders of the road at their annual meeting here. Three fas-electric cars have been substituted for locomotives already for short-haul passenger carrying, he said, and three more will be in operation within 30 days.

EX-U. S. NARCOTIC OFFICER FREED OF MANN ACT CHARGE

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 14.—Dr. Erwin C. Ruth, former head of the New England narcotic division, who has been held here since Friday on charges brought under the Mann act, will be set free, it is announced Federal authorities in the District of Columbia and in Kansas City, on whose behalf the arrest was made, reported they did not wish to proceed against him.

Dr. Ruth, who has been living in Montreal for two years, had been held as a fugitive from justice, and committed to jail in default of $25,000 bail.

The charges against him were based on the complaint of the father of Miss May Cookson of Needham, who alleged that Ruth traveled about the country for months with the girl. It was said that a further charge of selling narcotics had been brought against Ruth in Kansas City. Ruth said he was willing to be taken to Washington for trial, but would resist extradition to Kansas City. Telegrams received today from both jurisdictions said that prosecution had been dropped.

To Discuss Army's Religious Needs

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Three St. Louis ministers have been invited by the War Department to attend a three-day nonsectarian conference in Washington, May 4, 5 and 6, to make a survey of the religious needs of the army and to recommend such plans as may intensify the general program for the moral training of soldiers. About 100 prominent churchmen and educators will participate. The St. Louisans who have been invited are the Rev. John Baltzer, president of the Evangelical Synod of North America; the Rev. F. W. Burnham, Disciples' Church, and Bishop N. C. Cleaves, general conference of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church.

SHARP BEAR ATTACK LATE ON 'CHANGE

U. S. Steel Around Low for the Year—Selling Pressure on Sugars and Some Food Shares Earlier in Day as Other Stocks Did Better.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Renewed liquidation of speculative stocks, in the face of improved credit conditions and a good market for bonds, depressed prices on the stock market today. After heavy selling of sugar shares in response to unsettled conditions in Cuba had unsettled the list in the forenoon, speculators for the decline launched a sharp attack against the pivotal issues in the last few minutes and scored successes in General Electric, U. S. Steel and Hudson Motors, all falling to around the year's low levels. Steel broke through to a new low for the year, imparting weakness to the entire list. Money rates eased further, renewals being arranged at 4½ per cent, after which the rate fell to 4 per cent. Bonds were in generally good demand, traction and rail issues being bought briskly. Government issues were steady, while utilities received support.

Sugar and Food Shares Weak.

"Speculators for the decline centered their attacks on shares of sugar producing and refining companies, together with several of the food stocks, and effected sharp declines in several instances. Lower prices for raw sugar, coupled with signs of unrest and financial stringency in Cuba, formed the basis for pressure against sugar stocks. South Porto Rica Sugar shares broke 19 points to 100, while shares of Punta Alegre, American Sugar Refining, Cuba Cane preferred and Great Western were heavy. National Biscuit, National Dairy Products and Coca Cola declined rather easily. Disappointment over the failure of directors of National Biscuit to declare more than a quarterly dividend of $1 a share seemed to be reflected in selling of this stock. Industrials showed a tendency to sag as a result of profit-taking and renewed liquidation, losses being rather general in standard stocks as well as specialties.

Traction Securities Rise.

"Demand continued strong for traction securities, Manhattan modified and New York Railway certificates scoring advances, while Interborough and Third Avenue were in demand. Rail and public utility stocks were quieter and moved within narrow limits. Motor shares were under pressure for a time, but rallied in response to covering by shorts. The covering movement gained momentum in the afternoon, when the rate for money again became easier. Although the weekly trade surveys of the steel industry were less optimistic, revealing some slackening of new business, further reports came to hand of high operations in the first quarter. General Electric bookings were $2,500,000 larger, while earnings of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. increased. Commercial failures reported by R. G. Dun & Co. in the first quarter were the smallest in the amount of liabilities since the first quarter of 1920.

Foreign Exchanges Lower.

"Exchange rates took a downward course, with weakness general throughout the European list. Canadian rates, however, were strong, advancing to a premium of ¼ per cent, the highest rate for the year. Sterling lost ⅛c, while Belgian francs declined 2 points and Spanish exchange lost most of yesterday's sharp rise. French francs and the Scandinavian exchanges were lower.

Grain Price Irregular.

"Price fluctuations in the principal commodity markets were narrow. An early advance in grain was followed by some profit-taking and closing prices were irregular. Cotton worked slightly higher.

COMMERCIAL LOANS BACK ALMOST TO LAST FALL LEVEL

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Rapid reduction in the loans of Federal Reserve member banks to brokers and dealers in securities last month and an increased demand for loans to finance current operations of industry and trade were reported today by the Federal Reserve Board. Commercial loans have increased from the first of the year almost to the record level reached in these transactions last fall.

The decline in loans to brokers and security dealers amounted to about $450,000,000 in the first three months of 1926, a reduction of more than 40 per cent from the increase in this class of loans last year.

The decrease was attributed in part to the recent drop in security prices with the consequent falling off in the credit requirements of the market.

Despite the large reduction in loans, conditions in the money market were reported as remaining firm.

Norfolk Southern Net Income Up.

NORFOLK, Va., April 14.—Net income of the Norfolk Southern Railroad increased from $408,521 in 1924 to $512,522 in 1925, stockholders were advised in the sixteenth annual report submitted to them here by President George R. Loyall.

The gain was in the face of decreased [illegible] revenues, which fell $244,225, or [illegible] per cent lower than 1924, and a [illegible] in gross revenue of $160,050. [illegible] improvement in operating efficiency made possible the increased earnings, Mr. Loyall reported. [illegible] railway operating income was listed at $1,445,789, and total assets of the [illegible] were given as $42,537,257.

Frederick N. Frasier, chairman of the General Baking Corporation, today denied reports that the directors contemplated a reduction in the dividend on the "A" stock. Earnings in 1925 were well in excess of dividend requirements, he said, and this year were exceeding those of 1925 and would be sufficient to meet the $5 rate, leaving a surplus adequate for the corporation's conservative expansion policy. "The corporation is strong in cash, owes no money and sales are high and steadily increasing," he added.

Jordan Motor Co. earned $1.16 a share on 126,000 no par shares in the first quarter of 1926 with net profit of $146,381 after depreciation and other charges but before Federal taxes. Net profit in the corresponding period last year was $205,138 before taxes and depreciation.

Gifford, president of the company, informed stockholders the volume of telephone business in the first quarter had shown substantial increase over the same period of 1925, toll and long distance business holding at a high level, thus reflecting the generally good business conditions. "Our continued efforts to develop transoceanic telephony," Mr. Gifford asserted, "are in line with the policy of your company to provide for the Bell System any improvement in telephony that will increase the range and usefulness of telephone communication."

Wall Street News and Comment

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Prices went lower on the stock exchange today under another wave of selling, which was the most pronounced in the last half hour of trading. Early in the day it was the sugar stocks which were subjected to severe pressure, while most other groups held comparatively firm, [illegible] in the afternoon weakness spread to other groups, especially the motors and recent industrial favorites. Hudson Motors broke sharply and below 62 compared with the Tuesday final of 68¼. General Motors was offered freely at lower prices, and Mack Trucks came off sharply. The decline in South Porto Rico Sugar carried the price below the 100 level, where it was down almost 25 points on the day. The close was weak at practically bottom figures in most instances.

The Bond Market.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Another strong bond market today was accompanied by further advances. Buying of the legal rails was particularly impressive. Fluctuations in this grade are always small, but the trend was still distinctly upward and orders for large blocks were understood to have been placed just below the market, preventing any substantial reduction.

New high records for the year were made by the fourth 4¼ Libertys, New York Central 5s and Caandian Pacific 4s, Atchison general 4s and Pennsylvania general 4½s equaled their previous highs. Special buying appeared in all the Baltimore & Ohio obligations, the first 4s advancing nearly a point. Baltimore & Ohio first 5s and Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern 5s were very strong.

Local tractions continued active. Buying went on in the Interboro bonds and notes, the 6 per cent notes gaining nearly a point. New York Railways 6s were equally in demand at an advance of about a point. Third Avenue adjustments and Manhattan Railway 4s went up with the others. There was active trading in Hudson & Manhattan incomes, but not much change in the price.

Some of the Cuban Sugar bonds sold off slightly but offerings were not large. In the railway list the Missouri Pacific issues were active fractionally higher.

Features in the foreign group were the Brazil bonds and the Sweden issues. Brazil 8s got up to 103, within a point of the record high, and Brazil 7s were actively bought.

The new $6,000,000 Department of the Antioquia, Colombia, 20-year 7s offered at 91½ were reported heavily oversubscribed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TRACTION STOCK PRICE REBOUNDS ON EXCHANGE

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, April 14.—United Railways preferred recovered some of yesterday's setback in the trading today. Aside from the sale of 255 shares of the traction stock (certificates of deposits) little was done in the afternoon. Some International Shoe sold up a fraction and a little National Candy down a point or more.

In the morning session, besides the rebound in the local traction issue, Consolidated Lead and Wagner Electric sold at unchanged prices in initial transactions.

The trade was rather quiet during morning. Waltke and Ely-Walker were next to the traction stock, the most active, selling at unchanged prices.

Steel Industry Situation.

NEW YORK, April 14.—"New orders for finished steel have slackened in the past week," Iron Age says, "and there is some recession from the high rate of production maintained throughout March. As against an operation up to full ingot capacity for more than half of this month, the Steel Corporation's rate is now put at somewhat above 95 per cent. In the Pittsburgh and Youngstown districts the average for all producers is slightly under 80 per cent as against 85 per cent in the latter part of March."

The Iron Age composite price for pig iron has dropped to $20.46 per gross ton, or 92 cents in two weeks. The composite price for finished steel remains at 2.439 cents per pound for the third successive week.

Large Supply of Stored Apples.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Reports today from the Government Bureau of Agricultural Economics show that the national supply of apples in cold storage is 44 per cent over and above the total a year ago and is 30 per cent above the average of the last five years. City wholesale prices of apples are fully a third below the 1925 levels and shipments are double the volume. Nevertheless, dealers are in doubt whether apples on hand will not yet be in active competition with the new summer crop.

MIXED SMALL CHANGES ON THE CURB MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Many issues on the curb showed a steady to firm tone all through the day, a feature being the evidence of a demand at or slightly under the recently prevailing prices. When declines occurred, because of a renewal of liquidation, rallies were quickly in order. The changes in general, however, were of only small amounts and about evenly divided between gains and losses.

The baking stocks were actively traded. Continental Baking "A" moved up to 87, while the "B" stock declined. General Baking "A" and "B" both showed losses in the first half of the day under a moderate amount of selling. Coal stocks were strong, due to the fact that weather conditions are increasing consumption to an unusual extent. Glen Alden moved up 2 points in the initial sales. Electric Refrigeration continued in supply and Gillette Safety Razor, after an advance at the start, dropped about 2 points. Yellow Taxi, which started on a reaction yesterday, continued a slow downward movement.

Public utilities were fairly well held, although some issues yielded after the opening. Northern States Power was strong and an advance also was made in American Power and Light. Electric Bond and Share reacted after an early gain. United Gas Improvement was established at a moderately higher level during the first half of the day.

Oil stocks generally were firm: advances being made in International Petroleum and Prairie Oil. Lago sagged off slightly and there was little change in the position of Carib Syndicate. Tidewater-Associated Oil made a fractional gain. There was a good demand for some of the mining stocks.

TRACTION STOCK PRICE REBOUNDS ON EXCHANGE

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, April 14.—United Railways preferred recovered some of yesterday's setback in the trading today.

Aside from the sale of 255 shares of the traction stock (certificates of deposits) little was done in the afternoon. Some International Shoe sold up a fraction and a little National Candy down a point or more.

In the morning session, besides the rebound in the local traction issue, Consolidated Lead and Wagner Electric sold at unchanged prices in initial transactions.

The trade was rather quiet during morning. Waltke and Ely-Walker were next to the traction stock, the most active, selling at unchanged prices.

Steel Industry Situation.

NEW YORK, April 14.—"New orders for finished steel have slackened in the past week," Iron Age says, "and there is some recession from the high rate of production maintained throughout March. As against an operation up to full ingot capacity for more than half of this month, the Steel Corporation's rate is now put at somewhat above 95 per cent. In the Pittsburg and Youngstown districts the average for all producers is slightly under 80 per cent as against 85 per cent in the latter part of March."

The Iron Age composite price for pig iron has dropped to $20.46 per gross ton, or 21 cents in two weeks. The composite price for finished steel remains at 2.439 cents per pound for the third successive week.

Large Supply of Stored Apples.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Reports today from the Government Bureau of Agricultural Economics show that the national supply of apples in cold storage is 44 per cent over and above the total a year ago and is 30 per cent above the average of the last five years. City wholesale prices of apples are fully a third below the 1925 levels and shipments are double the volume. Nevertheless, dealers are in doubt whether apples on hand will not yet be in active competition with the new summer crop.

COTTON PRICES HIGHER ON NEW YORK MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The cotton market was more active and higher in today's early trading, owing to heavy domestic consumption figures, an unfavorable interpretation of the weekly report of the Weather Bureau, and apprehensions that the better weather reported in the South today would be followed by a renewal of unsettled conditions.

Cables were lower than due, but the opening here was steady at a decline of one point to an advance of three points. Active months soon showed net gains of 9 to 12 points, May selling up to 18.99c and October to 17.57c on covering, trade and commission house buying.

The report of the Census Bureau showed domestic consumption of 634,593 bales for March, compared with 583,407 last year and with the previous high record of 624,264 bales reported in March, 1923.

The demand tapered off after the early advance, but realizing sales were absorbed on comparatively slight setbacks. Enough further buying was influenced by the consumption figures or the fear of a renewal of unsettled weather in the South to hold prices steady late in the morning. May was selling around 18.96c and October 18.53 at midday, or about 6 to 7 points net higher.

Afternoon trading remained quiet with comparatively little change in prices. At 2 o'clock May was selling around 18.97 and October at 17.52 or 6 to 8 points net higher.

The demand for refined sugar was fair and prices were unchanged at 5c to 5.25c for fine granulated.

MAY WHEAT AGAIN IS FEATURE OF THE TRADE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Wheat trade today was less excited but the market showed nearly as much strength as on Tuesday. Shorts were covering whenever a good opportunity showed and longs were taking profits. The start was without feature except for some commission house selling. On the dip it looked as if big Eastern shorts were again trying to get in their lines. They had to force up prices to get wheat, but on the bulge there was good selling from houses which recently have been buying. Some in the trade felt that the big shorts were trying to cover up their buying by using different brokers today.

Weakness in Northwest markets caused some realizing sales in wheat late and much of the early gains were wiped out. Minneapolis mills reported flour buyers cancelling old purchases. Closing prices were ⅜c higher to ¾c lower. New May $1.63¼ to $1.64¼, old $1.62¾. July $1.39 to $1.38⅞, Sept. $1.33½. Corn sold ½c to ⅜c lower on scattered liquidation; May 72⅞c, July 76⅞c to 77c, Sept. 79½c to 79⅝c. Oats were ⅛c higher, May 42c to 42⅛c, July 42½c to 42⅝c, Sept. 42⅝c. Lard closed 17½c to 20c lower, ribs and bellies 10c lower. Local cash sales were 15,000 bu of wheat, 57,000 of corn, 8000 of oats, and 6000 of barley. The seaboard reported 1,000,000 bu of wheat and 150,000 of rye taken for export.

The May delivery is congested and most action is in that month. The premium of May over July has increased to more than 25c. New crop months didn't share so much in the action.

Winnipeg advices said that for the first time on the crop the pool has failed to put out hedges on the bulge and this was taken to mean that they had all their holdings hedged. The pool was credited with selling 2,000,000 bushels of wheat Tuesday for export. There was little export activity at the seaboard today.

Minneapolis reported flour trade quiet on the advance. Stocks decreased 250,000 bushels for four days and at Kansas City 121,000. Weather over the spring wheat belt was wintry and unfavorable to planting but it was favorable over the winter belt.

Corn was firm. Commission houses were on both sides at the start and later local shorts were disposed to cover when estimated receipts of only 64 cars were posted. Weather conditions also are unfavorable for the corn movement. Moderate shipping business was reported.

Oats were firm with other grains. Commission houses with Northwest connections were principal buyers. Some shipping sales were made.

Provisions were easier with hogs.

UNION PACIFIC EARNED IN 1925 15.40 PCT. ON COMMON STOCK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Net income of the Union Pacific System in 1925 from all sources amounted to $38,231,960, the annual report revealed today, exceeding the previous year's total by $2,477,855. Surplus for the common stock of the Union Pacific Railroad Co., after preferred dividends and sinking fund requirements, was $34,230,639, a gain of $2,467,853, and equivalent to 15.40 per cent on the par value common stock, against 14.29 per cent the year before. Surplus transferred to profit and loss was $12,001,479, compared with $9,533,625 the year before. Net income from transportation operations increased $2,125,484.

An increase of $1,772,735 in freight revenue was attributed to larger crops in States west of the Rocky Mountains and heavier movements of lumber, agricultural implements and automobiles, coupled with marked improvement in the mining industry and a continued increase in the oil industry in Union Pacific territory. The report noted a substantial decrease in the movement of grains and mill products from Kansas and Nebraska. The movement of live stock also was below normal.

Passenger revenue dropped $1,542,846, due partly to continued diversion of local short haul business to motor vehicles.

RECEIPTS AGAIN FACTOR IN HOG PRICE TREND

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., April 14.—Receipts today, estimated: Cattle and calves, 5500; hogs, 14,500; sheep, 1000.

HOGS—Comparatively heavy hog receipts for the midweek session resulted in a slow market at what proved to be weaker values in some instances. Arrivals were estimated at 14,500 head with 1000 going through. Eleven markets received a total of 96,100 head today, against 84,220 last Wednesday and 99,460 a year ago today. Quality of the local supply was good today.

Opening rounds were very dull and weak except on light lights and pigs, market ruling barely steady with the average yesterday on shipping weight hogs. Offerings from 160 to 190 pounds average sold at $13.25 to $13.35 early, a few making up to $13.50 the top. Light butcher hogs from 200 to 220 pounds average ranged from $12.75 to $13.10 with some weightier kinds from 240 to 250 pounds at $12.40 to $12.65. Packers were out of the early market, most buying done on shipping account or by local butchers.

Pigs were in good demand and sold at 10c to 15c advance over the best time yesterday. Several lots of 130 to 140 pound averages made $13.50 with some choice kinds of this weight as high as $13.65. Others sold downward to $13 and $13.25 with plain Southern stuff lower according to weight and quality.

Packer sows were 15c to 25c lower than yesterday. Buyers paid $10.75 sparingly for light sows with medium and heavy kinds selling at $10.50 to $10.60. Stags were unchanged at $8 to $10.

Order buyers and butchers had filled their orders before noon and left the remainder of the run for packers. These operators insisted on 40c to 50c decline from yesterday and salesmen refused to accede. This brought the market to a standstill.

Dry Goods Market Review.

Reproduction of Issue of April 9, 1926

84 pages

The Post-Dispatch was the first newspaper, in any of the leading cities of the world, to issue a regular daily edition of 64 pages. It was the first to issue 76 pages. Friday, April 9th, the Post-Dispatch achieved the added distinction of being the first to issue an 84-page daily newspaper.

In no sense have these records been made through "special edition" efforts. The volume of advertising in each instance was due to the normal demand of those advertisers who have found, through years of experience, that it is most profitable for them to concentrate the bulk of their sales messages in the Post-Dispatch.

Each copy of this 84-page newspaper weighed one and one-fourth pounds. Postage, paid by the Post-Dispatch, in the first zone cost two and one-third cents per copy; in other zones increasing to nine and one-third cents in the eighth zone. Mailed by an individual, the postage ranged from 8 cents in the first to 26 cents in the eighth zone.

More than 236,000 copies were printed. The paper consumed weighed 298,919 pounds—six car loads. The ink weighed 4422 pounds. More than 8000 people were employed in the production and distribution of this record newspaper.

On the same day the Post-Dispatch alone carried 37,080 lines more paid advertising than all three other St. Louis newspapers added together.

JULIA HOYT

By Hannah Stein.

ARTICLE IV.

WITH an exotic-looking living room in Greenwich Village as a background, the tall, beautiful Julia Hoyt, actress, looked like a goddess in strange surroundings. Every inch of her the artistic and ultra-society matron, one associated her more readily with palatial homes and gardens and innumerable servants rather than with this quaint little house with a plain brick facade in McDougal alley.

"Not only is it a fallacy to believe that marriage interferes with a career," Mrs. Hoyt said, "but marriage should be an incentive for a career to the sensible woman. Her new life should teach her that there are a great many important things she can do.

"Of course I have in mind the society woman who has considerable time on her hands. I know her best, and I know that she hires some one for almost every imaginable service in her home, so I refer to her particularly."

"But if she has children?"

"That doesn't matter. She usually has a large enough staff to look after them, too.

"If I felt that mothers stayed at home to rear their children, the argument would end right here, because no one should dispute a woman's obligations to her children if she is intense and takes motherhood seriously. The trouble is that a woman does not stay at home anyway.

"She runs around to stupid teas and card parties, and wastes considerable energy in other ways. And in addition to the waste of perfectly good time, spending one's hours like that isn't one bit satisfying to the married woman who has the wanderlust.

"There is nothing lasting in that kind of diversion, nothing to hope for and to strive for; because cards and teas combined haven't the substance for giving one contentment."

Gloria Gould.

THE youthful Gloria Gould, who surprised society by teaching dancing and then becoming manager of the Embassy Theater in New York, shortly after her daughter was born, said that marriage and the influence of a child enriched her life so that she had greater possibilities of succeeding, than ever before.

"You cannot imagine how companionship changes one's life. Every girl hopes for that kind of relationship in marriage. But only after one has been as fortunate in finding it as I, does she realize how essential it is toward success in anything.

"That is why I say that if I were giving advice to a girl on the point of marriage, I would tell her to be sure he is the sort of fellow who acknowledges her as a human being, not merely as a member of the opposite sex. Otherwise let her not hurry. No good ever comes of such a marriage. And I admire the woman who has the courage of her convictions to remain unmarried despite public opinion. I think she is very brave —and wise, too, don't you think so?

"I learned quite early in life that a career was one thing, and one's private life in the home another. Even before I married, I thought about it a good deal because I was interested in dancing and I worked out a scheme in my mind to disassociate the two so that they should not conflict.

"When I married I found that my theory applied itself satisfactorily. There wasn't any friction whatsoever. And if they do not overlap, marriage and a career must be a good combination.

"Every now and then when I have occasion to say in the presence of men that a career is a good thing for the married woman to fall back on in an emergency, they tell me: 'Oh, of course, it's all right for you. Dancing does not count. Women can do that all right when they are married. But there are so many things a woman cannot do that she is trying to tackle. She is fighting her way to get into places where she doesn't fit.' That's the objection.

"Don't you think that's absurd? Really, I think women are marvelous these days. There isn't any limit to their capacity for doing things. I cannot imagine how any man can fail to see it. Maybe he doesn't fail at all, but he pretends not to see it so as to make women think he thinks that way, and possibly succeed in discouraging her. Funny, isn't it?"

Lynn Fontanne.

WHILE Lynn Fontanne was "making-up" for the next performance of Shaw's comedy, "Arms and the Man," I sat in her dressing room discussing the compatibility of marriage and careers.

"In the case of an actress with an actor husband, I can see marriage interfering if one of them plays poorly and for a sentimental reason they prefer to be in the same production. A condition like that is dangerous both for the career and the marriage relation, because just as soon as one realizes that the other hangs like a noose around the neck, trouble begins.

"Alfred Lunt (my husband) and I feel safe in depending upon each other for co-operation. And off the stage we never suffer from a vacuity in conversation because our interests are common and we have a good deal to talk about."

Miss Fontanne contracted the popular theory that husbands and wives endanger the bonds of marriage by taking part in the same production and seeing too much of each other.

"You don't see your husband or any one else at all when you act together. Chance meetings with each other in the course of acting do not count, and conversation on the stage surely has no bearing on personal relations. Perhaps it seems paradoxical to the layman. But it is true nevertheless.

"If you know how the mind of an actress works during a performance, you understand that there isn't the time or the inclination to think about anything else but the part. One has all she can do to concentrate on the play and keep it running smoothly."

Even if an actress has children, Lynn Fontanne said, marriage should not interfere with her career.

"A good many actress-mothers have children and look after them properly, too. I can mention cases where actresses raised their children without the help of trained nurses because they could not afford them.

"You see, in my profession, it matters less than anything else. If I had children, couldn't I be with them during their waking hours? We do not have to get to the theater until after an hour when children are in bed. And as for the one or two afternoon performances a week, doesn't every mother go out of her home for a few hours?"

Anne Parrish.

ANNE PARRISH, who has just reached the pinnacle of success through "The Perrenial Bachelor," Harper's prize novel, said that she began to write after she was married, when she found time hanging heavily on her hands.

"When my husband left in the morning and I had nothing to do all day except to go to parties and teas, I preferred to stay at home and write. But my husband was not to know anything about it when I wrote my first novel. I didn't have the courage to tell him because I had no idea that it ever would go to press. And I carried my secret to such a limit that when I submitted my story to a publisher I signed my maiden name so as not to use the name of Corliss in vain.

"'What do you suggest?' I consulted my husband when I received work of acceptance. 'Should I leave it under Anne Parrish or change it to Anne Corliss?' 'Since I haven't read it, you better keep me out of it,' my husband answered good-humoredly. So I have remained Anne Parrish in my novels ever since, though for no Lucy Stonean theory.

Mrs. Corliss said that in her case marriage did not interfere with her career because unfortunately she had no children and she utilized only the hours that her husband was away.

Mrs. Corliss said further that in a discussion on marriages and careers one must not forget that contact with a companionable husband helped a career.

"A woman thinking alone may lose her balance every now and then. But the intermingling and interchanging of ideas helps her to reach a fairer average in her outlook on life.

"Men have begun to realize that, too, and they also are finding out that the woman who suffers from a nervous breakdown almost invariably is she who hasn't enough to do to keep her mind busy. So, with the exception of a few isolated cases, husbands are very much in sympathy with this new-fangled idea of wives following careers.

"It is a good thing for women, provided, of course, they have a sense of proportion and do not permit a career to interfere with marriage. But there isn't much danger. Women instinctively think first about their husband and families, don't you think so?"

Florence Easton.

BEFORE I met Florence Easton I inquired of her manager, "Did she have a number of marriages? I shall not be able to ask her bluntly if she still is married, yet it is important that I know."

"She is not that kind," he told me. "While other artists spend their time marrying and getting out of it again. Mme. Easton found more and more reason to be happy in her first and only marriage.

"You will see if she does not impress you that way."

The interview is conclusive evidence:

Does marriage interfere with a career?" the prima donna repeated. "I rather would begin the other way around and let marriage stand as the nucleus around which everything else rotates.

"Now let us see whether a career interferes with a woman who wants to be the right sort of mother. It need not. A career need not interfere with her duties as wife and mother if she makes up her mind that way. Of course, it was a little easier for me because my husband sings also.

"When Francis Maclennan and I were married, we made a promise to keep apace. We promised that if there was to be any rising in the world, we would rise together; if anything big came along for one and not for the other, one would make the sacrifice until it came for both. We agreed to get on our feet at the same time, and that is precisely what happened after considerable individual sacrifice during our lean days."

Mme. Easton said that she hoped no one would assume from the foregoing that marriage had hung like a noose around her neck and kept her from going forward as rapidly as she might have if she had gone her own way.

"What you probably consider a loss of time, I consider a gain. I cannot sing when I am unhappy. Every time I sacrificed anything in behalf of my husband or child, it meant giving up something for happiness, and happiness enriched my life. I cannot speak on generalities; but in my case, I am at my best when happy.

"Sometimes I thought about it and wondered if my husband or I would have gone further or would have arrived at success sooner if each had gone along independently. Perhaps. Who knows? But we might have sacrificed our happiness for our professional ambitions and destroyed the more beautiful thing in life.

"Professional people must stick together professionally if they value harmony in their married life. The career and marriage must work together as two parts of the same thing."

Viola Brothers Shore.

"NEVER mind your career when matrimony knocks at your door," advised Viola Brothers Shore. Sometimes it only knocks once, if at all. So when the opportunity comes your way, take it and appease your curiosity and your natural desire to be married—or, as some of my friends put it, "to have been married."

"Because, whether one admits it or not, the unmarried woman spends much of her valuable time on the mechanics of marriage, the going after excitement with the fear that if she misses that particular party, or fails to go to that particular ball she may be thwarting her own destiny.

"Whether one be a genius or just an average human being, her life is incomplete until she marries; and whatever else she may be engaged in as a vicarious outlet, she is restless and her concentration is interrupted until marriage has been settled. It wouldn't be true to nature if it weren't so.

"Some one who knew that I had labored against handicaps in my early days as a writer because I had a husband, baby, home and no extra money to hire a maid, asked me whether, if I were beginning all over again, I would choose to get my foothold as a writer first, or marry when I did, and then struggle. I was too polite to tell her what a silly question I considered it because marriage cannot be controlled that way. You cannot marry when you please, because it depends upon an outside force, and one cannot take hold of it whenever she pleases. But talent is something that comes from within. It is an urge for self-expression. And in nine chances out of 10, a woman will express herself when she feels that way, marriage or no marriage on her hands.

"If a woman has talent for writing or for singing, or has the ability and the urge to enter upon any other professional career, marriage will not interfere except that she may have to work it up by a slower process, because the married woman has to take two steps where the unmarried one takes one. But the married woman's work should be richer because she is giving forth something from a fuller life; and to an extent, she can concentrate better, too, because she is settled for life—or at least, for some years.

"And if a husband disapproves? If their relations are not based on sympathy and understanding, their marriage will go on the rocks on any other issue sooner or later; so it might just as well go on the rocks of a career, don't you think so?"

Baked Bananas.

Peel and lay in a well-buttered pie plate six bananas. Sprinkle with a tablespoonful of sugar, a saltspoonful of salt and dot with lumps of butter. Sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of honey and juice of half a lemon. Bake a delicate brown. Baste with the dish gravy. Serve in the dish they are cooked in so as not to lose any of the gravy in serving.

Great comfort in this new hygienic pad that discards easily as tissue—no laundry

There is a new way. A way that multiplies protection. A way, too, that solves the old problem and embarrassment of disposal.

It is called "KOTEX." Ends the insecurity of the old-time sanitary pad. Five times as absorbent! And deodorizes—ends ALL fear of offending.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Costs only a few cents. Eight in 10 better-class women employ it. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk.

GAINING a clear and charming complexion today no longer involves long and costly beauty treatments. Modern skin care strives for natural loveliness, effected in a natural and simple way—a way any woman can follow without expense or bother.

The simple rule below has brought the reward of a naturally clear skin to more women than any other method known.

Try it, if only for one week. Note the improvement that comes. The world's accepted beauty method today is simply the balmy olive and palm lather of Palmolive Soap used in this way:

THE RULE—MAKE IT YOURS STARTING TODAY

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away. Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely —naturally colorful and clear.

But I knew the voice, and I managed as debonair a manner as was possible under the circumstances.

"Nothing in them but a flashlight," I said. "However, if you insist"——

He seemed to hesitate. Then he laughed a little, not too pleasantly, and came down the run-way to me.

"Out rather late, aren't you, Mr. Porter?" he asked.

It was my turn to hesitate.

"I came down to pull the canoe up on to the float," I said finally. "Mrs. Porter thought the sea was rising."

"Sounds quiet enough to me," he retorted and turning on his flash, he ran it over the surface of the water, which was as still as a mill-pond, and onto the canoe, which lay bottom-up and still dripping, on the float.

It is indicative of the whole situation, I think, that he lighted the flash. He was no longer lurking in the dark, waiting for the motor boat to drive the marauder ashore. That marauder, in the shape of a shivering professor of English literature, slightly unbalanced mentally, was before him.

Then he seemed to be listening, and knowing the story this morning, I daresay he was listening, for the beat of the motor engine. There was no sound, and this I imagine puzzled him, as it is puzzling the entire community today. I am myself not particularly observant, and any testimony I might give would, under the circumstances, be discredited in advance. But my own impression is that there was the sound of an engine from somewhere on the bay as I crossed the lawn, and that it had ceased before I reached the water's edge.

Greenough was frankly puzzled. He had, one perceives, a problem on his hands. He wanted Carroway to come in and identify me, for without that identification he was helpless. And somewhere out on the water was Carroway, possibly with a stalled engine. He put his hands to his mouth and called:

"Hi! Bob!" he yelled. "Bob."

But there was no answer, except that Halliday came running out and asked what the trouble was. Greenough was thoroughly irritated; he lapsed into a sulky, watchful silence, and offered no objection when I shiveringly suggested that I go back to my bed. I left them both there, Halliday preparing to row out and locate the launch if possible, and came back to the Lodge.

This morning I learn that Carroway's boat was found by Greenough, who had a fast launch with a searchlight, at 1 o'clock this morning, drifting out with the tide and about two miles from land. It was empty, and no sign of young Carroway was found. As it trailed no dory, our mystery has apparently become a tragedy.

And I am under suspicion. I have put that down, and sitting back have stared at it. It is true. And suppose what I am expecting at any moment takes place, and Greenough comes into the drive, to confront me with the damnable mass of evidence he has put together, the circle enclosing the triangle; the fact that the sheep-killing did not commence until after our arrival at the Lodge; the night Morrison, driving his truck-load of produce, saw me on the road; and most of all, with last night!

Suppose I tell him the actual fact? That my wife has some curious power, and that in obedience to it she last night roused me from a virtuous sleep, to tell me she had clairvoyantly seen a man taking a boat from our float, and that I must immediately go down; that there was, she felt, something terribly wrong? Suppose I told him that, which is exactly the fact? And also that, once there, I found that Edith had left the canoe in the water, and that I had, like the careful individual I am, drawn it up out of harm's way? Will he believe that? I wonder——

Quite aside from my unwillingness to drag Jane into this, particularly as the possessor of a faculty which she herself only reluctantly reveals even to me, is my conviction that such a story, soberly told, would only increase Greenough's suspicion of my sanity.

And as if to add to the precariousness of the situation, Halliday himself in all innocence, has added another damning factor; gave it, indeed, to the detective last night.

Yesterday, it appears, in repairing the float, he found a new and razor-sharp knife between the top of one of the barrels and the planks which made the flooring.

"I didn't tell you, Skipper," he says, "because I was afraid of alarming you. And, of course, there might have been some simple explanation. Starr might have dropped it during his carpentering."

He was first amused and then infuriated by the web which seems to be closing around me.

But the unconscious humor of that statement set me laughing, and after a moment he saw it and grinned sheepishly. "You know what I mean," he said. "And in one way, if you can stand it, it's not a bad thing."

Pressed for an explanation, it appears that he had been thinking of going after the reward himself, and that this matter of Carroway has decided him.

"Reward or no reward," he said, quietly, "I've had a bit of training; they put me in the Intelligence in Germany, during the occupation. And, of course, the way to catch a criminal is to keep him from knowing who's after him. Then again, if he learns the police are watching you—and he may—he's watching them, you know—it may make him a bit reckless. You never can tell."

But he has a third reason, although he has not mentioned it. He is chivalrously determined to protect me, and through me, Edith.

To Be Continued.

Blacky the Crow Tells What He Saw

No matter how one really tries
'Tis hard to believe another's eyes.
—Bob White.

BLACKY THE CROW came flying over the Green Meadows toward the dear Old Briar-patch. Blacky's eyes are sharp. There are no sharper eyes anywhere than the eyes of Blacky the Crow. So it was that as he looked down he saw Bob White and Peter Rabbit gossiping.

"Caw, caw caw!" shouted Blacky, and headed down so as to alight close to where Bob White and Peter were. Peter could hardly wait for Blacky to get there. No, sir, Peter could hardly wait. He almost danced with impatience.

No sooner was Blacky on the ground than Peter poked his head out through the brambles. "You're just the fellow we wanted to see," cried Peter.

Blacky's eyes twinkled. "Look to your heart's content, Peter," said he. "I don't look any different than I did the last time you saw me."

"It isn't that," cried Peter impatiently. "We want to know about those strangers you saw."

"Did I see some strangers?" asked Blacky in a tone of great surprise.

"Did I see some strangers?" asked Blacky in a tone of great surprise

"That's what we want to know," spoke up Bob White. "The story has gone all over the Green Meadows and through the Green Forest that you discovered two strangers. Is it true, Blacky?"

Now, Blacky the Crow dearly loves to tease others. He put on a look of great surprise. "Now where," said he, "did you hear any such story as that?"

"Never mind where we heard it. Tell us if it's true," retorted Peter Rabbit.

Blacky had it on the tip of his tongue to keep on with his teasing, but decided not to. "Yes," said he. "I have twice seen two strangers."

Peter edged up a little nearer. "What do they look like?" he demanded.

Blacky cocked his head on one side and pretended to be thinking very hard. "Well," said he, "one of them looks something like Mrs. Grouse, but with a longer tail; and the other—but, goodness, what's the use of telling you? You wouldn't believe it if I did."

"Yes, we would," cried Peter. "Yes, we would. We would believe anything from you."

Blacky chuckled. "All right," said he. "Let's see if you can believe this. The other stranger has a bright red face, beautiful green neck and a white collar around his neck. He wears a beautiful spotted coat and he has the longest tail you ever saw for one of his size. Oh, he is a handsome fellow, I can tell you! But he knows it. Yes, sir, that fellow certainly knows it. He struts around and shows off as if he considered himself a little bit finer than anybody else. I have an idea that fellow is going to make some trouble sooner or later. I'll have to admit that he is handsome. But you know the old saying, that 'handsome is as handsome does,' and I'm just waiting to see how this fellow really turns out."

"What did you say his name is?" inquired Peter eagerly.

"I didn't say," replied Blacky. "Excuse me, Peter, there is Mrs. Blacky over yonder and I must see her at once." With this, Blacky spread his black wings and off he flew.

Now moth-worms won't eat woolen things

You can't catch every moth in your home. You can't kill every moth-worm. But . . .

You can make every woolen thing you own mothproof—so that no moth-worm will eat it.

And that is the only sure way to prevent moth-damage—forget the moth and protect the cloth itself.

Such protection, however, was never possible until LARVEX was invented. This amazing liquid is the first absolute protection for all things woolen.

It is delightfully simple to use. Spray it thoroughly on a woolen article. It penetrates the wool fibres. It mothproofs the cloth for an entire season.

Articles mothproofed with LARVEX are safe anywhere. Moth-worms will not eat them. And only the moth-worms do eat. Moths themselves are harmless. They merely lay eggs which hatch into moth-worms.

Harmless, too! And non-inflammable. Make all your woolen things mothproof with LARVEX.

LARVEX with special atomizer is $1.50. Once you have the atomizer buy LARVEX without atomizer, $1. Or save money—buy the gallon refill size at $5, or the ½ gallon at $3. At drug, department and furniture stores. Get LARVEX today. THE LARVEX CORPORATION, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The proper care of your teeth and gums

Why risk this pain?

DECAYED teeth and diseased gums are largely unnecessary. There is a way to prevent them—a way to avoid the pain and the expense and the possible injury to general health that accompany them. And the way of prevention is so simple now!

Once it was thought that merely brushing teeth could prevent them from decaying. But people found that that wasn't so. They brushed their teeth regularly with some good cleansing dentifrice, but still their teeth decayed, and still their gums became infected.

The reason for that was simple. Most decay results from acids that form every day in everyone's mouth and attack the tooth enamel. Gum diseases, too, like Pyorrhea, usually result from an acid condition at The Danger Line—the line where gums meet teeth. No tooth-brush can reach into the crevices along The Danger Line, or in all the little fissures on and between the teeth. To prevent trouble there it is necessary to neutralize the acids that cause decay and that irritate the gums.

There is a dentifrice which will do that. It is Squibb's Dental Cream.

Squibb's Dental Cream is made with more than 50 per cent of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Tiny particles of this Milk of Magnesia penetrate into all the tiny crevices where your tooth-brush cannot reach and neutralize the dangerous acids there.

Squibb's Dental Cream cleans and polishes the teeth beautifully, in addition to protecting them against acid decay. It is also extraordinarily soothing to sensitive teeth and gums. At drug stores everywhere—only 40 cents a tube.

LOUISE GROODY'S Famous Dancing Feet

"I always have Blue-jay on hand when trouble is a-foot!" writes dainty and delightful Louise Groody, now starring in the New York musical comedy success, "No! No! Nanette."

"Stage work isn't always kindly to a dancer's toes. But I never have corns. For at the least sign of an approaching callus, I put on a Blue-jay."

Blue-jay is an old standby to folks who reap fame and fortune from their feet. A soft, velvety cushion fits over the corn and relieves the pain at once. Usually one plaster ends the corn. But even an "old offender" seldom requires more than a second . . . . . At all druggists.

POLAR DIRIGIBLE LANDS IN SUBURB OF LENINGRAD

SAILED THROUGH MILES OF FOG

HELSINGFORS, Finland, April 15.—The dirigible Norge, which left Oslo, Norway, early this morning, landed at Trotsk, a suburb of Leningrad, at 7:30 p. m. Eastern European time.

STOCKHOLM, April 15. — The airship Norge established communication by wireless with the Vaxholm Station, near Stockholm, at 5:40 o'clock this morning. She reported that she had entered a zone of mist extending across almost the whole country. The commander could not tell his position, but said he thought the direction he was taking was correct.

The message said the commander had been unable to ascertain his exact location, and asked Stockholm to request other wireless stations to endeavor to get in connection with the Norge, with a view to giving her compass bearings.

The Norge passed Trosa about 60 miles from Stockholm at 6:35 a. m., about an hour after she had established wireless communication with the Vaxholm Station.

OSLO, Norway, April 15.—Flying eastward over Sweden, across the Baltic Sea and over the Gulf of Finland, the Amundsen-Ellsworth Polar expedition airship, Norge, is on her way to Leningrad today.

The airship, which arrived here yesterday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock on a 600-mile voyage from Pulham, England, cut loose from the mooring mast at 1:10 o'clock this morning for an additional 600-mile trip through the air to Soviet Russia.

The arrival here of the Norge, after having covered about 1600 miles from the flying field outside Rome, was the occasion for great excitement. The weather was beautiful and the populace in thousands turned out to greet the monarch of the air in which it is hoped the North Pole will be crossed during the summer.

Passing the home of Roald Amundsen, six miles distant down the Fjord, the Norge dipped her flag in greeting to the people of the village in which lives the famous explorer who is to head the polar flight. Amundsen is now on the way with Lincoln Ellsworth of New York for Spitsbergen, the main base for the start across the Pole.

Little difficulty was experienced in tying the great ship to the mooring mast here. War Secretary Wefring greeted Commander Nobile and the members of his crew when they landed.

Little time was lost in making ready for the flight to Russia, and soon all hands were busily engaged in supplying the gas bags with hydrogen from big tanks which had been brought to the flying field. From Leningrad it is expected that the Norge will proceed to Kings Bay, Spitzbergen.

OSLO, April 15.—The Norge curtailed its stay here in hope of reaching Leningrad ahead of a severe storm, which the Weather Bureau reported was approaching rapidly from the direction of the North Sea.

The Norge had no sooner landed here than receipt of news of the oncoming storm caused Commander Nobile to issue orders for preparations for departure.

The newspaper Afterpost sent its own airplane with a photographer to meet the Norge. Spectators were horrified to see the newspaper plane crash, but the photographer crawled out of the smashed plane, shouting, "Start another plane." A half hour later he was in the air again, and a short time later proudly escorted the dirigible over Oslo.
